

St. Matthews, Kentucky Area History

Scouting in the St. Matthews Area 1965 On, 2nd. Edition

This is one of many sections that contain information, photos, newspaper articles, internet items, etc. of the St. Matthews area. Many of the items came from Al Ring's personal collections but many people have helped and I have tried to give credit where I can.

The purpose of this "collection" was to create the history of St. Matthews, Kentucky. Being retired I now have time to do many of the things I have always wanted, this project is just one of them.

All graphics have been improved to make the resolution as good as possible, but the reader should remember that many came from copies of old newspaper articles and photos. Credit to the source of the photos, etc. is provided whenever it was available. We realize that many items are not identified and regret that we weren't able to provide this information. As far as the newspaper articles that are not identified, 99% of them would have to be from one of three possible sources. The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times or one of the Voice publications. Books that we have used for some information include, Randy, Cactus, Uncle, Ed and the Golden age of Louisville Television, Waggener High School Alumni Directory 1996, Waggener Traditional High School Alumni Directory 2007, Memories of Fontaine Ferry Park, St. Matthews The Crossroads of Beargrass by Samuel W. Thomas, St. Matthews, 25 Years a City Two Centuries a Community, St. Matthews 1960-1995, Waggener Lair's 1958 to 1962, The Holy Warrior, Muhammad Ali, Louisville's Own (An Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Louisville Area Recorded Pop Music From 1953 to 1983).

Please use this information as a reference tool only. If the reader uses any of the information for any purpose other than a reference tool, they should get permission from the source.

Cub Pack 315 gives awards

Cub Pack 315 held its annual Christmas party Tuesday, December 15th, at 7:30. Den 6 supplied the color guards for the evening flag ceremony. The following awards were presented: Bear Badge - David Harlow; Lion Badge - John Shelby; One Year Service Star, Randle Sather, Bobbie Pittman, Fairleigh Brooks, Bob Osborn; Two Year Service Star David Tinkle, Larry Cooper, Bob Noland, John Shelby, Kevin McClain.

The display awards were won as follows: Den 2, first; Den 5, second; Den 6, third. Individual awards were: Will Sawyer, first; Eric Nelson, second; Robble Pittman, third

The Cubbie Award was won by Den 4 for the month.

Mrs. Ben Moore led group singing of Christmas music. The surprise of the evening was an unexpected visit from Santa Claus himself, who distributed little gifts each Cub had brought for exchange. He especially admired the tree which was decorated with ornaments made at Den meetings by the boys themselves and which was later taken to Ormsby Village for their use there. After a treat of hot chocolate and cookies, each boy returned home with dreams of what Santa would bring when he returned Christmas Eve!

Mr. Van Zandt presents the Thanks Badge to Louise Platt. Kathryn Mayland, and Mary Louise Ford were also recipients of the award.

VOLUNTEERS HONORED

A grand total of 89 awards were presented at the Kentucky Cardinal Recognition Dinner April 20th at the Executive Inn.

After a delicious dinner of fried chicken with all the trimmings, Mrs. L. R. McClary introduced the speaker, Mrs. Edith Stanley, Assistant County Attorney, who spoke on "Believing." She related the Girl Scout Laws of our country and the importance of our girls making such a strong foundation. She also spoke of the work of the volunteer in Girl Scouting.

To start the awards program, pins for 10 years of service and over were presented, Committee and district Certificates of Appreciation were next on the program, followed by Council Certificates of Appreciation. A statuette and eight silver Cardinals were awarded. The finale was the presentation of three Thanks Badges. Kathryn Mayland, Louise Platt and Mary Louise Ford were the recipients of this award. The Thanks Badge is given for outstanding service of exceptional quality and is the highest award in Girl Scouting.

There is a special story behind the Thanks Badge given to Mrs. F. K. Platt, who is treasurer of Kentucky Cardinal Council. The Thanks Badge she received was given to Miss Annie Stuart Waters in 1938 for 16 years as Secretary-Treasurer of the Girl Scouts in Louisville. At the time of her death, this badge was found in her effects by Mr. Joe Van Zandt, in whose home she had been living for many years. Mr. Van Zandt, the Council's insurance agent, brought the badge to the office to be used at a future time in any way we wished. It seemed only fitting that this badge be given to our present Treasurer who also has worked endlessly and faithfully.

Adelaide Everson receives a 35 year pin from Millie Markert.

Silver Cardinal pins were received by Mary Nightingale, Mary Childress, Laddie Marshall, Adonna Riley, Louise Orrender, Elsie Keller, Millie Markert, and Pat McClary.

PREXY SPEAKS

Dear Council Members,

As this is the last issue of Cardinal Facts until September, I would like to thank all you volunteers (and your families) for the time and energy that you have spent in furthering the Girl Scout movement. I know that sometimes this last year has seemed like a "labor of love" and at other times you have found great satisfaction. I am certain that all Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts - as well as their committees - appreciate your efforts to "enable them to become happy and resourceful citizens." You can make this a year round effort by encouraging all Girl Scouts to participate in at least one outdoor experience during the summer months. This could be a back yard cook-out, attendance at day or resident camp, or a troop or family camping trip. The important thing is that by living and doing in the out-of-doors, they learn to feel comfortable in these surroundings.

The staff and I hope all of you have a happy and fruitful summer. We look forward to your continued interest, assistance and cooperation.

Cordially,

Hear ye! Hear ye!

A name for our new council is in the process of being chosen. Our structure committee has selected five names from the many suggested, but they want your final opinion. Please keep in mind that a name indicates where a council is located. This is helpful when attending national or regional meetings. The names for final analysis are: Kentuckiana Girl Scout Council, Twin Cardinals Girl Scout Council, Lincoln Heritage Girl Scout Council, Dogwood Girl Scout Council, and Redbud Girl Scout Council. WRITE in your choice for or against to Structure Committee, Girl Scout Office, 1268 Cherokee Road.

If you are interested in helping out as a Trainer for our Fall and Winter Workshops of 1965 or Spring of 1966, please contact Mrs. W. L. McKinney, 458-3937.

MRS. CHOATE

The oldest girl scout in America lives in a pink mansion on a 250-acre estate in Pleasantville, New York.

She made the fire in her drawing room fireplace herself before serving tea during an interview. She wore riding clothes.

Mrs. Arthur O. Choate, you see, rides every day. She is 80 and can touch her toes faster than a woman half her age.

Girl scouting was a little more rugged than it is today when she got into it through her godmother, Juliette Low, founder of the girl scout movement in America. The year was 1915.

Mrs. Low was the first president; Mrs. Choate, the second. Both once went out a window and let themselves down a rope ladder when testing a fire safety program that was to be included in the early Girl Scout program.

"We didn't want the scouts to do anything we couldn't do," she said. "We tested the practical and fun programs.

"When we went camping it wasn't a big production. Everyone just packed up and headed for the camping site.

"They're getting out the Army, Navy, Air Force and police for the girl scout round-up scheduled for the summer."

Mrs. Choate took a pillow from the couch, punched it on the left, again on the right and twice more - front and back. The pillow, assaulted on all sides, caved in.

"That," she said, "is what it was like to be president of the Girl Scouts in the beginning."

She indicated that the head of any organization will know what she means. Each punch represented expert opinions about what shape the club should take.

"Scouting," she said, "has shaped up as a really practical religion. It is a tool for passing on all the principles and standards of democracy plus a lot of fun."

The promise and laws were given to the scouting movement by its founder, Robert Baden-Powell, as a non-sectarian code of behavior which young people could understand and use as a guide for daily living.

The key words in the promise are "I will try" - Try to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times.

A girl who has promised to try recognizes that she may not always succeed but that she can try again. Mrs. Choate is proud that more than 3.7 million girls in America have made that promise. - The Greenville Daily Advocate, Greenville, Ohio.

OPERATION HEADSTART

If you are searching for a summer time service project, consider "Operation Headstart."

This project will provide eight weeks of experience this summer in class room work and field trips for children in depressed areas entering the first grade in September.

The funds for this operation will come from the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity as part of the Federal anti-poverty program. The program in this area will be administered through the local Youth Commission.

Older Juniors, Cadettes, and Seniors are being asked to volunteer for service in these areas. These girls would provide help in teaching crafts, games, and songs, as well as being junior guides on field trips. There will be paid adult workers as well as adult volunteers to supervise the program.

Please mail names, addresses and phone numbers of volunteers to Mrs. Don Gonzalez, 10024 Prairie Village Drive, Valley Station, Kentucky.

RECOGNITION HIGHLIGHTS

There's an old Chinese proverb that, if practiced each day,
 Would change the whole world in a wonderful way -
 Its truth is so simple, it's so easy to do
 And it works every time and successfully, too
 For you can't do a kindness without a reward,
 Not in silver nor gold but in joy from the Lord -
 You can't light a candle to show others the way
 Without feeling the warmth of that bright little ray
 And you can't pluck a rose, all fragrant with dew,
 Without part of its fragrance remaining with you.

Mrs. Carl Markert presents the 25 year pin to Mrs. John Walls, Mrs. S. L. Kornhauser.

Mrs. M. C. Welch, Volunteer Personnel Chairman chats with Mrs. Edith Stanley, guest speaker.

Mrs. Marion Disborough, Miss Sarah Bundy, Mrs. Ernest Berger, and Mrs. Lila Worth receive 20 year pins.

Loyal volunteers receive 15 year pins.

Mrs. Ferd Hauser presents a statuette to Major Richard Dickson.

SUMMER SCOUTING

Warm weather and no school allow us flexibility in program planning, permitting trips and outings in mid-week when the traffic flow is less dense. Here are some possibilities:

1. Visit local industrial plants. Many plants arrange tours for visitors; for example, girls too may get pleasure at seeing the manufacture of baseball bats.

2. Or visit Bernheim Forest. Native animals are shown, and plants of many nations are growing - with charts, labels and guides. You, as leader, do not need to know the answers.

3. Try our new zoo. A children's zoo, picnic areas, tennis courts, etc. are listed on this summer's announcement.

4. Check our local parks. The recreation center nearest you may have just the right facilities for a troop activity.

5. Travel to Kentucky State Parks. New highways open a wider range for exploration. Be sure to check 1965 prices, as some were revised upward this season.

6. Re-read your camp folder. For individual girls, resident camp and day camps are available. For a troop: resident-troop at Shantituck July 11-16, and camping at Twin Ridges. Remember that Twin Ridges is our troop camping site for all summer and fall. No resident camping will be planned for this site.

7. Investigate service projects such as "Operation Head-start." See article in this issue.

GIRL SCOUTS ON THE GO

Fifty Girl Scouts and Leaders from Troops 101, 222 and 473 of District V, Lynnview Neighborhood, were guests of Secretary of State Thelma Stovall on April 7th when they visited Frankfort. After touring some of the historical sites, including the old capitol building, the girls made Mrs. Stovall an associate member of the Kentucky Cardinal Girl Scout Council.

Junior Girl Scout Troop 46, sponsored by the Jane Glass Hite Elementary School P.T.A., will tour Washington, D. C. in June. Twenty girls, under the leadership of Mrs. David Kaufman, will take the Chessy Educational Tour, planned by the C. and O. Railroad. The girls earned part of the money for the trip by sponsoring a fashion show in March.

Troops and leaders in District III once again cheered patients at the Veterans' Hospital this Easter by presenting a plant to each patient plus flowers for their window boxes. District III has done this as an Easter project for more than 15 years.

Scouts are planning for a big jaunt

By Glee Durand Crutcher
896-6091

Off to New Mexico in a school bus on July 5 will be members of Boy Scout Troop 314. They'll spend 19 days out in the southwest, roughing it, and can't wait to be on their way. Sleeping bags and tents will be the order of the day and night.

Members of the troop going have to be first class scouts. Lloyd R. Lotz, 318 Norbourne Blvd., is the troop master. He won't be able to go with the boys this time, but he's been on other trips with them before. Home territory for the troop is St. Matthews Methodist Church. Signed up for the big jaunt are Richard Lotz, William Berkman, Michael Wyatt, Cliff Walters, Robert Littlefield, John Johnson, John Stokes, Herschel Woolery, Greg Mc Naul, Tom Parront, and Robert L. White. Altogether, 34 boy scouts from Louisville will make up the party in the school bus.

It will be a wild and woolly three weeks as the preserve owned by the Boy Scouts of America embraces 135,000 acres at Philmont, N.M., and has over 400 head of bison, antelope, and other animals roaming around. Cameras are one of the essential things the boys are taking in their luggage and they all hope to get good pictures, especially of the bison.

Four adults are accompanying the Louisville group, who will join scouts from all 50 states out there, plus Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone. During the summer more than 25,000 scouts will camp at Philmont.

The boys will have a chance to do a lot of hiking and mountain climbing, as there are foothills of the Rockies nearby. There's also fishing on the agenda in nearby streams and lots and lots of Indian lore all around. Troop 314 is planning to dig for some of it.

The ranch was given to the Boy Scouts of America by Phillips Petroleum Corporation a number of years ago, officials here say. It was a wonderful gift but it turned out that the scouts couldn't afford to keep it up. So the oil company proceeded to give them a 40-story office building in Tulsa. Proceeds from rentals put them over the line, financially, and it's been a super camping spot ever since.

Troop 314 did a trial run last weekend to get ready for their three weeks in the west. They took tents, sleeping bags, and cooking utensils and camped out for three days at Dandel Beard Park.

Two youths become Eagles in Troop 325 ceremonies

Two 14-year-old St. Matthews boys became Eagle Scouts last Friday night at court of honor ceremonies of Troop 325 of Our Lady of Lourdes Parish.

The ceremonies, held in the parish auditorium on Breckinridge Lane, attracted a crowd of some 100.

The new Eagle Scouts are Thomas Chady, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chady, 3532 Dayton Ave., and Joe Schork, the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Schork, 3521 Norbourne Blvd. Mr. Chady is an Eagle Scout himself. He advanced to the Eagle rank 24 years ago, in the summer of 1941. He serves Troop 325 as an assistant scoutmaster.

Charles E. Leppert, vice chairman of the Seneca District of the Boy Scouts of America, took part in the court of honor.

Mr. Leppert was Webelton leader of cub pack 325 when the two new Eagles were preparing for tenderfoot rank.

Frank Moses, 15, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moses, 3310 Grandview Ave., advanced to junior assistant scout master of the troop. His father is the troop's scoutmaster.

In other investitures, Daniel Mahaffey and Perry Johnson became Tenderfoots. Michael Bauer, Tony Higgins, Pat Bowling, Dick Willenbrink, Louis Worland and Scott Heezen became Second Class Scouts.

Earning the First Class Scout rank were David Aton, Charles Sisco, Jim Zavist, Steve Walsh, and Louis Worland. Advancing to Star Scout were Greg Heezen, Mike Bowling, Kevin Doyle, and Mark Langford. New Life Scouts are John Wagner and Thomas Stevens.

Scout-of-the-quarter medals went to John Wagner, silver and Thomas Chady, bronze, and Joe Schork, received honorable mention.

The patrol of the quarter was the Flaming Arrow Patrol.

These were the merit badge awards, with the number received by each boy in parentheses: Jack Bates (1), Mike Bowling (14), Thomas Chady (7), Charles Crush (2), Kevin Doyle (8), Mark Esterle (4), Richard Flock (3), Greg Heezen (9), Chris Kauffmann (13), Mike Kilroy (2), Mark Langford (12), John Mahaffey (8), Frank Moses (6).

Also, Frank Oliva (2), Joe Schork (4), Mike Simms (1), Charles Sisco (2), Tom Stevens (5), John Thienemann (1), Frank Tonini (2), John Wagner (10), and Louis Worland (2).

District Boy Scouts plan dinner meeting

The Seneca District Boy Scouts of America will hold their first "Planned Together Dinner" Oct. 14. The District, serving St. Matthews, Crescent Hill and Eastern Jefferson County, is looking for additional boys and sponsors to fill out their district.

The dinner, at the Holiday Inn on Brownsboro Road, has been an effective way for organizing new units. Five or six volunteer business organizations have been invited to the dinner, sponsored by Catalysts and Chemicals, a manufacturer of specialty catalysts. Volunteers will learn what is involved in organizing cub scout packs, boy scout troops and Explorer Posts.

The district now serves about 20% of the available boys in scouting, officials hope to reach an additional 300 boys through this program.

Institutions and organizations interested in sponsoring units are asked to call Bob Barber, 582-1976.

Another Eagle for Troop 115

STEVE MCGUIRE

Steve McGuire, 13, has become the 38th Eagle Scout from Troop 115, sponsored by Beargrass Christian Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton McGuire, 3612 Winchester Road.

McGuire, one of the youngest boys to receive the Eagle award, was presented his badge in church services by Scoutmaster Maurice Silvey.

The McGuire family becomes the third multi-Eagle family in the history of Scouting at Beargrass Christian Church. Their other son, Ronnie, obtained the Eagle rank in 1961.

The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Garth, 427 Sherrin, became Eagles -- Rusty in 1960 and Dale in 1964. All three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fleming, 225 Fairmeade Road, earned the Eagle rank -- Baird in 1960, Craig in 1963 and Marty in 1964.

Cub Pack 115 makes awards

Cub Pack 115 of Beargrass Christian Church held its first meeting of the new year Sept. 24 in the church's Fellowship Hall. Bob Gillis is returning as Cubmaster.

Malcolm Bentley is the new assistant cubmaster. When the Cubs arrived they were led in games by the assistant cubmaster. The meeting was officially opened by repeating the Pledge of Allegiance.

This was followed by an induction ceremony for new Den Mothers. There is one returning Mother -- Betty Gillis. The other three are new Den Mothers. They are Becky Blakenmore, Betty Fadden, and Carol Howe.

These boys received awards of Cub books:

Perry Bentley -- Bear Book; Wood Smithel -- Two-year pack; Steve Halsey -- Denner Day; Scott Martin -- Bear Book; Todd Arrow, Silver Arrow, Lion Book, John Fildner -- Denner's Day; Cook Arrow, Bear Book; Steven and De -- Lion Book, Gold Arrow, 2 Silver Arrows; Webster Den Marker.

Den #4 -- Betty Fadden, Den Mother -- had the largest percentage of parents attending. She had the honor of wearing a statue of Akela around her neck with blue beads on it representing her Den. Akela will rotate around each month to the Den with the largest percentage of parents attending.

Eight new Cubs were inducted into the Pack. Cubmaster Gillis had an impressive candlelight ceremony for the boys. They each received their Bobcat Pin, and Guy Adams, Perry Gillis, Betty Cannon, Daniel Rupp, and Mark Hoover presented their Wolf Books. All Daniel and

New Scout units organized

Approximately 900 new boys who are interested in Scouting and who live in the Seneca Boy Scout District will soon benefit from the Seneca District's first "Together Plan Dinner" held recently at the Brownsboro Road Holiday Inn.

Some 100 representatives of numerous civic and religious institutions in the Seneca District attended Seneca District's first Together Plan Dinner, concerned with the necessary initial planning prior to sponsoring new Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts.

"To date, ten institutions have officially committed themselves to sponsoring Scouting units with more units expected," John Knopf, Together Plan Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Seneca District Committee, said.

Institutions agreeing to sponsor Cub Pack, Scouting Troop or Explorer Post units in the Seneca District along with those at the dinner are: The Optimist Club of LaGrange, represented by Harold Abbott, a Troop; St. Leonard's Roman Catholic Church, Father Emerick, a Pack; Bethel United Church of Christ, The Rev. William E. Knack, a Pack; South Oldham Optimist Club, Ray Schmitt, a Troop; Thomas Jefferson Unitarian Church, The Rev. Carl E. Ulrich, a Troop; Watkins Memorial Methodist Church, The Rev. William W. Bowling, a Post; Harolds Creek Baptist Church, The Rev. Charles E. Salter, a Troop; St. Albert the Great, The Rev. Robert A. Willett, a Post; St. Francis of Rome Roman Catholic Church, Father Charles F. Dearing, a Post; and Crescent Hill Methodist Church, The Rev. Marvin H. Whitmer, a Post.

Civic and religious institutions unable to attend the dinner and interested in sponsoring Scouting units should contact Bob Barber, Seneca District Executive by telephoning 582-1976.

Area Girl Scouts receive high Award

The Marian Award, high-ranking medal in Catholic girl scouting, will be awarded to three girls from the St. Matthews area on Dec. 12. Janet Kamer, Presentation Academy, and Ann Bufkin and Judy Eller, both of Sacred Heart Academy, will be honored along with nine others from the Kentuckiana Girl Scout Council, Inc.

The Marian Award recognizes special efforts toward spiritual enrichment and the practical application of Christian social principles, as well as signifying additional achievement in scout requirements.

All three girls, members of Troop 192, which meets there. The program, scheduled for 3:30 p.m. at the Church, will be followed by a reception, sponsored by host Troop 507. The scouting program at Holy Trinity is a function of the PTA.

Cub Pack 315 gives clever puppet show

A clever puppet show by Den 6 entertained Cubs and parents at the pack 315 meeting held Tuesday, Nov. 23 at Harvey Browne Memorial Presbyterian Church.

The show was an "Achievement Parade" acted out in the form of a mock den meeting of hand puppets. Mrs. R. H. Nelson, den mother, directed the skit, which demonstrated the use of the den meeting to help the boys complete the required achievements.

Den 5, Mrs. Tom Sawyer's den, presented the flag ceremony. Mrs. G. H. Sather led the pack in singing, getting in some practice on Christmas carols.

While the boys were having "game time," Mr. Nelson, the cubmaster, explained the ranks, achievements, and objectives to the adults. He noted that the emphasis in cub-scouting is on the "3 C's" - citizenship, character-building, and craft skills, and urged the parents to help the boys collect items for their scrap books which cover all their years in cub scouting.

He also explained the awards of gold and silver arrows, and answered questions, commenting that the parents are supposed to work with the boys on the different projects in their rank.

Mr. Nelson presented Greg Lacey with a Bobcat pin and Wolf book. Mr. Jack Nall, ceremonies chairman, gave a Bear book to Norris Barrieger. Mark Harlowe and Jim Kidwell received Lion books. A gold arrow and two silver arrows were awarded to David Dye. Joe Noland was awarded a gold arrow, and Mark Harlowe received a two year service pin.

After Mr. Nall presented a three year den chief star to Terry McClain, Terry gave the Pack a present, a golden eagle for their flag.

The award for attendance went to Den 5, and for achievement to Den 6.

The next pack meeting will be the Christmas party at 7:30, Dec. 21. The boys will meet at the church, go caroling, and then return to the church to greet Santa Claus and exchange gifts.

Cub Scout Pack 313 has Christmas party

The December Cub Scout meeting organized and directed by Robert Miller and Jerome Bouke was enjoyed by the Cubs, their guests and families.

A visit from Chris Chringle, himself, started the annual Christmas party of the Cub Scout Pack 313 at Holy Trinity School, Friday Dec. 17. Twelve boys from St. Joseph's Orphanage were special guests. The boys played games and sang carols with their song leader, Mrs. B. F. Radmacher. Each den helped decorate the Christmas tree with ornaments they had made in their dens.

The awards ceremony included presenting a Wolf cloth to Gary Pyle and Charles Long, a Bear cloth to Nace Huber and a Lion cloth to Tom Heim. Gold arrows were awarded to Billy Gibson, Terry McKenna, Tom Heim, Richard Roehrig and Robert Wadell.

Silver arrows were awarded Terry McKenna, Mark Radmacher, Billy Hammer, Robert Jungk, Steve Jungk, Robert Hammer, Douglas Washblish and David Washblish.

The denner award was received by Ken Wooton and assistant denner awards went to Steve and Robert Jungk. Year pens were awarded to Robert Hammer, Michael Richardson and Den Mother, Mrs. Arnold Richardson.

The meeting ended with cokes, cookies and candles for all.

Cub Pack 315 holds party, makes awards

Santa Claus was the guest of honor at the December pack meeting and Christmas party of Pack 315 at the Harvey Browne Memorial Presbyterian Church. He passed out Christmas presents to the Cub Scouts.

The boys began their party by visiting the Twinbrook Nursing Home on Dutchman's Lane to sing Christmas carols.

The color ceremony was presented by Den 3. Each den had made tree decorations as a craft project, and the boys took turns putting their ornaments on the Christmas tree.

Awards, given out by Mr. R. H. Nelson, cubmaster, were: Wolf badges to Dawson Sather and Barry Boardman; Bear badges to Jim Kidwell Bach, Gregg Newton, Alan Regenbrecht, and Michael Tinsley.

Michael Tinsley was awarded three silver arrows for electives, and Alan Regenbrecht and David Tachau each received two silver arrows. One silver arrow was earned by Joel Field, Will Sawyer, Matt Bach and Gregg Newton.

Silver stars, for one year in cub scouting, were presented to: Jim Howell, den chief of Den 6; Mrs. Rose Regenbrecht, den mother of Den 3, and Matt Bach, Gregg Newton, David Brandt, Alan Regenbrecht, Dawson Sather, Michael Tinsley, and Dale Wunderlich, all of Den 3.

Den 5, Mrs. Thomas Sawyer, den mother, won the first place award for the den project—hand puppets made from cereal boxes. Den 2, Mrs. Lowell Smith, den mother, was awarded second place for a "den doodle" made up of spools to show each cub's progress on achievements and electives.

The pottery exhibit, made by Dave Coombs, age 10, was awarded the first prize ribbon for individual projects. In second place was Mark Myers' leaf collection. Brian Smith was given a third prize for his boat.

The January pack meeting will feature a race with space rockets made by the cub scouts, Jan. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the church. The planning meeting will be Monday, Jan. 10, at 7:30 o'clock at the church.

Volunteers from East End staff key positions for Girl Scout cookie sale

Volunteer leaders from Jefferson County's East End will staff key positions in the Kentuckiana Girl Scout Council's cookie sale March 5-14. Mrs. John R. Garber, 215 Elline Ave., is the general chairman, who will preside at an instructional meeting and luncheon Thursday, Jan. 13, at Stouffer's Louisville Inn. All the Kentuckiana Girl Scout Council's district and neighborhood chairmen and the cookie sales' district and neighborhood chairmen will be the luncheon guests of W. R. Kiracofe, Girl Scout sales representative for the Southern Biscuit Co.

In charge of recruiting the cookie sales' chairmen in ten Kentucky counties and southern Indiana is Mrs. Carl Markert, 332 Monahan Drive, also the council's field vice-president. Mrs. Gus M. Griffin, 422 Country Lane, is planning the publicity.

Council officers assisting Mrs. Garber, Girl Scout cookie sale chairman, include Mrs. Lewis D. Cole, 564 Garden Drive, president; Mrs. Vincent Nightingale, 730 Wicklow Road, vice-president, and Mrs. F. K. Platt, 3801 Leland Road, treasurer.

St. Matthews and Jefferson-town troops belong to District VI, whose chairman is Mrs. George Scott, 4706 Kitty Hawk Way.

Directing the distribution of cookie cartons in St. Matthews and Jefferson-town will be Mrs. Norman Crabtree, 4531 Fox Run Road.

The Chenoweth neighborhood chairman is Mrs. John Ogn, 196 West Wind Road, whose cookie sale counterpart is Mrs. Fred Bierly, 3921 Staebler Ave. Called Trefoil and covering the Stivers and Greathouse troops, another neighborhood will be the responsibility of Mrs. Richard Bailey, 301 Clover Lane, and Mrs. Chester Kissel, 212 Ahland Road.

Other St. Matthews Girl Scouts will get cookies and sales instructions from Mrs. Allan Harshberger, 4216 Winchester Road, and Mrs. John D. Caswell, 3723 Hillboro Road.

Chairmen of the Kenrock neighborhood are Mrs. Wilson Witten, 2108 Hewitt, and Mrs. Harold G. Bunger, 3702 Hill-creek Road. Serving as Jefferson-town's neighborhood chairman and cookie sale leader is Mrs. Marcie Coberly, 3505 Barclay Drive.

Mrs. Ralph Kennedy, 7326 Maria Ave., is the cookie sale chairman of District IX, which takes in the Westport Road, Lyndon, Middletown, Anchorage and Hanover and Madison, Ind. Representing this wide-spread district on the Kentuckiana Council's board of directors is Mrs. James Gordon, 1705 Claremoor Drive.

Among District IX's neighborhood chairmen are (year-round leader listed first and cookie sale chairman named next): Twinbrook - Mrs. Homer Millig, 2103 New Market Drive, and Mrs. Alfred J. Lange, 2104 Glenview Ave.; Zachary Taylor - Mrs. Iren C. Thom, 7803 Crown Top Road, and Mrs. Chester Thutaa, 3420 Nandina Drive; Lyndon - Mrs. Joseph A. Huffra, 1132 Longwood Circle, and Mrs. Doris Huddle, 1524 Stonewall Way; Cardinal - Mrs. Dot Boardman, 10214 Blue Ridge Court, Anchorage.

Leading the Highlands and Crescent Hill's Girl Scout district are Mrs. I. R. McElroy, 4113 Martha, and Mrs. Robert Marquardt, 3019 Radiance Road, cookie chairman.

Their neighborhoods, chairmen and cookie chairmen are: Buechel - Mrs. Albert G. Mueller, 3103 Kaye Lawn Drive, and Mrs. James H. Kaiser, 3019 Klonway; Cherokee - Mrs. Oscar Simon, 2118 Baringer Ave., and Mrs. Edward V. Harpring, 2229 Eastview Ave.; Crescent Hill - Mrs. Jack Clark, 3334 Willis Ave.; Goldsmith - Mrs. E. G. Samuels, 3026 Tallman, and Mrs. Carl E. Jankowski, 2311 Medford Lane; Strathmoor - Mrs. W. J. Ooff, 3722 Gardiner Lane, and Mrs. Robert R. O'Connor, 2501 Kings Highway.

Profits from the annual Girl Scout cookie sale pay for improvements at the three camps operated by the Kentuckiana Council: Shantituck near Shepherdsville, Sacajawean near New Albany and Twin Ridges in Otter Creek Park.

Another share of the proceeds replenishes the Scoutership Fund, which gives financial assistance to qualified campers or delegates to national and International Girl Scout events.

About 7,000 girls are Junior, Cadette or Senior Scouts in Kentuckiana. The youthful Brownies, mostly ages 8 and 9, are not asked to take on the responsibility of selling cookies.

Two Troop 316 Scouts advanced to Eagle rank

Troop 316 Scouts Michael Johnson, of 3708 Hillboro Road, and Gene Leppert, of 3608 Graham Road, were advanced to Eagle rank in ceremonies last Sunday at St. John Lutheran Church, 901 Breckinridge Lane.

The ceremonies were conducted by Ed Morrell, Old Kentucky Home Council representative.

Both boys have older brothers who are Eagle Scouts. George Johnson, Michael's father, was also an Eagle Scout. Gene's father, Charles E. Leppert Jr., is Cubmaster of Pack 10 at the School for the Blind. Mrs. Leppert is a denmother for the same pack.

Senior patrol leader Larry Pilcher presented the two candidates to Scoutmaster Nick Palmer-Hall, who presented the Eagle Scout certificates to Michael and Gene.

Troop 316 has several Eagles on its roster.

Cub Pack 315 has rocket race

A rocket race was the highlight of the January meeting of Cub Pack 315 at Harvey Browne Presbyterian Church. Almost all of the cubs had made rockets at home during the month, and entered in the competition. Will Sawyer's rocket was judged first, Joel Noland's, second; and Alan Regentrecht and Herbie Nail's rockets tied for third.

A skit on "How to Get to a Pack Meeting in Six Easy Lessons" was presented by Mrs. Thomas Sawyer's Den 5. With four cubs portraying the flat tires on a car stuck on the railroad tracks, the den depicted the misfortunes of a rather querulous family on the way to a pack meeting. The theme for the meeting was transportation.

Jack Nail, the awards committeeman, conducted an impressive ceremony in which Brian Smith and Rick Hiseley received Wolf badges, and Skip Davis and Dale Wunderlick were awarded Bear badges.

Gold arrow points were earned by Skip Davis, Rick Hiseley, David Brandt, Brian Smith, and Matt Boch. Two silver arrow points were awarded to Eric Nelson and Mark Harlow. Rick Hiseley, Brad Williamson and Matt Boch each earned one silver arrow.

Den 2, with Mrs. Lowell Smith as den mother, gave the flag ceremony. The den, which is the newest in the pack, also received the awards for both attendance and achievement for the month.

R. H. Nelson, cubmaster, announced that since February is Scout month, Feb. 6 would be observed as Scout Sunday. He instructed the boys to attend the 11 o'clock service at Harvey Browne on that day in uniform together.

The February pack meeting will be the Blue and Gold banquet, scheduled for 8 p.m. on Feb. 22 at the church.

Pack 313 has program

Transportation, a summary of it from its beginning to the present, was the theme of Holy Trinity's Cub Pack 313 January meeting.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Paul Gonzalez, 421 Oread Rd., and Mrs. Burl Bufkin, 3919 Leland Rd. Included in the program were movies about the progress of transportation and communications shown by William Dempsey.

In the award ceremonies, a Wolf cloth went to James Ross, John Gonzalez, William Beam, David Harrod, Thomas Dempsey; Mike Ackerson, Dan Sullivan, Kelly Reiffer, James Sonnett and Keith Yann.

A Bear cloth went to Robert Hammer, David Washbish and Douglas Washbish. Those receiving Silver Arrows were Billy Hammer, Bill Gibson, Richard Breen, Robert Jungk, Terry McKenna, Chuck Andres, Bill Calase, Mike Breen, Nace Huber and Tom Helm.

Gold Arrows were awarded to David Washbish, John Schidt and Douglas Washbish. Two year pins were given to Tom Helm and Nace Huber. A Denner patch was given to Steve Becker and an Assistant Denner patch to Robert Bouhl. Joe Gutterman received his Webelos award and a graduation certificate from the Cubs.

Tom Parrott Jr. advanced to Eagle by Troop 314

Tom Parrott Jr., of 3710 Manz Ave., was advanced to Eagle rank in ceremonies of Scout Troop 314 this past Sunday at the St. Matthews Methodist Church.

The youth finished his Eagle requirements October 25 of last year.

The Eagle Medal used in Sunday's ceremonies had belonged to Tom's cousin, W. P. Crow Jr., of Pensacola, Fla., who died Jan. 13 of last year of leukemia at the age of 22.

Tom, a student at Waggener High School, has been a Scout since 1962.

He has served as Troop quartermaster, assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, and instructor.

In 1965 he attended Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico.

Dr. H. T. Chandler is pastor of the St. Matthews Methodist Church, Mr. Lloyd R. Lotz is Scout Master and Mr. Robert L. Littlefield is Assistant Scout Master of Troop 314.

The good grooming class graduation of Girl Scout Troop 278 took the form of a tea Tuesday, Feb. 22. The girls gave the affair for their parents at Beargrass Christian Church and carried it out in an "April in Paris" theme. Twenty-four girls from St. Albert The Great School, Wagoner and Kentucky Home completed a six week course conducted by Mrs. Ted Henle and decided to make their final event a special tea.

A salute to Girl Scouts

Some of the innumerable "Days" and "Weeks" which we are supposed to celebrate each year in this country are without any notable significance and importance.

Some are unconsciously silly. Some are highly specialized and are of interest only to the few. But, there are some which have earned and which deserve the recognition and support of us all.

That is true a dozen times over of Girl Scout Week, which is to be observed this year during the March 6-12 period.

The Week's stated purpose is: "To celebrate the birthday of Girl Scouting in the United States." That birth took place March 12, 1912, in Savannah, Ga.

In the intervening years, the movement has spread across the nation, bringing life-long benefits to legions of girls.

They learn the arts and crafts and domestic virtues which are particularly suited to feminine temperament and inherent talent.

They learn of the wonders of nature. They learn how to get along with each other, and to show respect and understanding and tolerance for the thoughts and aspirations and ambitions of others. They learn the disciplines and attitudes that are vital to a happy and useful life in society.

Above all--and this was never so vital as today--the Girl Scouts build character. They are the enemies of delinquency and the firm and dedicated friends of the moral standards which are the real strength of any nation and its citizens.

Let all salute them during the forthcoming Week--and let all help their cause.

Over 300 attend Cub pack dinner

Cub Pack 325 of Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church held its blue and gold banquet Feb. 27. With parents, guests and Cubs, a record of 313 attended. Skits were presented by Den 1, Den 12 and the Webelos.

The Girl Scouts who helped serve the meal headed by Mrs. Feldman and Miss Leppert also entertained with a variety of songs.

Cub Master Tom Speed presented to Tom Leppert the first Par Vault Lite Award to be offered in Pack 325. This award means "Child of God" and is awarded for recognition in religion knowledge and spiritual formation.

Other awards presented were: Wolf--Billy Chady, Billy Nagel, Jude Komer, Joe Buckheit, Jim Hagan, John Harris, Mark Burns and Jim Reh. Bear--Scott Miller, Tom Speed, David Fleck, Robby Schlich, Billy Hornbeck, Ed Starr, Gary Kilroy, Chuck Parsons and Scott Ballard. Lion--Pat Sack and Paul Liebert. Webelos--Greg Ballard, Joe Hornak, Mike Molnar and John Reed.

Pack 325 won the Blue Ribbon for the best window display during Scout Week.

Den Mother Martha Sack has resigned to work with Brownies and Francis Flaherty and Virginia Finzer have returned as Den Mothers.

Stanley Gordon will direct the Pinewood Derby to be held March 25. Approximately 120 cars will be entered.

Cub Pack 115 has dinner, gets awards

Cub Pack 115 of Beargrass Christian Church held its Annual Blue and Gold Banquet Friday evening, Feb. 25 in the Fellowship Hall. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Don Towles, institutional representative; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Silvey, Scoutmaster of Troop 115; Rev. Lee Wahlstrom, minister of education, and his son Larry; Jim Davis, Magician who provided the evenings entertainment and Harvey Allen, Scout of Troop 115.

The Cubs had made the table decorations in their Den meetings with Patriotism as their theme.

After dinner, Mr. Towles spoke on "Scouting Trail." He was followed by Mr. Silvey explaining the activities of Scouts -- Campouts, trails, etc.

Bill Gillis, Cubmaster, then made the awards: Wabelos Badge -- Steve Gurley. He was also inducted into Troop 115.

Wolf Badge and Bear Book -- Mark Boone; Wolf Badge and Assistant Denner's Bar -- Mark Rose; Wolf Badge -- Corky Gillis; Lion Badge and Wabelos Badge -- Steve Haste. The following Cubs received Denner's Bars -- John Clemmons; Jeff Williamson; Terry Gaddie. Greg Blakemore received a 2-year pin and 1 Gold arrow point.

The Blue and Gold Banquet is held annually by Cub Packs in celebration of the birthday of the Boy Scout movement -- this year the 56th. Harvey Allen told the story of Scouting.

Den 4 presented a skit on Scouting and Cubbing.

The highlight of the evening for the Cubs was the magic show put on by Jim Davis, Arc Magician.

The attendance award was relinquished by Den 4 and presented to Betty Gillis, Den Mother for Den 2, for having the largest percentage of parents in attendance.

Cubmaster Gillis announced that Scout-O-Rama would be held April 29 and 30. The meeting was dismissed with Cubs repeating the Cub Scout promise.

The next meeting will be held Friday, March 25 at 7 p.m.

'Cookie pushers' swamp east-end neighborhoods

By Glee Durand Crotcher
896-6091

There's been a lot of commotion in east end homes for the past week as literally hundreds of youngsters have been busy celebrating Girl Scout week. Uniforms have been cleaned and pressed ready for the marking of the GS official birthday this Saturday, and all week long there's been a big blint at every troop meeting. In addition, 7,000 scouts in this area have been rushing around pushing cookies.

For Troop 294 at Christ Methodist Church on the Brownstone Road, though, the news is not all good. Their beloved and inspired leader, Alice (Mrs. Christopher A.) Barrera, is moving in a couple of months to live in Chicago. During her three years in Louisville, Alice has been one of the outstanding leaders of the Girl Scouts, and has gone about it zealously, fortified by the know-how she's absorbed during her 20 years of scouting. From Schenectady to Louisville, with other towns in between, she's been a leader. A transfer to this Junior League, she received a salute in the March News Sheet and is going to be written up in the next issue of the General Electric news.

Alice, her husband, and her three children live at 2297 Ardley Rd. The youngsters are Betsy, 11, and of course a scout; Christopher, 9, and Jenny, six months. They've already bought a house in Winnetka.

A lot of other organizations are going to miss Alice, too, as she's really made a dent in the community during her all-too-brief stay. She's been an enthusiastic volunteer in the Children's Theatre, the Louisville Orchestra, the Louisville Fund, and the United Appeal. . . . All this in addition to caring for three bouncing youngsters, a husband, and a home.

Admiring friends say she sees her time rightly on the days she has a day worker. She starts at 9 a.m., not one minute before, and stops at 3 p.m., not one minute after, when the children come home from school.

Her scout troop just has completed an outstanding program of work for merit badges, including weaving courses, sewing, safety, and outdoor cooking. They even made their own looms.

Alice's assistant leaders are Ellen (Mrs. Wallace) Bateman, 1904 Sweetbriar Ln., and Candy (Mrs. James) Satterfield, 2204 Glenview Ave., whose duties are just as time-consuming as Alice's. Without them, she says she'd never get those scouts in line for cook-outs, flag ceremonies, and badges, much less character building.

Cub Pack 315 has Blue, Gold banquet

A magic "money machine" which changed one dollar bills into five dollar bills delighted the Cub Scouts of Pack 315 at their annual Blue and Gold banquet held recently at the Harvey Browne Presbyterian Church.

This was one of the tricks performed by William Cooner, scoutmaster of Troop 19 of the Highland Methodist Church, who entertained the group with a magic show. Each den had decorated the table for the Cubs and their families with an American history theme. First prize went to Den 4, Mrs. R. H. Nelson, denmother; second to Den 3, Mrs. Ross Hegonbrecht, den mother; and third place went to Mrs. Thomas Sawyer's Den 5 and Mrs. Lowell Smith's Den 2.

The story of Abels was made a part of the awards ceremony by Jack Nail, who presented the awards.

Bob Sawyer and Dutch Emmer received the Wolf Badges. Lion badges were given to Ricky McQuady, Jeff Loderback, David Wagner, Eric Nelson and Harry Smith.

Gold arrow points were presented to Brian Smith, Jeff Loderback, David Wagner, Eric Nelson, Barry Smith, Matt Bock, Dutch Emmer, and Bob Sawyer. Greg Newton earned two silver arrows. Other Cubs receiving silver arrows were Robert Sawyer, Dick Reily, Skip Davis, Brian Smith, Brad Williamson, Barry Smith and Matt Bock.

A Bear book was given to Ricky Hilly, a two-year service star to Joe Noland, and dinner bars to Kevin Pokaluba.

A first place award for individual exhibits went to David Wagner for his shell collection, second to Barry Buardman for a knot display, and third to Barry Smith for a waste basket decorated by a postage stamp collection.

Den 6 received both the "Do Your Best" award and the attendance award.

Mr. R. H. Nelson, cubmaster, announced that a new Wabelos Den is being formed, and will meet Wednesday evenings at 7:15 at the church. The Pinewood Derby runoff will be held at the April pack meeting, with finals at Scoutarama.

The next pack meeting will be March 12 at the church at 7:30, and the planning meeting is scheduled for March 7.

Scouts to hold big pow wow in St. Matthews August 2

Scouting activities in the St. Matthews area for the coming year will receive a big send-off next Tuesday.

The annual "fall kick-off" meeting, announcing the coming year's activities for Seneca Scout District, Old Kentucky Home Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held August 2, at Beargrass Christian Church. Approximately 100 unit leaders and representatives of cub packs, scout units and explorer posts are expected to attend the planning.

The get-together will be combined with the activities of the Seneca District's regular round-table meeting, which all scout districts in this area hold as a rallying point for the three phases of Scouting.

Don Ewing, newly-elected president of the Old Kentucky Home Council will preside. New assistant scout executive for the Old Kentucky Home Council, Jerry Beckner, will be introduced at the gathering. Seneca Scout District representatives and unit leaders will receive program planning material suggesting activities for their units for the coming year.

A question and answer session and a discussion and explanatory session of how to use the material will follow. Such material may be adapted in total or in part by the various scouting units in the Seneca Scout District, depending on their particular needs.

Supplementing such material to the coming year will be information contained in scouting magazines distributed to the various units from the Old Kentucky Home Office. Announcements will be made concerning new recruiting awards and the launching of the fall round-up of new members.

The schedule presented to approximately 100 unit leaders and representatives in the Seneca Scout District will include a calendar of the year's coming activities and training courses, monthly dates, places, and other information.

The Seneca Scout District is responsible for advancing the Scouting activities of approximately 3,000 cubs, scouts, and explorers in its portion of the Old Kentucky Home Council area.

The Council serves 14,122. Anyone wishing to contribute time and effort to this worth-while cause should contact Seneca District Chairman, John Knopf, at 583-2815.

SCOUT LEADERS TAKE TO THE WATER: More than 100 Seneca Scout District representatives combined work and pleasure on a cruise down the Ohio River last week. Committee chairmen and officials from St. Matthews, Crescent Hill, and LaGrange, the eastern portion of Old Kentucky Home Council of Boy Scouts of America, laid plans for their fall kick-off meeting Tuesday, August 2, at Beargrass Christian Church. Scout leaders of Seneca District represent over 3,000 boys in three phases of scouting: cub packs, scout troops, and explorer posts. The District is one of nine in Jefferson County. Don Ewing is president of Old Kentucky Home Council. Max Sanders is vice-president and Jerry Beckner is new assistant scout executive. John Knopf is chairman of Seneca Scout District. The council promotes scouting activities for 14,122 boys. A schedule presented to unit leaders included a calendar of the year's coming activities, training courses, information concerning recruiting awards, and material for use in troop meetings.

Cub Scout Pack holds paper bag mask parade

A paper bag mask parade was one of the highlights of the October meeting of Cub Pack 315 held recently at Harvey Browns Memorial Presbyterian Church. Prizes were awarded to John Bright, first; Bobby Thiesman, second; and Robert Wolph, third.

A vaudeville theme was followed by three dens who entertained their parents with skits. Den 5, led by Mrs. Tom Sawyer and Mrs. David Lacey, enacted a hilarious skit on famous men who were Cub Scouts. The cast of characters included such unlikely names as Dr. Bill First, Agent Maxsick Smart, Dr. Yankee Pullen, and Mr. Hairy Raisin, the attorney.

A musical group calling themselves "The Wild Ones" played cub-made instruments along with current popular recordings under the direction of their den-mother, Mrs. Lowell Smith.

The new Den 4, led by Mrs. Donald Fremd, pantomimed a Kingston Trio recording of "The Merry Minuet."

Earl Boardman, awards chairman, presented awards to the boys in Den 5: Will Sawyer, three-year pin; Brad Williamson, two-year pin; Bob Sawyer, Mark Meyers, and Kevin Pokallus all received silver arrows and one-year pins; Greg Lacey earned a silver arrow, and Dwayne Scott received a Wolf badge and a gold arrow.

From Den 3, led by Mrs. Nall and Mrs. Clements, two-year pins went to Greg Newton, Dawson Sather, Mike Tinsley, and Alan Reganbrecht. John Clements earned a Wolf badge, a one-year pin, and a Bear book; and Greg Newton received his Bear badge.

Mrs. Smith was awarded a one-year pin as den mother, and she presented the following boys from her Den 2 with one year pins: Kirby Walls, Brian Smith, Rick Riely, Mike Nall, John Bright, Barry Boardman, Skip Davis, Dutch Emler, and Jamie Holt. Rick Riely and Barry Boardman were also awarded silver arrows, and John Bright received his Bear book.

Troop 314 honors Lotz, advances two to Eagle rank

A Community Court of Honor for the Scouts of Troop 314 was held at the St. Matthews Methodist Church Monday night, November 7, to conduct 16 Rank advancements and to award 67 Merit Badges to 22 members of the troop.

The Scouts also paid tribute to Lloyd Lotz who had served for the past four years as Scoutmaster. In his last year with the troop he received the Silver Beaver Award, Scouting's highest honor.

The Scouts presented Silver Beaver cuff links and an engraved plaque to Lotz in appreciation for his services to the troop.

The Court honored Don Roney and Hersh Woolery for having earned the rank of Eagle Scouts. Other recognition went to two other Eagles who had earned Silver Palms.

Five other Scouts were also recognized, for having earned the rank of Life Scouts and the other three for the rank of Star.

Scoutmaster Bob Littlefield, who had served with Lotz as assistant Scoutmaster, in commenting generally on the advancements and honors bestowed said, "Lotz contributed a lot to Scouting which our boys will remember."

The committee presented a floral arrangement to Mrs. Lotz for having been such a considerate "Scout Widow" for four years.

Award-winning Scout leaders' accomplishments are reviewed

The seven Boy Scout leaders of the Seneca District who received president's awards last week, have rolled up a total of over 100 years of scouting.

The awards are given annually to scouters performing outstanding service in their district.

William E. Ackerman, Jr., 7806 Cedar Brook Drive, has been active in scout work for over 20 years. Assistant mate of Ship 180, an explorer group, he has served the Zachary Taylor ship and helped to organize Troop D Post at Bethel United Church of Christ.

Paul DeMichael, 207 N. Birchwood Avenue, scoutmaster of Troop 319 for the past three years, is a wood badge man, and has assisted in training for two years. He is scoutmaster of the training course for leaders, and on January 1 will become training chairman for the Seneca District.

Wrote Course

Richard J. Huether, 3439 Newburg Road, district vice-chairman, has been in scouting for eight years. Before coming to Louisville, he was district commissioner in the Schenectady County Council in New York. As district vice-chairman, he ran the most successful camporee ever held and wrote a training course for boy leaders at summer camp which the National Council is considering using throughout the country.

Owen A. Shrader, 4805 Fegenbush Lane, an Eagle Scout, for many years has led Troop 15 at St. Joseph's Home. For the past year he has served as IR and activities chairman of the Seneca District.

Thomas F. Speed, 3718 Grandview Avenue, is cubmaster of Pack 325, the largest in the council. Twenty den mothers a year work with him. He has helped in round tables and on the district's training committee.

Harry E. Tatum, 3017 Pamela Way, has been in scouting most of his life. He has been a commissioner and while at Fort Knox was in charge of scouting there as well as continuing to help in Seneca District. For three years he has assisted in the council's commissioners conference.

Wesley Ziege, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 223, has served scouting for many years. While serving as a scoutmaster, he assisted in organizing two troops and has worked for two years on the district's training courses.

He is being considered for professional scouting after he is graduated from college.

Approximately 300 people attended the annual recognition dinner at Holiday Inn Northeast.

Disaster Meal Delivers the Gravy

By SUDIE MOSELEY
Louisville Times Staff Writer

Usually, a dinner party that turns into a disaster meal isn't planned—it's just a last-minute shock that makes the host want to crawl in a hole and collapse.

Last night, it was a different story for some 1,000 Kentuckians residents who turned up at Convention Center to have dinner. They'd been warned in advance to expect a disaster meal. The shock came when they discovered how good it was.

The event was the kickoff of the 1966 United Appeal drive in Jefferson County; the guests, the volunteer workers who will help try to raise $3,500,018.

The disaster meal was patterned after meals served by the Red Cross to victims of Hurricane Betsy, which struck the coast of Louisiana a year ago this month.

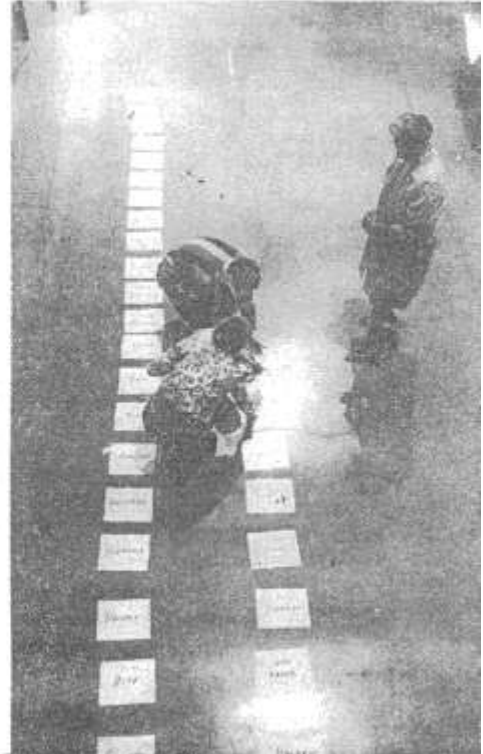

For those who expected disaster food to be a pot of stew and a cheese cracker, last night's dinner came as quite a shock. Ham, applesauce, green beans, celery bread and margarine, ice cream and a choice of lemonade or coffee.

This is the type of meal that would be served here should disaster strike Louisville, said a spokesman for the United Appeal drive.

What the guests didn't know, the spokesman said later, was that the preparation and serving of last night's disaster meal was actually a drill session for some of the community's disaster-program workers.

The dinner, which was prepared in field kitchens set up in back of the Convention Center, was served by representatives of the 40 community-service agencies for which the United Appeal raises money.

Fall from bike nips advancement

Scout keeps plugging, finally becomes Eagle

Harvey Allen had already passed the other Eagle Scout requirements with flying colors and was getting himself shaped up for the physical endurance test -- a series of chin-ups -- when he toppled from his bicycle in the spring of 1963 and broke his left arm.

That was about the worst thing that ever happened to him. It prevented him from becoming an Eagle when he was only 13.

The accident weakened his arm so much that he couldn't perform a single chin-up.

Harvey was determined to become an Eagle, though.

He took treatments for his arm from a physical therapeut and worked out almost every day at the St. Matthews "Y" to beef up his saggy arm.

Harvey's parents kept encouraging him, as did his Scout leaders and minister. Months turned into years, and he kept plugging.

But time after time he failed to pass the chin-up test.

Each year, because he was older, he was required to perform more chin-ups.

In addition, he had to make up other Eagle requirements which had developed since '63. Finally, about a month ago, 17-year-old Harvey Allen passed the physical requirement test. He did nine chin-ups without blinking an eye.

Proud parents (Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Allen of 3308 Engle Ave.) and church members watched him become an Eagle Scout in ceremonies at the Beargrass Christian Church Jan. 1.

Given badge clasp

The Charge to an Eagle Scout was read before the congregation by Institutional Representative Don Towles, after remarks by Troop Committee Chairman George Dublin.

Scoutmaster Ed Holliday presided over the presentation of the Eagle badge to Harvey, who also received an Eagle Scout life clasp from the troop committee. Mrs. Allen was presented with a corsage and a miniature Eagle pin.

Harvey, a senior at Atherton High School, is the 36th Scout from Troop 118 to become an Eagle.

His determination and perseverance had paid off!

Boy Scout uniforms sought for 2 troops

Used Boy Scout uniforms are being sought by Troop 325 of Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

The uniforms will be donated to Scouts at St. Joseph's Orphanage and Ormsby Village. Troop 325 Scoutmaster Joseph Kilroy said a donation box will be set up in the lobby of Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

Those who wish to donate uniforms or parts of uniforms may deposit them in the box at the church or contact a member of Troop 325 to pick up the donation.

Kilroy said the troop may make the project an annual affair during Scout Week. This year scout week is being observed Feb. 7-13.

History of transportation depicted by Cub Pack 315

"Highways of History" were depicted in tableaux by each of the four dens in Cub Pack 315 at the January meeting at Harvey Browne Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Den 3, led by Mrs. Jack Nail and Mrs. Clements, depicted Columbus discovering America -- to show transportation by water.

A wagon train was featured by Den 2, led by Mrs. Lowell Smith, for transportation by land. A railroad scene entitled "The last rail is laid - the last spike is driven" was portrayed by Den 5, led by Mrs. David Lacey and Mrs. Tom Sawyer. Travel by air was shown by Den 4, led by Mrs. Donald Fremd.

Mark Bilsky, of Den 3, received these awards from Mr. Earl Boardman, chairman: a Wolf badge, a gold arrow, a Bear book, a one-year pin, and six silver arrows. Dan Waddill, also of Den 3, was awarded a Wolf badge.

Awards presented

From Den 5, Brad Williamson, Jeff Bales, Bob Sawyer, Greg Lacey, and Dwayne Scott all received silver arrows. Mrs. Sayer was awarded her two-year pin, Mike Nail, of Den 3, was presented a silver arrow; and Bill Crabtree, Den

4, earned a Wolf badge and received a Bear book. Mike Tinsley was graduated into the Boy Scouts.

The Cubmaster, Jack Nail, announced that the cubs will attend the 9:30 service at Harvey Browne together Scout Sunday, Feb. 12. The Blue and Gold banquet, with Mrs. Dorothy Holt and Mrs. Peggy Bales as chairmen, will be held Tuesday, Feb. 28.

Ribbons awarded for previous den exhibits were: third place, Den 3; second place, Den 5; and first place, Den 2. The attendance award went to Den 4 and the achievement award to Den 3.

For individual exhibits, Greg Lacey was awarded third prize, Jeff Bales, second prize and Skippy Davis, first prize.

Cub Pack 325 holds annual inspection

Cub Scout Pack 325 of Our Lady of Lourdes Church held its annual inspection Jan. 27 with neighborhood commissioner Claude Smith in charge.

After the flag ceremony, Mrs. Buchheit's Den No. 5 presented a Skit entitled "Saga of Davy Rocket." Games and songs rounded out the program.

The following achievement awards were presented: Wolf Badge: Tony Komer, Jeff Cordaro, Robert Roney, Tim Bowling, Paul Hesen, and Fred Starr.

Bear Badge: Jude Komer and Mark Burvee. Lion Badge: Ricky Hornek. Gold Arrow: Tony Komer, Fred Starr, David Pohl, and David Fleck.

Silver Arrow: Tony Komer, Jude Komer and Ricky Wagner. Denner: Mark Vatter, John Dickinson.

To celebrate the 57th anniversary of Scouting, Pack 325 will decorate a window of a St. Matthews store. All the Dens are being asked to participate during the week of February 7 to 13.

Cubmaster Tom Speed announced that the Blue and Gold Banquet for the Cubs and parents will be held Feb. 28.

God and Country Awards presented

Three boys from Troop 115 were presented the God and Country Award during services Scout Sunday, February 12, at Beargrass Christian Church.

Jon Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Adams; Richard Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin; and Charles Stoecker, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stoecker, were presented the church's highest award to a Scout by Dr. W.E. Lawrenson.

The Rev. R.W. VanNostrand explained the meaning of the God and Country Award and told of some of the requirements necessary for a Scout to earn it. Not only must a boy learn about his church but he must perform a service to his church and community. Dr. Lawrenson has been conducting a class for boys interested in earning the badge for several months.

The Rev. VanNostrand said the church looks upon the award the same way that Scouting looks upon the Eagle badge.

Scoutmaster Ed Holliday and Ken Dyer presented to the Rev. VanNostrand a National Camping Award won by the troop.

Boy Scouts in the St. Matthews, Crescent Hill and Anchorage areas, interested in really "roughing it" away from home for several weeks now have a golden opportunity to do so. . .if they take prompt action.

Applications will be accepted from Scouts and adult Scout leaders in this area until April 10 for the annual Boy Scout campout at Philmont Ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico, according to Sam Kelley, Philmont Program Chairman for the Old Kentucky Home Council. The campout is July 18-August 2.

The Council with headquarters at 334 East Broadway guides the Scouting activities of the 10 districts in this area. Seneca Scout District serves the needs of over 3,000 Cubs, Scouts and Explorers in the St. Matthews, Crescent Hill and Anchorage areas east to the Oldham County line and is one of 10 such districts serving boys through the Old Kentucky Home Council.

Kelley explained that any

Scouts interested in going on the annual campout at the 137,000 acre Scout ranch should contact him at his home on 893-3131 or at his office on 584-9011, extension 115.

"An interesting aspect of the Philmont Ranch is its location in the heart of our nation's historic West. It is steeped in tales of Kit Carson, Davy Crockett and other famous pioneers and mountain men," Kelley explained. "The original old Sante Fe cattle trail cuts through the range."

Kelley said the famous ranch was a gift of Mr. Walte Phillips of the famous Phillips petroleum family and is equally well-known as the "National Boy Scout Ranch."

"The Scouts attending the campout will really "rough it" by camping out for 10 days in the wildest mountain areas of New Mexico," Kelley said. "It has been said that Boy Scouting is for the outdoors-minded boy and that the Philmont campout is the supreme test."

Cost of the trip is quite nominal, Kelley said. "By reason of the approaching April 10th deadline for reservations, we are requiring an advance registration fee of $60 per person with each reservation application." He said that the total cost per boy or adult for the trip is $130.

Kelley said there is still a need for experienced Scouting - minded adults. "These men, . . .with experience as Scout leaders will play important roles in supervising activities of the campout during the stay at Philmont Ranch."

Scouts and adults going on the New Mexico campout will depart Louisville on July 18 on two air-conditioned Kentucky Bus Line buses and will return August 2.

The Philmont Campout was initiated by the Boy Scouts of America in 1948 and has been offered each year since. Last year, 52 Scouts from Old Kentucky Home Council Districts, . . .along with other experienced adult Scout leaders, . . .attended the New Mexico 17-day camping trip.

Scout Olymporee to be staged here

Olympic - type games will be staged in the St. Matthews area early next month by Seneca District Boy Scouts.

The scouts will hold their spring camp-out, titled the "Seneca Olymporee," April 7, 8 and 9 on the Bullitt Farm near the Waterson Expressway and Shelbyville Road.

The Olymporee will feature physical fitness events such as wall-scaling and foot races.

More than 500 Boy Scouts and some 70 adult leaders from 25 troops are expected to participate in the three-day event, according to Olymporee chairman J. F. McGurk.

A 30 - foot tall Olympic "torch" will be lighted after dark Friday, April 7, to signal the beginning of activities.

Passing motorists will see a "tent city" spring up on the farm.

Scouts and their adult advisors will lay out the tent city around a central "Avenue of Flags," featuring the national flags of nations around the world.

The physical fitness events will be held Saturday, April 8. The program will be open to the public.

Ribbon awards to outstanding Scouts and their units will be presented on a troop and patrol basis.

To be eligible for awards each Scout unit must be in camp for the entire Olymporee period and furnish a foreign flag as designated for the Avenue of Flags.

Scout troops wanting to attend the Seneca Olymporee -- open only to units in the Seneca District (St. Matthews, Anchorage, Oldham County areas and Crescent Hill) are asked to submit attendance rosters by April 5 to Chuck Boyer, 306 Kentucky Home Life Bldg., Louisville, Kentucky, 40202.

Jefferson County police will direct traffic and supervise the parking of vehicles for the public attending the "Olymporee"

1,500 visit Olymporee

More than 1,500 visitors watched Seneca District Scouts show their physical fitness skills at campout tables at the Bullitt Farm over the weekend.

"Just about everybody agreed the Olymporee was the finest campout ever held in the district," said John McGurk, chairman of the event.

Some 325 Scouts and adult leaders from 25 troops participated.

The Scouts set up a tent city on the farm, near the Waterson Expressway. Friday night a torch was lit to signal the beginning of the event.

Then, Saturday morning competition began among patrols for the top award for physical fitness.

Events included the 50-yard dash, arm-throwing, wall-scaling and path race.

The Flaming Arrow Patrol of Troop 323 of the Suburban Christian Church was selected as the outstanding patrol in the competition.

Patrol members are Dan Bryan, Curt Scott, Steve Ellington and Barry McClain. The adult leader of the group is Bob Hazlett.

Troop 325 of Our Lady of Lourdes Church was given an award for having the most original camping area display representing another unit.

The troop flew a Japanese flag at its tent site and each troop member wore a Hiking Sun kerchief. A Japanese gong was sounded to call the boys to mass.

The award ribbon was presented to scoutmaster Joe Kierwa.

During the awards ceremony wind blew down a 31-foot makeshift flag pole which struck Steve Klansl, of 4425 Hemmett Rd. He was given first aid and then later examined by a doctor who said he was all right.

Joe Kierwa of Troop 319 of St. Mark's Episcopal Church was voted "Best Scout" of the Olymporee. Kierwa, 16, is first and oldest in the Olymporee torch Friday night.

An award also went to a camp helper, Gary Black, of Troop 319.

The purpose of the campout was to prepare the units in the upcoming Scout-O-Bama McGurk said the Seneca District probably will hold an other Olymporee next year.

Two Waggener students become Eagle Scouts

Two students of Waggener High School received credentials of Eagle Scouts at a Court of Honor of Troop 314 at the St. Matthews Methodist Church May 9.

They are John Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Johnson, 3314 Grandview Ave., and Bob White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. White, 3902 Springhill Rd. The Eagle awards were presented by District Commissioner Lloyd Lotz, former scoutmaster of the troop.

White also received a personal fitness merit badge and in a tap out ceremony was selected for induction by the Order of the Arrow. The induction gives the troop a total of six Scouts in this group of campers. Johnson also was recognized for community citizenship.

Scoutmaster Bob Littlefield and advancement chairman

Bob Young presented four boys who received promotions in rank. They are Mike McConnell to second class; John Zimmerman to first class; Bill Wheeler to star, and Steve Garcia to a life Scout.

The troop was commended for having planned, set up, and conducted a weather exhibit during Scout-O-Rama which scored a total of 193 points of a possible 200.

Scoutmaster Littlefield commented that credit for the Blue Ribbon Award belongs to the boys for the idea and the work and expressed hope they would all build on that experience to finish the requirements for earning weather merit badges.

Troop awards for Scout-O-Rama ticket sales went to John Zimmerman, first place, and to Chuck Price and Victor Mosley for a second place tie.

National Boy Scout Week (February 7-13) will be celebrated in greater Louisville and areas adjacent to Jefferson County by over 16,000 boys participating in the three major phases of Scouting: Cubbing, Scouting and Exploring. These boys are in 10 Scout Districts known collectively as the Old Kentucky Home Council.

Three exhibits

Seneca District boys will move into The Mall Sunday, Feb. 4, to set up three exhibits in which the three major phases of Scouting will be demonstrated during Boy Scout Week. The boys will demonstrate proficiency in cooking, first aid, rope craft, knot tying, woodcraft and other phases of Cubbing, Scouting and Explorers.

Scouting units from Seneca District, participating in the evening exhibits

Monday, Feb. 5 -- Boy Scout Troop 385, Springdale Presbyterian Church, under Fred Williams, Scoutmaster, and J.F. Mann, assistant Scoutmaster, will display proficiency in composite construction. Time: 7:30 to 8 pm.

Tuesday, Feb. 6 -- Boy Scout Troop, --313, Holy Trinity Church, under Joe Kilroy, Scoutmaster, will display know-how in rope craft and knot tying. Time: 7 to 9 pm.

Boy Scout Troop 114, Lyndon Baptist Church, under Scoutmaster Howard Hill, will present a baking and cooking demonstration. Time: 7 to 9 pm. In addition, the "Order of the Arrow" under Eddie Nasiat will present Oklahoma Indian dances. Time: 7 pm.

Wednesday, Feb. 7 -- Boy Scout Troop 1, Crescent Hill Methodist Church, under Scoutmaster Charles Eury Sr., will mix, cook and serve a huge Boy Scout Birthday Cake to the public three consecutive nights: Wednesday, Feb. 7, Thursday, Feb. 8, and Friday, Feb. 9. Time: 7 to 7 pm.

Pine Derby

Cub Pack 114, Lyndon Baptist Church, under Cubmaster R.H. Pollock, and Pack 305 St. Margaret Mary Church, under Cubmaster R.C. Rives, will operate a "Pine Derby," a miniature wooden car racing derby. Time: 7 to 9 pm.

Thursday, Feb. 8 -- Boy Scout Troop 308, Our Mother of Good Counsel Church, under Scoutmaster John Ribbar, will demonstrate first aid applications.

Troop 1 will demonstrate cooking and serve Birthday Cake. Time 7 to 7 pm.

Friday, Feb. 9 -- Boy Scout Troop 1 will demonstrate cooking and serve cake. Sea Explorers, Ship 180, under Mates George Green and George Roeder, will demonstrate aspects of the Sea Explorer program. Time: 7 to 9 pm each night for both units.

St. Matthews Scout presents Council report to Governor

Each year, local councils of the Boy Scouts of America in Kentucky select an outstanding scout to represent all the scouts of the council in reporting the accomplishments, goals, and statistics to the Governor of Kentucky.

This year Richard Lotz, a St. Matthews youth was selected as the outstanding Scout of the Old Kentucky Home Council to represent the more than 15,000 scouts of our area.

Richard was further honored by the Regional Council by being selected as the Master of Ceremonies to preside at the meeting when the reports were presented.

During Scout Week, Richard along with eight other Eagle Scouts, representing the nine Scout Councils in the state and the 43,000 Boy Scouts of Kentucky, presented the reports to Governor Nunn during a luncheon at the Governor's Mansion.

Also attending the luncheon were Mrs. Nunn, several Regional Scout executives, Council Executives, the boy's parents, and other adult scouters and their wives.

During his talk to those present for this luncheon honoring Scouting, Governor Nunn expressed congratulations for the accomplishments of these nine boys and of Scouting in general and said it was his hope that more attention could be given to this type of youth activity instead of the kind that downgrades youth in general. He challenged each Scout there to continue being Ambassadors of Good Deeds and to continue giving leadership of the type they have given in the past.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, Richard and the other eight Scouts were awarded the rank of Kentucky Colonel by Governor Nunn. He made each of these boys part of his staff of Colonels because of their excellent past performance in Scouting and for their future work as young adults of Kentucky.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Lotz, Sr. The family resides at 318 Norbourne Blvd. Richard is a junior at Waggener High School and is active in youth work at Third Lutheran Church as well as in the Scouts.

During his Scouting career, he has attended the World Jamboree in 1967, the National Jamboree in 1964, Philmont Scout Ranch in 1962 and 1966, as well as numerous conferences and training courses. At present Richard is a Junior Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop No. 314 of St. Matthews Methodist Church.

Record number of scouts to hike Massacre Trail

22 members of Pack 325 receive awards

A record number of Boy and Girls Scouts will hike the historic Massacre Trail at Middletown, Saturday, June 1, Trail officials believe.

"We've had requests for 200 pieces of Trail literature from one Ohio Scout council alone," reports Mrs. Roy Bishop, president of Historic Middletown, Inc.

Historic Middletown sponsors the Trail which is held twice each year, in June and November. More than 1,000 hikers participated in the first hike June 4, 1966. The Trail has attracted hikers from Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Tennessee and Alabama.

An added attraction at this year's activities will be a flintlock rifle match drawing marksmen from all parts of Kentucky. More than 50 buckskin-clad riflemen, many firing homemade guns, will be on hand for the match which starts at 10 am on the grounds of the old Long Run Baptist Church near Eastwood.

Principal event of the match will be competition for the Mordicai Lincoln Trophy at 3 pm. Inaugural match of the Esther Whitley match for women is scheduled at noon.

The Massacre Trail is a 12-mile hike passing scenes of two famous Indian attacks of the late 18th Century. At one, Mrs. Peggy Chenoweth was scalped alive when a band of Indians attack her family in 1789. Mrs. Chenoweth escaped to the Chenoweth Spring House which still stands, one of the oldest stone structures in Kentucky.

The other attack occurred in 1780 and took the life of Abraham Lincoln, grandfather of the 16th President. This affray according to tradition, took place near the site of the old Long Run Church.

The Trail begins at Middletown Christian Church and ends at the Long Run Church. Hikers may begin anytime between 8 am and 11 am. Most groups finish the hike in four to six hours. The terrain is not difficult and numerous groups of Cub Scouts usually take part in the event.

Open to the public, there is no charge for hiking the trail or witnessing the rifle match. A Trail medal and patch will be on sale at the Trail end, however. Advance registration is not necessary.

Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Bishop, Historic Middletown, Inc., Middletown, Ky. 40243.

Twenty-two members of Cub Scout Pack 325 of Our Lady of Lourdes Church were recipients of awards at the May meeting. They included:

Athletic -- Prul Wagner and Adrian Pellegrini; engineer -- Tom Clark and Lee White; denner bars -- Drew Degrella, Jim Curtstinger, Greg Schulz and Danny Coyne.

Assistant denner bars -- Mark Vatter, Gary Doyle, Ed Ulte, Paul Chevernak, Steve Brinkhaus and Bobby Bruck; Webelo arrow -- Jay Dodge; wolf badges -- Ed Ulte and Bobby Bruck; gold arrow under wolf badge -- Jim Curtstinger, Larry Bohn, Danny Coyne and David Bergner.

Gold arrow under bear badge -- Jim Schork; silver arrow under wolf badge -- Larry Bohn, Danny Coyne and Joe Buckman, and silver arrow under bear badge -- Jim Schork.

Scouts earn funds for Bahama trip

Summer vacations to unusual locations are becoming a habit with the Girl Scouts of Senior Troop 293, sponsored by Harvey Browne Memorial Presbyterian Church in St. Matthews.

Twelve members of the troop are on Grand Bahama Island for a two-week stay. They left St. Matthews June 18.

The girls earned all the money for the trip through bake sales, a uniform exchange, Christmas mistletoe sales, and other projects.

They got the idea for the Grand Bahama trip on the way back from Expo '67 last year -- which also was a group-financed vacation.

Accompanied on the Bahama trip by Mrs. Herbert Bradley, Mrs. Glenn Chafee and Mrs. Richard Blake, the girls were guests of relatives in Atlanta, Ga., and Sebring, Fla stops along the route.

They flew from Dania, Fla., to Freeport in the Bahamas.

The troop recently was awarded a certificate of service by the Volunteer Bureau for 1,000 hours the girls gave to their community, churches, younger troops and other organizations throughout the year.

The girls are from Westport, Waggoner, Kentucky Home and Sacred Heart Academy.

They are Susan Blake, Peggy Bradley, Debbie Chafee, Mary Anne Dreckman, Christine Doughty, Sandra Duerr, Becky Farley, Barbara Gerhard, Margaret St. Peter, Lynn Troyer and Lloyd Wolfe.

These girls are mostly seniors and this will be their last Troop trip together.

Other girls in the Troop that did not make this trip are Linda Pokallus and Teresa Hayden, who have jobs; Kathy Stone who is going to study dancing in France and Linda Owen who is in Scotland on the English Speaking Union Trio.

Scouts to launch membership drive

A drive to gain new members in the St. Matthews area will be launched by the Seneca District of the Boy Scouts of America Tuesday, Aug. 13, at 7:30 pm in the Beargrass Christian Church.

The drive was announced after 40 scout leaders of the district held their annual outing July 20 aboard the Zachary Taylor, houseboat of the Old Kentucky Home Council.

Those attending represented two groups -- the district committee with Bob Royer as chairman and district commissioners under direction of Don West.

Special guests were Don Henry, council president; Lloyd Letz, assistant council commissioner; Hal Cori, scout executive, and Bill Schreiber, field director.

The program included a short business meeting when goals for the coming year were discussed and the selection of Sept. 28 as school night for boys planning to enter the scouting program and their parents.

A fish dinner and a ride to Six Mile Island and return rounded out the event. Ted Huffman was at the helm of the Zachary Taylor.

Girl Scouts to sponsor 'Speakouts'

Spearheading a national effort by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. to help find solutions to the problems that are creating unrest in America, 90,000 Senior Girl Scouts will meet in their local communities the first weekend in November as the first step toward nation-wide action.

The Kentuckiana Girl Scout Council is one of the nation's 412 Girl Scout Councils organizing these "Senior Speakouts" which will be open to all teenage girls, Scouts and non-Scouts alike. The Kentuckiana Council serves 19 counties in Kentucky and Southern Indiana, and approximately 250 Senior Girl Scouts will be involved in the Speakout, which will be held Nov. 3, from 3 to 9 pm, at the Harvey Browne Presbyterian Church. Discussions will focus on ways to change personal attitudes, to break down the walls of prejudice, and to cement understanding among all people.

The Speakouts were recommended by the Girl Scout National Board of Directors as a logical follow-up to the proclamation issued earlier this year in which all Girl Scout Councils were urged to work in their communities to support the major goal of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders - "the creation of a true union - a single society and a single American identity."

In the belief that young people today want to have an active part in creating their own destiny, and that adults must help them achieve that destiny, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. looks to the Senior Speakouts to provide a framework for meaningful dialogue among girls, looking toward more productive joint efforts by young people and adults.

MAY DRAFT RESOLUTION

Local scouts critical of 'Boys' Life' story

By O'Ryan Rickard
Staff Writer

The Old Kentucky Home Council of Boy Scouts of America has been asked to consider a resolution this month regarding the editorial policy of the national magazine of the scouts, "Boys' Life."

Presently members of the board named to a special committee are formulating the resolution. They are Harry Troutman, Emmitt Jordan, Colpoa Norman, and C. B. Hall.

In the October issue of the magazine an article appeared which several members of the board "found offensive." The subject of the article was folk music.

It was a general article in the subject, but the article concluded by recommending that youngsters -- "listen to Woody Guthrie, (Fats) Seeger, (Bob) Dylan, and (Burl) Ives. Copy their styles, learn their songs. Before long, your own style will come out..."

In response to the article, C. B. Hall, of Anchorage, a member of the board, wrote a letter to the publisher Oliver S. Johnson.

Publisher answers

Hall's letter read: "I wish to register a vigorous protest of the 'Folk Song', by Dave Bellina, story which appeared in October, 1968 Boys' Life (page 17)."

In the letter, Hall also alleged that Lomax, Guthrie, Seeger and Dylan were involved in communist activities. The letter was dated Nov. 12, 1968.

Johnson replied: "Our editor feels that we should have omitted their names, even though to have done so would have meant ignoring several great folk talents whose performances have contributed to this American Art."

Hall acknowledged his letter by recommending Johnson for stating that the names should have been omitted, but persisted by saying, "... Your treatment of the story in question amounts to a full page gratis advertisement in which you urge Boy Scouts to 'listen to Woody Guthrie, Seeger, Dylan, and Ives. Copy their styles, learn their songs.' Do you feel the Boy Scout can do this without being influenced by the personal philosophy of these men?"

Hall went on to condemn the personal philosophy of Dylan, Seeger, and Guthrie. He concluded the letter as follows:

"I am of the opinion that your lack of concern in this very important aspect of Boys' Life editorial policy calls for a stern review of the editorial policy of the official magazine of the B. S. A. You are not publishing Playboy Magazine or Esquire."

The publisher answered Hall's second letter on Dec. 11. It read: "You are absolutely right. One purpose of my recent letter was to convey the editor's opinion on this matter."

Johnson, in the letter, explained that the editor of the magazine, Robert Hood, had no intention of endorsing or promoting communists.

Hood, said Johnson, promised to screen copy for the magazine more vigilantly in the future.

At the December meeting of the Board, Hall presented a resolution to the board members. The resolution asked the board to express its deep concern over the editorial policy of the magazine.

In response to Hall's resolution the board named a special committee to formulate the resolution. Hall is a member of the special committee. If the resolution is passed by the board, it will be presented to the national Boy Scout Convention in Boston in March.

Harry Troutman, a member of the committee, said that the resolution had not been formulated yet. Hall hinted that the resolution would probably commend the publisher Oliver S. Johnson, for his comments, and express concern for the editorial policy.

Both Hall and Troutman said that they believed that the publication of the article by the magazine was a slip up, and that there had not been any indication either past or present that the article represented a trend in the policy of the magazine.

New records in service chalked up by Scouts

New records in service to boys were chalked up by the Old Kentucky Home Council, Boy Scouts of America in 1968, according to Don Henry, council president.

"Details of the preliminary figures will be given in a report in the coming connection with Boy Scout Week, the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, which is observed from February 7 to 12," Henry said.

According to an application to the Boy Scouts of America for the annual charter to provide Scouting in 19 counties including Jefferson, the Old Kentucky Home Council served 130 religious, school, and community organizations with a total of 494 Scout units and 15,684 registered members.

"The successes that we note in our annual report are the result of 3,000 volunteer adult leaders who have given dedicated leadership to boys from 8 to 18," Henry said.

"With this report as our foundation, we expect to expand our Scouting membership and increase our program quality as a part of 'Boyspower '70,' the 8-year, long-range plan of the Boy Scouts of America, which is now being launched."

During the past 2 years, the Boy Scouts of America has carried out a program with the theme, "Scouting rounds a guy out," and the new 8-year plan begins this year with the theme, "America's manpower begins with Boyspower."

Plans made to organize 55 new Boy Scout units

A total of 55 new Boy Scout units are in prospect for an 18-county area of Central Kentucky, it was indicated at a "Character Now" dinner at Executive Inn Thursday night, April 10.

Approximately 450 Scout leaders, public officials, civic leaders, businessmen and clergymen attended.

The meeting was to acquaint representatives of prospective sponsoring units with the Scouting program. In addition to definite commitments by the 55, many others said they would seek sponsorship authority from their respective organizations.

Representatives of ten new churches in the St. Matthews area, it was reported, expressed interest in sponsoring new units.

Jerry Houchens, director of public relations for the Old Kentucky Home Council, said it would be difficult to estimate just how many additional boys would be affected due to the varying sizes of units, both in the older divisions and dens in the Cub Scout class.

Currently, Houchens said, one of four boys is involved in scouting and it is hoped that the number will be increased to one of three.

Principal speaker at the dinner was Ara Parashegian, head football coach at the University of Notre Dame. He received a key to the city from Louisville Mayor Kenneth A. Schmidt and a commission as a Kentucky Colonel. The latter was passed on by County Judge E. P. Sawyer.

Others taking part included former U. S. Senator Thurston B. Morton, honorary chairman of the "Character Now" committee; Donald L. Henry, president of the Old Kentucky Home Council; W. B. Hubbell, Region 4 executive, and Hal Cory, scout executive.

Jim Booher, organization and extension chairman of the council, presided. Dr. Duke K. McCall, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, gave the invocation and the Most Rev. Thomas J. McDonough, archbishop of Louisville, the benediction.

A soft drink company sponsored the dinner.

Two local scout executives to attend jamboree

Two former St. Matthews Eagle Scouts will be among the Scout executives who will be directing activities at the national jamboree July 16 - 22 at Farago Falls State Park, Mo.

They are Richard and Larry Young, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Young, 3413 Grandview Ave., both of whom attained their Eagle Scout rank while they were members of Troop 316 of Harvey Browne Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Richard, now of Cincinnati, will be assistant director of career information at the jamboree and Larry, of Allentown, Pa., will be with the mountain trails section.

Both worked with the Kentucky Home Council before moving to Ohio and Pennsylvania where they continued their work in scouting in their respective cities.

Scout troop folds as members graduate

High school graduations in 1969 paved the way to college for countless numbers of boys and girls, but four of the commencement programs spelled doom for Girl Scout Troop 293.

The four programs represented the termination of membership in the troop for 11 of the 12 girls. All of the girls, except one, were graduated from Sacred Heart Academy, Kentucky Home School and Waggoner and Westport High Schools.

A final banquet for their parents was held at Harvey Browne Memorial Presbyterian Church, the troop sponsor, Monday, June 9, by the spouses. Eight of the number received 10-year membership pins as did their adult leaders, Mrs. Glenn R. Chafee, 1003 Williamsburg Ct., and Mrs. Richard Blake, 302 S. Chadwick Rd.

The lone girl who has another year in high school is Steady Duerr, whose mother, Mrs. Jane Duerr, is president of the Kentuckiana Girl Scout Council.

Sandy plans to join another troop to complete 10 years of scouting. This summer she is serving as a camp counselor.

Besides Miss Duerr, members of the troop were Susan Blake, Peggy Bradley, Debbie Chafee, Christine Doughty, Mary Anne Dreckman, Becky Farley, Linda Owen, Linda Pokallus, Margaret St. Peter, Lynn Troyer and Lloyd Wolfe.

Highlights of the 10-year scouting period for most of the girls included a 10-day trip to Expo 67 in Canada and a trip to the Bahamas islands in 1968. This year's joint activity was a weekend of canoeing at Rough River.

During their scouting days, each of the girls received many aid hours for many hours of church and community service.

Seneca District scouts to hold fall roundup at Rudy Lane church

The fall roundup and program kickoff of the Seneca District of the Boy Scouts of America will be held Aug. 6 at the Calvin Presbyterian Church at 2501 Rudy Lane.

The program will begin at 7:30 pm.

Dan West, Seneca District chairman, and John Ribar, Seneca District commissioner, said the purpose of the program will be to set up Scouting activities for the fall of 1969 and the early part of 1970. The rally, an annual affair, is considered the most important planning meeting of the year for the leaders of the Cub Packs, the Scout Troops, and the Explorer Posts of the Seneca District.

The Seneca District is one of ten such districts that make up the Old Kentucky Home Council. The boundaries of the Seneca District are from the lower end of Frankfort Avenue on the west, the Oldham/Jefferson County Line on the east, I-64, on the south, and the Ohio River on the north.

In this area are some 65 scout units serving some 2000 boys. By the end of 1969 the program will serve some 2700 boys, as new troops are added.

Also involved in the Scouting program are some 700 adults who serve in leadership and advisory capacities.

Allen Dearnaley will serve as the Master of Ceremonies for the Kickoff program. He will be assisted in presenting the program by West, Ribar, Bill Lowe, Sam Kelley, Keith Davis, and other members of the various scouting committees.

The 1969 Fall Roundup program is being supported by the Kentucky Colonels Basketball Organization. Gene Rhodes, coach of the Colonels, will be present at the Kickoff to help explain the part the Colonels will play in the Fall Roundup.

Many topics will be discussed including the Fall Roundup Program, the Fall School Night for Scouting Program, the Fall Program Themes, and the various activities that will take place this fall.

All Scouters are being urged to attend the planning meeting.

Scouts to operate information booths

An effort to create more interest in scouting will be made by representatives of Troop 115 as they man information booths at Ballard High and Stivers and Greathouse Elementary Schools tonight at 7:30.

Boys of scouting age and their parents are urged to attend and obtain information concerning membership in any pack or troop. Representatives of the Seneca District also will be present.

Beginning Friday night and continuing through noon Sunday, Troop 115 will sponsor a display at Beargrass Christian Church, 4100 Shelbyville Rd.

The display will include Scout crafts and camping skills, featuring troop constructed signal towers. The troop, sponsored by the church, will camp on the church grounds the two nights.

Girl Scout Troop No. 423 will host a Mexican Posada Saturday, Nov. 15, at 11 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall at Christ Methodist Church, 4614 Brewnsboro Road.

Included in the program will be Spanish songs, dances, costumes, a musical bullfight and a special Pinata Contest. This will be open to the public.

Each troop attending is asked to make a Pinata, and one troop will be chosen to come on stage and break the Pinata made by Troop 423. The "goodies" inside the Pinata will belong to that troop.

There will be a 50¢ admission and free treats for all those attending.

This Posada is being held to help finance a trip for 32 Scouts to Our Cabana, located in the state of Morelos, Mexico.

Our Cabana is a residence retreat for Girl Scouts from the United States and foreign countries.

Once there, Scouts exchange experiences and try to work together for better ways of achieving international friendship and strengthening the common objectives of the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides.

Local Boy Scouts to sell safety flares on Nov. 22

Members of Boy Scout Troop 314 will be out in force Saturday, Nov. 22, to sell auto safety flares to area motorists.

Scoutmaster Ken Zimmerman said his troop will sponsor the project in the interest of public safety and as a fund-raising program.

Zimmerman said it appears that within the next year, the U.S. Department of Transportation will require safety flares in all new automobiles. This is the same department which required auto manufacturers to install seat belts in all new automobiles.

Zimmerman also pointed to the fact that auto safety flares are recommended by the National Safety Council and used by highway patrols.

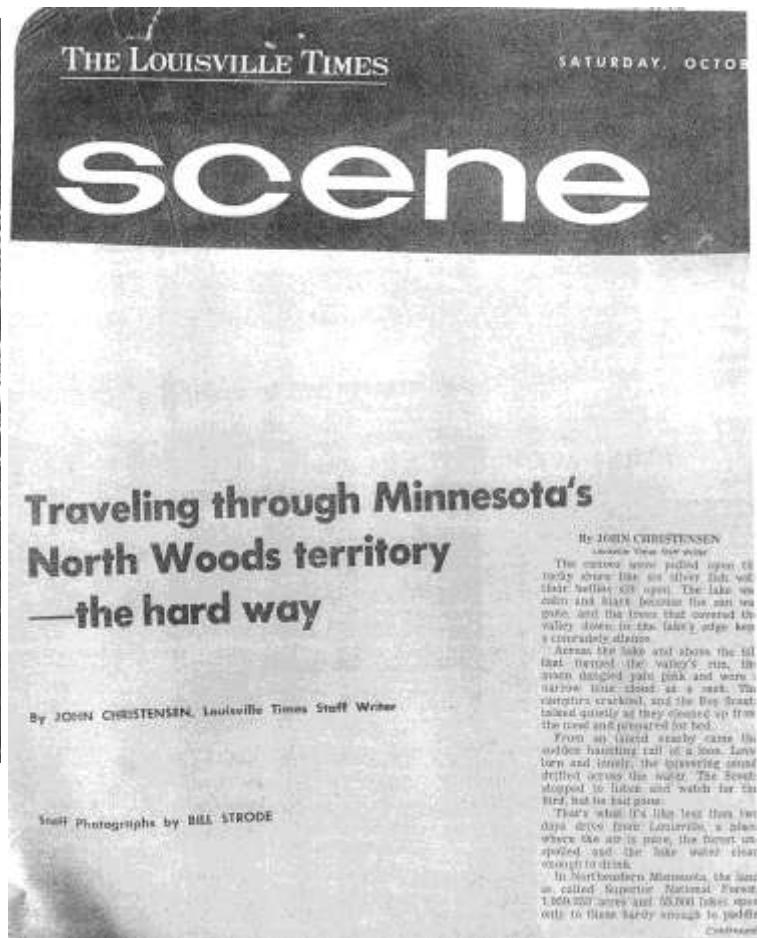

"Highway safety has long been a concern to everyone," the scoutmaster said. "We feel that by offering motorists the flares at the low price of $1.25 for three, we are providing pretty inexpensive life insurance every car owner should have."

Motorists will also receive at no cost, an instruction pamphlet showing how, when and where the flares should be used.

Zimmerman said that many highway accidents in the past could have been prevented if flares had been in use.

Troop 314 will offer the flares in various locations on Shelbyville Road between 8 and 5.

The canoes were pulled upon the rocky shore like six silver fish with their bellies slit open. The lake was calm and black because the sun was gone, and the trees that covered the valley down to the lake's edge kept a comradely silence.

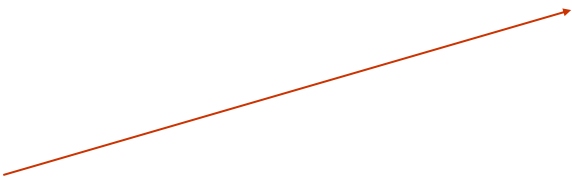

Across the lake and above the hill that formed the valley's rim, the moon dangled pale pink and wore a narrow blue cloud as a sash. The campfire crackled, and the Boy Scout talked quietly as they cleaned up from the meal and prepared for bed.

From an island nearby came the sudden haunting call of a loon. Love lorn and lonely, the quavering sound drifted across the water. The Scout stopped to listen and watch for the bird, but he had gone.

That's what it's like less than two days drive from Louisville, a place where the air is pure, the forest unspoiled and the lake water clear enough to drink.

In Northeastern Minnesota, the land is called Superior National Forest, 1,959,353 acres and 55,000 lakes open only to those hardy enough to paddle.

Maneuvering a canoe through the water was the easy part. The hard part was portaging — carrying the canoes and supplies overland between lakes. Some treks (right) involved packing the heavy loads uphill over rocky terrain. Ted Steinbock, 18, provides the packpower. Doing the teeth-gritting above is David James, 19.

clean, breezy town of Grand Marais on the northern shore of Lake Superior and terminates a few miles from the Canadian border.

Where civilization ended, the expedition began

Toward its northern end, a quarter-mile tributary leads travelers to "Janet's" on the shore of Seagull Lake. There, expeditions such as ours begin and civilization ends.

Janet, a cheerful, bustling woman of Scandinavian descent, lives in a mobile home with modern conveniences. Her work is equipping groups with tents, maps, food, packs, canoes, paddles, compasses and whatever else they might need to live in the wilderness.

For the five and a half days that 15 Scouts from Louisville's Troop 1, two advisers and myself spent in the hinterlands, the cost came to about $50 each.

We set out from a quiet inlet in Round Lake, about 20 minutes by car from Janet's. The canoes make their erratic and separate ways up the inlet while the three occupants discovered or rediscovered how to maneuver them: The man in the rear steers by forming a rudder with his paddle, while the others provide the locomotion.

A pattern quickly established itself. The first canoes launched would race out into the middle of the lake, searching for the portage. The two or three that lagged usually included Bill Strode and Burck Grosse, the advisers. Strode and Grosse had the maps on which the portages were clearly marked.

When the canoes reached Round Lake's center, they hesitated and looked around. The lake was perhaps a mile or two wide, with an irregular coastline and a handful of small islands standing like phone booths in a vast parking lot.

Trees were everywhere. They covered the hillsides like a green-quilt, halting only at the water's edge. The sky overhead was gray and a chilly wind whipped down the lake. There was no noise but the wind and its watery emissaries slapping against the side of the canoe.

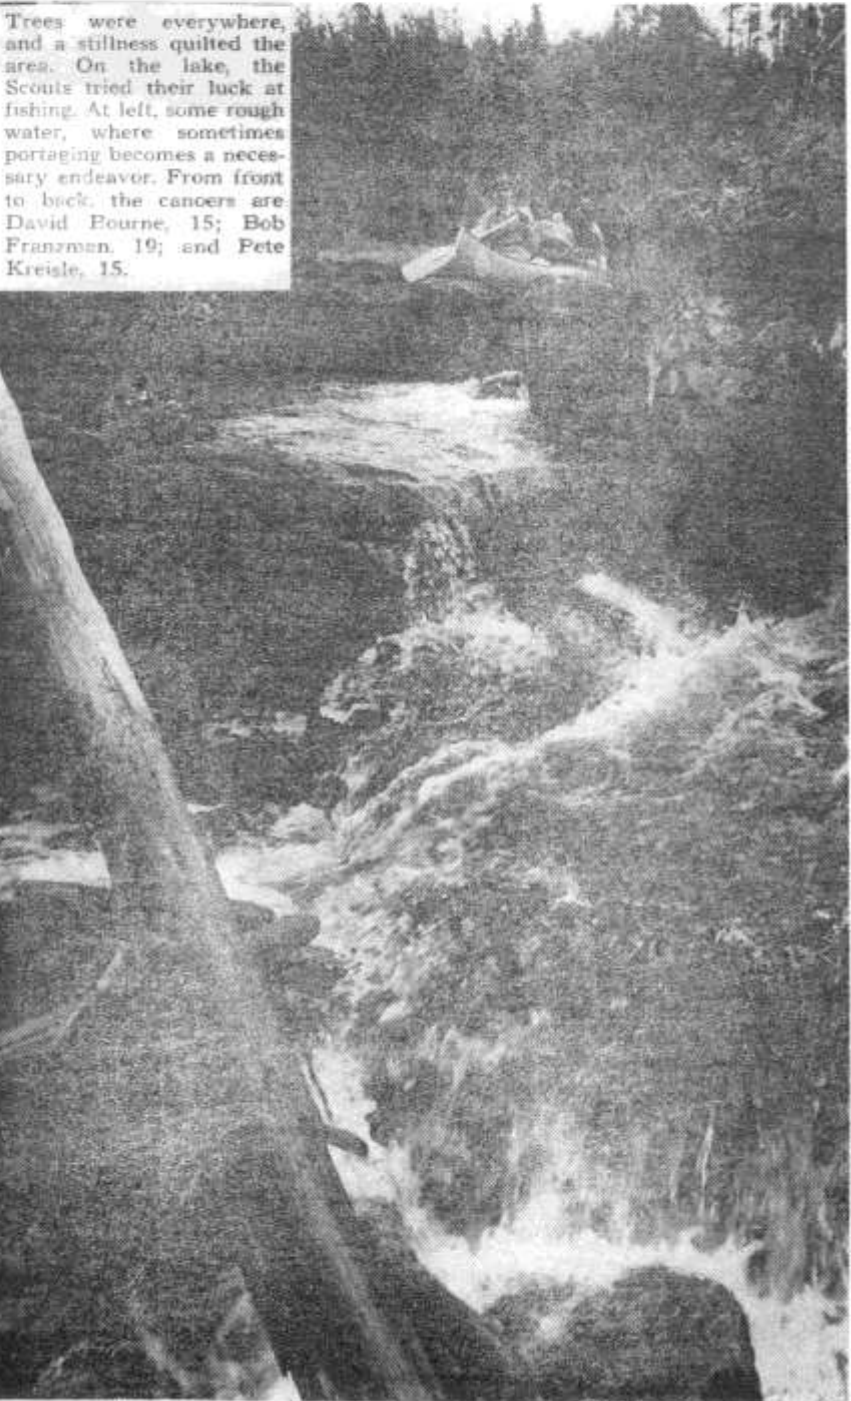

The Scouts got out their fishing gear and made some casts, netting them nothing.

Between the two, the advance guard and the map-readers, the portage was located. "Portage" means carrying canoe and packs overland to get from one lake to another (in this case), or when certain portions of a stream or river are unnavigable (also our case, but later).

The arrangement was basically this: One of the occupants took two packs; one took the other and any leftovers; and the third took the canoe. To portage a canoe, the man must flip it over

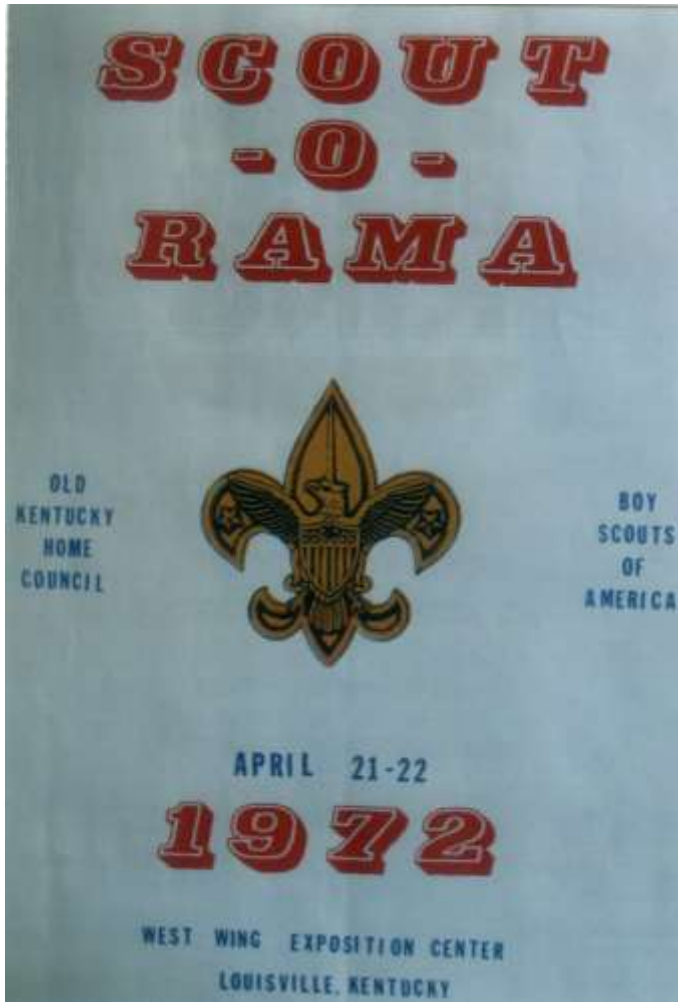

Trees were everywhere, and a stillness quilted the area. On the lake, the Scouts tried their luck at fishing. At left, some rough water, where sometimes portaging becomes a necessary endeavor. From front to back, the canoes are David Bourne, 15; Bob Franzman, 19; and Pete Kreisle, 15.

How to cross—and how not to cross

THE PENALTY for a clumsy step on a three-rope bridge is a dunking, as Joe Barkley, 14, discovers last night at the Old Kentucky Home Boy Scout Council's Scout-O-Rama at the state fairgrounds in Louisville. The rope bridge was built by scouts from Troop 1 of the Crescent Hill Methodist Church. Jerry Emery, 14, seems more successful in his crossing. (Story, Page B 2.)

Boy Scouts display skills, spills at Scout-O-Rama

By TINSLEY STEWART
Courier-Journal Staff Writer

A pig roasting slowly over a pit isn't a very pretty sight, but it will make good eating for members of Scout Troop 194. For 15 hours or so, troop members plan to huddle around a fire in two inches of water, turning the spit.

At least last night they said they would.

They were one troop among hundreds at the Old Kentucky Home Council's annual Scout-O-Rama, which began at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center last night. It will continue again today from 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Tommy Higdon, from Troop 194, sponsored by the St. Martha Catholic Church, 2825 Klondike Lane, who was turning the spit at their tent, outside the center, said the troop will share the pig with some of the Scout-O-Rama visitors. But it was a mighty small pig to feed the thousands of persons who will drop in before it all ends.

Inside the hall, a young scout was wriggling on a rope bridge, trying to keep his balance over a pool of water.

Splash!

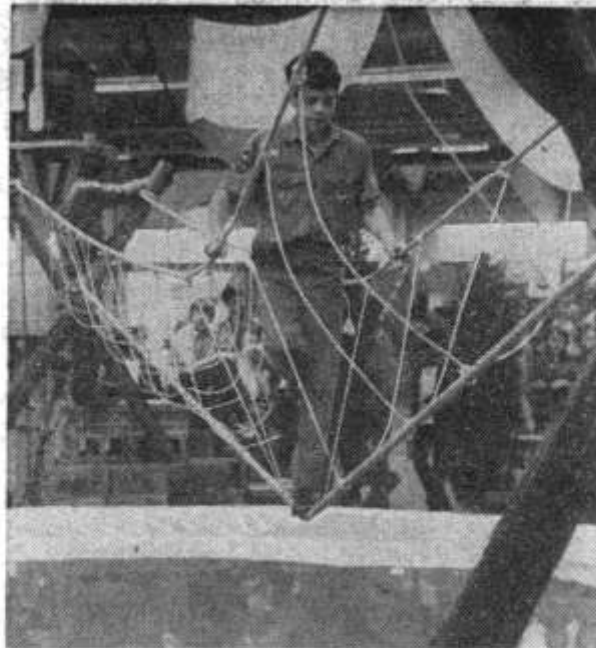

The bridge, built by Troop 1, sponsored by Crescent Hill United Methodist Church, was made of three ropes held together by smaller ropes. It forms a long "V" and wiggles and wobbles, but most manage to cross. (Photo, Page A 1.)

The Scout-O-Rama has a carnival-like atmosphere, with a smell of burnt hot dogs and cotton candy, and most faces reflect a happy mood—except for one scout who was the "victim" in a first-aid demonstration. He writhed in mock pain as his fellow scouts bandaged his various broken limbs.

By mid-show, most of the cubs, scouts and explorers were red-faced and sweaty. They had been racing, building, climbing.

The Scout-O-Rama, as usual, had booths depicting scout activities.

They included a survival display, where the scouts had built miniature emergency campsites made of things such as tree limbs, a pinewood derby with tiny cars made of pine racing on a downhill course, and an emergency food display of wild, edible plants including wild carrots, water cress, dandelions, berries, and may apple.

A wrong move could have meant an unscheduled splashdown for 12-year-old Bruce Needy, of Boy Scout Troop 1 in Louisville, as he carefully made his way across a rope bridge during a demonstration at the Fairgrounds last night.

10,000 boys display skills in Scout-O-Rama

By T. C. JEFFERSON
Louisville Times Staff Writer

Early yesterday afternoon Louisville was invaded by about 10,000 troops, who captured the Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center without a shot and plan to hold it until 8 this evening.

They would keep it longer, but they have to be back at school Monday morning.

The "10,000 troops" are Boy Scouts who gathered at the Exposition Center for the Old Kentucky Home Council's 1973 Scout-O-Rama.

This year's Scout-O-Rama began precisely at 7 p.m. yesterday, closed down at about 9 p.m., but was back in full swing today until 8 p.m.

For the Scouts, Scout leaders and other persons involved, Scout-O-Rama never ends. Take Bill Conner and the 40 or so boys who make up Troop 19 for example. For them, work on the 1973 Scout-O-Rama began at the close of 1972's.

While sitting behind a chronological display of America flags, Conner said it "gets a little hard" to keep coming up with new ideas for the Scout-O-Ramas, especially when you've been in 34 of them.

But after completing the first night of his 34th Scout-O-Rama, Conner appeared as enthusiastic as some of his Scouts who were seeing only their second or third.

"Many times the leaders are people who have grown up with the Scouts and have just stuck with it," Conner said, "and these boys are following in our footsteps."

Conner said his Troop 19, sponsored by the Highland United Methodist Church, began "seriously" getting ready for the 1973 Scout-O-Rama about seven weeks ago.

"Actually, we came across the idea of using the flags quite by accident," Conner said. "But after the boys began doing research in the library and we started getting the flags together, we thought it would be nice to show the evolution of the Stars and Stripes since 1809."

Conner added that Troop 19 has a drill team which eventually will be able to perform a drill pattern with the flags.

"It's hard to imagine how hard the boys worked on these exhibits," Conner said. "We spent four hours setting up this display and now they're working on one-hour shifts with four boys each during the show. And the ones who aren't working in the booth are in the competitive events . . . everyone has got something to do," he said.

There are about 260 displays by troops from 19 counties.

Troop 315 Today

Earned their Eagle Scout rank through Troop 315

Mission Statement

Troop 315 has been a backpacking troop for many years. We have always had a focus on high adventure. When other troops choose the easier path, we choose the road less traveled, as we call it the "Rugged Road".

We want to educate the boys and help them develop proper leadership qualities. The additional traits outside the scout law should include dedication, perseverance, and desire. Scouts that join Troop 315 should want to become better leaders.

We are dedicated to bettering our Troop and the rest of our community. Community service is a large part of our schedule, and we show the rest of the world what it means to help by setting this example.

To have a successful Troop, we should also prioritize teamwork. When part of the team has a problem, the rest of the group is there to help. We are only as strong as our weakest link, and we all take responsibility for each other's actions.

We have made a conscious decision to become a better Scout and citizen by choosing the less beaten path. Backpacking, hiking, and camping, are our primary means by which we achieve excellence. Scouts that join our Troop should understand that backpacking is the spirit of our Troop, and has been for over 60 years.

Proper attendance and commitment is necessary for advancement. Advancement, however important, should not be the only reason for Scouting. The Scouts in 315 earn their ranks, and come away from this Troop with a better understanding. This method of learning sets us apart from many other troops.

Scouts in this Troop should expect to learn hands on, outdoors, and by being active.

“NOBODY WALKS AWAY FROM A LEGACY THAT ENDURES”

Little did I know that when I volunteered as District Chair for Seneca District in 1968, I would still be in Scouting 36 years later. They told me, “It only takes about 1 hour a week!” My tenure in Scouting has been rewarding and pleasurable, and, I like to think, beneficial for the youth who are impacted with the values of the Scouting program...values that parents want for their children, and values that will help them “Be Prepared” for life.

Sam Swope

Since 1910, Scouting has influenced the lives of over 1,000,000 youth in this area by serving neighborhoods and communities through “charter partners”...in churches, synagogues, schools, homes, businesses, etc.

Capital Campaigns don’t happen very often. Forty years have passed since the Capital Campaign for the present Scout Service Center, located at 824 Phillips Lane, and 18 years since our Campaign to build Camp Crooked Creek. I would like to share with you the plan for our next major projects.

The Lincoln Heritage Council has launched A Legacy That Endures Capital/Endowment Campaign to raise $7.5 million dollars over the next 12 months. The successful results will support over 9,000 dedicated local volunteers in nearly 900 Cub packs, Scout troops, Venture crews, and Explorer posts. Campaign projects include:

- 1.) A new Volunteer Scout Center that will greatly enhance training and support.
- 2.) Improvements to our 2 premier camps.
- 3.) Strengthen our financial stability through endowment.

Your support is needed. Please spread the word to our “alumni” as they, too, have benefited from the Scouting program. Indeed, now is the time to step forward and support a campaign that will benefit our Scouts, volunteers, parents, and community. Our future is our youth! For more information, please call me or a steering committee member. I ask that “nobody walk away” from A Legacy That Endures.

Sam Swope, Capital/Endowment Campaign Chair
