

St. Matthews, Kentucky Area History

Lyndon Elementary School 2nd. Edition

This is one of many sections that contain information, photos, newspaper articles, internet items, etc. of the St. Matthews area. Many of the items came from Al Ring's personal collections but many people have helped and I have tried to give credit where I can.

The purpose of this "collection" was to create the history of St. Matthews, Kentucky. Being retired I now have time to do many of the things I have always wanted, this project is just one of them.

All graphics have been improved to make the resolution as good as possible, but the reader should remember that many came from copies of old newspaper articles and photos. Credit to the source of the photos, etc. is provided whenever it was available. We realize that many items are not identified and regret that we weren't able to provide this information. As far as the newspaper articles that are not identified, 99% of them would have to be from one of three possible sources. The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times or one of the Voice publications. Books that we have used for some information include, Randy, Cactus, Uncle, Ed and the Golden age of Louisville Television, Waggener High School Alumni Directory 1996, Waggener Traditional High School Alumni Directory 2007, Memories of Fontaine Ferry Park, St. Matthews The Crossroads of Beargrass by Samuel W. Thomas, St. Matthews, 25 Years a City Two Centuries a Community, St. Matthews 1960-1995, Waggener Lair's 1958 to 1962, The Holy Warrior, Muhammad Ali, Louisville's Own (An Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Louisville Area Recorded Pop Music From 1953 to 1983).

A very special thanks to Mary Margaret Bell, Coordinator, Archives and Retrieval Systems, Jefferson County Public Schools, Louisville, KY, and Lawrence "Larry" Richard Myers (60), who did all the hard work copying and gathering the material from the Archives. Also The Voice Of St. Matthews.

Please use this information as a reference tool only. If the reader uses any of the information for any purpose other than a reference tool, they should get permission from the source.

NEW SCHOOL FOR COUNTY SYSTEM

Building At Lyndon
To Serve Progress
And Buckeye.

12 CLASS ROOMS, ASSEMBLY

The new Lyndon Consolidated school is now taking form rapidly. The new modern brick building, which is to cost approximately $50,000, is expected to be completed by the date of the opening of the school term on September 7.

The new consolidated district with its building of six modern class rooms is being added to the county school system as a result of the County Board's merger of Progress district with that of Buckeye. In addition to the six class rooms, the building has a spacious auditorium and is constructed in such manner as to permit of such future additions as may be required. In locating the building at Lyndon the Board sought to serve to the best advantage the entire consolidated area.

The contractors for the building are the Skilton Construction Company.

HISTORICAL, RETROSPECTIVE

The completion of the new consolidated school at Lyndon, Ky., brings the passing of two County schools, Buckeye and Progress, originally one room buildings. Buckeye school in its 125 years has occupied three buildings, two on the Westport Road opposite Warwick Villa; the first building burned, the second was abandoned when a new building was erected on Herr's Lane where it would be nearer the center of the district. It was so named because of two large buckeye trees in the front yard at the original site.

Progress has served the children about the Eight Mile House neighborhood for about fifty years. Many prominent citizens received their early schooling at these schools. With the times both have progressed having several rooms, active P.-T. A., playground equipment, lunch-rooms and other school requirements of today.

Friday, August 13 Progress P.-T. A. held their last business session and farewell party, fifteen members were present, retiring president Mrs. John Crawford, presiding. The honor guests at the party were: Miss Mary Alice Brumley, teacher; Mrs. Ed Rothenberger and Mrs. Jake Miller, charter members, who have been active during the entire seventeen years of the organization.

Each was presented with a diploma for loyalty and service and a gift. Miss Brumley received a lamp. Mrs. Rothenberger and Mrs. Miller a pottery vase.

Mrs. Charles Schauer, now deceased, was the first president of Progress P.-T. A.

The new building at Lyndon will be when entirely completed a handsome structure of red brick with buff brick and stone trim; two stories high and modern in every respect, a very worthwhile adjunct to the county's system of handsome school plants.

After Lyndon Elementary School closed in 73/74 it sat vacant until it re-opened in 1976 as Vocational Rehabilitation School. It closed in 1992 and the school building again sat vacant for a while until it re-opened as Jaeger Education Center, which is open today.

On the three levels the first is early childhood development, Preschool, the middle floor in Alternative school and the top floor is a training center of Jefferson County Public School teachers on computers.

I was told, but don't remember there are no stairs in the building.

Lyndon School Library Does A Lot Of Growing In 5 Years

By JOYCE GRIFFIN

After starting with only one set of out-dated encyclopedias five years ago, Lyndon School's Library now boasts 1520 books including five sets of up-to-date encyclopedias. All of these books are exclusively for the first through sixth grades.

In 1948 the library got a boost with two sets of encyclopedias won by students on the "Quiz-down" radio quiz program.

The children who were on the "Quizdown Team" were Pamela Reed, Bobby Thomale, Joe Bob Griffin, Andrew Stuebling, Jackie Henry, Phillip Falk, Keith Boone, John Goetz, Ray Burke, Janice Jackson, Joe Richardson, Billy Arrington, Carol Seaton, Beverly Richardson, Joyce Ann Hurt, Terry Huffaker, and Hugh Dunhan.

Lyndon's library is supplemented by the 304 books that the Louisville public library sends to the school each year. Both the Lyndon School PTA and the Jefferson County Board of Education give a fund to the library each year for the purchase of new books.

Mrs. Nance S. Zipt has been the librarian for three years. She comes to the school twice a week and has complete charge of the library, also instructing the students in the usage of the library.

The total circulation for last year was 10,348 books. The children are only permitted to borrow one book at a time because of the limited supply. Approximately 200 children use the library every day that it is open. The boys and girls use the library for pleasure reading, for informational reading, and for research on reference questions.

Members of the PTA library committee are Mrs. M. J. Fisher, chairman; Mrs. Earl Gray, Mrs. E. B. Tucker, and Mrs. B. G. Williams. Each member of the committee helps in the library a half day a week. The parents are interested in the library and what it can do for their children. They give of their time and energy freely. The entire PTA cooperates in helping to raise the money to buy books for the library.

When the library was first started, one end of the upstairs hall was partitioned off to serve as the library. However, in 1950 this small room was outgrown and the library moved into a large classroom. In the new library the children are taught how to use the card catalogue and reference books.

Through the help of the PTA and the whole community the library at Lyndon School has grown from practically nothing five years ago to the new, large, well equipped library that it is today.

Lyndon School Taking Clothes For Needy

Lyndon School is starting a "clothes closet" for the needy children of the school. The school would appreciate any contributions of used children's clothing. They also request that anyone who would like to donate a wardrobe or something in which the clothes could be stored, to contact Mrs. Clay Morris at TA. 5039 or Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt, at TA. 2287.

SONG, DANCE, AND MUSIC highlighted the Lyndon P.T.A. Carnival held at the school last Saturday night. At left, Larry Orr, singer and dancer per excellence, drops in one more, Jubilee-style, and sings to dancers Tricia Downe and Sherry Ross, while Billy Phillips rips out a tune on the accordion. These four performers starred in the cabaret show, one of the carnival's highlights. The cabaret, sponsored by Mrs. Emily Jane Bulver's second grade and directed by Mrs. Doris Faircloth, featured a cast of 76. There were also rides, booths, and a barbeque supper at the school that night.

Lyndon

School Opens, Writer Introduces Principal

Merry laughter rang through the halls of Lyndon Elementary school Tuesday as the '54 and '55 session opened for registration. Kenneth Lam, principal, expected an enrollment of 300 children, which is capacity. For the benefit of the newcomers to our school, Mr. Lam is starting his eighth year here.

Mr. Lam, a graduate of Western with a major in history and minor in education, started on his teaching career in 1931 at Russellville, Ky. In 1934 he came to Jefferson County and taught at Fairdale doing Junior High and Senior high work. During the war years he took time off from teaching and did defense work. In 1944 he resumed his teaching career at Bedford, Ky., where he was principal from 1944 to 1947. Bedford school was from the first grade through senior high. In 1947 Mr. Lam came to Lyndon as principal. During the summer months, many of us have come to know and love him as the Playground Recreation Supervisor. Need we say more?

Lyndon School principal Kenneth Lam, left, and dance teacher Sally Elder were the surprised recipients of gifts last week at a party celebrating the closing of the dance class taught by Sally. Lloyd Kay, head of the Lyndon Recreation Board, right, made the presentation. Sally, 16, of 415 Eldre, got a purse and corsage from the Cotillion Class, which she has been teaching since January, and a travelling alarm clock from the Ladies Auxiliary of the Lyndon Volunteer Fire Department. Mr. Lam received a shirt and tie from the pupils for his help and for allowing the class to be held at his school.

Eddie Bignon, 12, Lyndon, Ky., gets ready to spin into the Bop routine.

It comes out looking just like the rubber-leg routine that used to be.

LEG JAM

They call it the 'Bop,' that new dance the teen-agers are doing, and it's the hottest thing going

By IRA GREENBERG
Courier-Journal Staff Writer

WHAT is neat, real cool, and then gone? Could be an ice cube, only it's not. On the contrary, it's one of the hottest little dances that's hit Louisville in years—and it's spreading like a wind-swept blaze.

Called "Bop," it's an importation from Texas that has been mastered by hundreds of teen-agers in the junior and senior high schools of Jefferson County.

One of its foremost practitioners is 12-year-old Eddie Bignon of Lyndon, Ky., who'll spin into his one-man routine at the word, "Go." *

Eddie likes the dance because it's a "neat" number. He describes it "real gone." It's also "real cool."

The "Bop" is a one-man dance that so far has proved most popular with boys, but girls are taking it up too, Eddie reports, usually working out a pattern with a partner. Hot, jazz-type music is best suited for Bop.

As Eddie does it, it resembles the old "rubber-leg act" that former high-school generations made famous. The dance is built around a knee and ankle action. You move sideways, pivoting on the heel and toe of one foot and at the same time co-ordinating a heel and toe tap of the other.

Then you alternate. But all the time your knees are coming together and moving apart to give a relaxed, rubber-leg like effect.

Sounds easy? Believe me, it isn't. I attempted the routine after several minutes of intense tutoring on Eddie's part—and failed miserably. Anyway, it looks easy—or rather, real neat.

Eddie, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Woosley and a Sixth Grade pupil at Lyndon Grade School, picked up the dance a few months before Christmas after watching several of his older friends go through it.

Two Texas boys introduced it here on a visit during the summer of 1954. By the time they returned to Dallas, the Bop had captured a few teen-agers' enthusiasm, and after two youngsters exhibited it at an Eastern High School variety show, it began to catch on.

It has since spread to Fern Creek High, Waggener Junior High, and Lyndon, Slivers, and Greathouse Grade Schools, to name a few. Altogether the dance has some 400 adherents, and the number grows each week.

Why the name, "Bop"? Eddie shrugs. "What else can you call it?"

Charlie Spears, youth director of the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board, said the Bop is a regular part of dance activities at several teen-age clubs, and a few have weekly Bop contests.

"The kids are wild about it," he said.

Eddie ranks it with football, baseball, and basketball, his favorite sports. "It's just a real cool number," he said with a grin.

There's nothing to it, he'll tell you. You pivot on one foot and do a heel-and-toe tap with other.

Courier-Journal Photos by Robert Stotz
But when Reporter Ira Greenberg, left, tried it, he found those old bones couldn't take it.

'This Is Your Life' Honors Farmer

Outgoing principal Kenneth Farmer was honored with a "This Is Your Life at Greathouse" program Friday evening at the school.

His 10-year career at Greathouse was reviewed in a script prepared by Mrs. Arch Herron, and read by Emil Aun, editor of The Voice.

Mr. Farmer, surprised and grinning, was afterwards presented by the P.T.A. with a movie camera and projector, a copy of the script and a pictorial review of his year:

at Greathouse in a leather folder. Also honored was Greathouse teacher Elizabeth Bennett, who leaves after this year to become principal at Eastwood School. Her career was also reviewed, and she was presented with an orchid, earrings and a necklace, also by the P.T.A.

One by one, the highlights of Mr. Farmer's career at Greathouse were recalled. At appropriate intervals, former P.T.A. presidents and teachers who worked with him at Greathouse appeared on the stage.

First was Mrs. Charles Beatty, president of the P.T.A. in 1946-1948. Next was Mrs. Karl Straub, P.T.A. president in 1948-1950. When Mrs. J. Ashby Miller, P.T.A. president in 1950-1951 came on the stage, the announcer remembered to tell Mr. Farmer to kiss her on the cheek.

He did so. Then, to the delight of the crowd of about 300, he kissed Mrs. Straub and Mrs. Beatty also. Afterwards, he kissed all the ladies as they came of the stage.

Mrs. Herron, who arranged the program, was next. She was P.T.A. president in 1951-1953. Then came Mrs. Ruth H. Osborne, who was a teacher at Greathouse 21 years before becoming principal at Silvers School in 1952.

Mrs. Mabel Bowen, now principal at Ballard School, was next, followed by Mrs. Lane McCroskey, P.T.A. president in 1953-1954 and Mrs. Edwin A. Wahl, president for the past two years.

One of the highlights of the program was the announcement that the Greathouse library under Mr. Farmer had grown from fewer than 100 books in 1949 to 4,000 books today, including nine sets of encyclopedias.

"Circulation is over 1,000 books a week," said the announcer. "In these six years, the P.T.A. has contributed $5,000 to the library and Greathouse now has the best elementary school library in the state."

This announcement drew applause from the audience.

Then the announcer told Mr. Farmer, who is leaving to become principal of the Goldsmith Lane School:

School:

"Words cannot express to you how everyone of us feels about the splendid work you have done. Actually, though your work has been great, that in itself is small compared with the example you have set for these children. They love you and respect you.

"Your leaving will be the heart of a school taken away, and yet you will be leaving us something of yourself that no one will ever forget. Your ideals will be here—all of the things you stand for. They will always be a part of this school and of this community.

"Just as you have said that there are no hard and fast rules for handling children, even so there are no hard and fast rules for saying farewell. Let us just say 'au revoir' and may you know that with the giving of this gift goes the expression of everything we feel for you."

Then Mrs. Farmer and their two children, Mike and Linda, were brought up to the stage and introduced.

All together at the program for Kenneth Farmer at Greathouse last week were, seated, Mrs. E. A. Wahl, Mrs. Lane McCroskey, Mrs. Ruth Osborne, Mr. Farmer, Mike and Linda Farmer, and Mrs. J. New Teachers, Rooms Give School That New Look

The Lyndon School has a completely new look! The new look includes five new teachers and such improvements as the following: five additional classrooms, new library, an audio visual room, asphalt tile flooring over the entire school building, special acoustical equipment in all the classrooms, and fluorescent lighting in all of the classrooms.

In addition to all these helpful facilities which have been added the community would like to welcome the new teachers we mentioned at the beginning of this article. They are Mrs. Shirley Christie, third grade; Mrs. Mildred Gill, first grade; Miss Rita Dowd, second grade; Mrs. Charles Knadler, fourth grade; and Mrs. Rilda Steele, second grade. We are very happy to welcome back to our school, after a year's absence, Mrs. Fannie Lowe.

Lyndon, Greathouse To Observe National Book Week

"A wonderful exhibit of new children's books will be on exhibit in the Lyndon School library during National Book Week, November 13-19," said Mrs. Nance Zipf, school librarian.

Parents of youngsters in grades three through six are invited to visit the library with their children during Book Week she said.

Mrs. Zipf, who is also librarian for Greathouse School, says this community has some of the best elementary school libraries in Kentucky.

The Greathouse library, which contains 4,000 books, has been moved into a converted classroom, she said. Lyndon has a brand-new library room, with 2,000 books, built during the summer by the County Board of Education.

Though the Lyndon library is in its seventh year, this is the first year it has had a room specially built for it. An audio visual room is attached.

At Lyndon and Greathouse, grades two to six visit the library once a week, and any child may exchange a book before school on any day the library is open.

The first grades visit the library for one period every other week to enjoy the picture books, she said. Teachers say this experience has done much to develop reading readiness.

Book Week, "Let's Read More" The Lyndon library is adorned with children's art work during the slogan at both libraries.

Mrs. Billy Davis is chairman of the Lyndon P.T.A. library committee. Mrs. H. Woods is chairman at Greathouse.

Mrs. Zipf said both libraries have encyclopedia carts which can be wheeled into any classroom and used. She said boys and girls at both schools enjoy reading and using the libraries.

Lyndon Teachers

Mrs. Christine Kemp

By EVE MILBURN

Mrs. Christine Kemp is another of the fine teachers that Lyndon School is so proud of.

Mrs. Kemp came to Lyndon six years ago and is a first grade teacher.

She is a very busy person, finding time to teach, marry, raise a family, keep house and enjoy several hobbies. She likes having friends drop in, cooking and growing flowers.

Her oldest daughter, Lida Lee, is a freshman at the University of Kentucky and Mildred is a Junior at Eastern High School.

Born Christine Theiss at Prospect (which is still her home), she attended Louisville Girls High, Alberton High, Louisville Normal and Nazareth College.

She and Mr. Kemp have been married for 20 years. Mr. Kemp is employed at the Jeffersonville Quartermaster's Depot. They belong to the Prospect Christian Church.

When asked her ambition, she replied, "to be a successful teacher." I think she can be certain this ambition has already been realized. The many first graders she has started on their way to perhaps brilliant futures will always remember and love her.

Teachers Introduced; 456 Enroll At School

I would like to introduce to you this week two gracious teachers of the sixth grades in the Lyndon Elementary School.

First we will stop by the door of Mrs. Carrie Rudd who lives in St. Matthews at 403 Macon. Mrs. Rudd is the mother of four children. One is married and has two children, living in Cincinnati; one will graduate from St. Xavier college in Cincinnati, this year; another is a senior at Sacred Heart, Cincinnati; and the other is a sophomore in high school.

Mrs. Rudd got her BS degree this year from Nazareth college. There are 31 boys and girls in her room this year, and from experience, we know they will all come out with a head full of knowledge. Mrs. Rudd is also serving on the student council at the Lyndon School. Mrs. Rudd taught in the city schools before coming to Lyndon, where she has been 12 years.

When you stop by and meet Mrs. Gerald Jones, you will know immediately she hails from the deep south. Mrs. Jones also lives in St. Matthews at 418 Bauer. She has had a varied life of teaching and social welfare work. Fifteen years of her life were given to social welfare all up and down the east coast from New Jersey down through the Carolinas and into Tennessee and Georgia, her home state. Her husband was a Canadian.

She has one daughter married, who has one child and lives in Lexington. Mrs. Jones received her normal training at the University of Georgia in Athens, her BS degree at the University of Louisville, and is now working on her master degree at the University of Kentucky. The first teaching in Kentucky by Mrs. Jones was at the Kentucky Children's Home and from there she came to Lyndon in 1947.

The total enrollment at Lyndon School this year is 456, a little lighter than expected. Both teachers and pupils are happy because they now have full use of their auditorium. Last year it was used for two classrooms. Arrangements are now being made for the annual school fall carnival which will take place Friday evening, Sept. 25, at the school. Keep this date in mind and visit your school.

About 350 people attended the fish fry at the school last Friday evening, making it a success. These fish fries are held the second Friday in each month.

Having completed all the necessary requirements to make first class scouts, the following boys of Troop 114 were promoted last Tuesday evening at their regular meeting: Charlie Preston, Tenny Klefer and Tommy Housekeeper. From tenderfoot to second class: Melvyn Price, Douglass Kennedy, Michael Lynch and Tommy Wiley.

We are glad to report that Mrs. A. W. Burie is recuperating nicely from her recent operation.

Mrs. Ida Carnes visited with her daughter and family last week, the Lloyd T. Rays.

The Lyndon Woman's Club will have their first meeting of the fall September 22 at the St. Thomas Parish House beginning at 10:30. Mrs. E. C. Guillet of Seymour, Ind. will speak on antiques.

The Woman's Missionary Unit of the Lyndon Baptist Church observed Week of Prayer last week for state missions. Mrs. Gilbert Westerfield, Mrs. Earl Gary, Mrs. W. R. Cobb and Mrs. Paul Flemming were in charge of the programs during the week. The ladies joined with the entire church on Wednesday evening and had as their speaker, Rev. G. R. Pendergraph.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Inman and children, Sally, John and Dick spent last week visiting friends and relatives in Springfield, and Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Robard and children, Lola and Buddy, of North Park Place have recently returned from Monterey, Mexico, and also a tour of the Southwestern States.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Louis Lusky, the new Lyndon PTA officers wish to pursue several new ideas this year, two of which are as follows:

1. The appointment to the Board of a chairman of a committee to study the problem of the exceptional child (i.e. the child either above or below normal) and to cooperate with school authorities in any way possible to provide service for such children; 2. The incorporation of fathers into our PTA program to a greater degree. Mrs. Lusky is a graduate of a Pennsylvania College and worked for a year in Frankfort, Germany with the U.N.R.R.A., an organization operating for the purpose of sending displaced persons home again or getting them established in a new country. While in Germany she met Mr. Lusky, who was with the legal division of the U. S. Army.

The Lusky's have two children, Mary, who will be a fourth grader the coming school year and John, who will be in the second grade. They are at home on LaGrange Road and Mr. Lusky is an Attorney and has offices in the Hoffman Building.

Gives Lyndon third graders zoo report

Lyndon Elementary School third graders got a first hand report on Louisville's proposed zoo from Mayor William O. Cowger last week. His unexpected visit came about this way:

Thirty five students in a class wrote the Mayor about the zoo as a class project, and the Mayor figured it would be easier to just appear in person--which he did with illustrative literature of zoo animals.

The students gave rapt attention as he explained the many different animals which he hopes to bring the proposed zoo.

They gave out with oh's and ah's when the Mayor said it is hoped the children's section of the zoo will be opened by next September. He explained that the children's zoo will have animals which children can pet.

The Mayor was delighted with various drawings the children made accompanying the letters, which he said were well written.

An American flag that flew over the United States Capitol has been presented to the Lyndon Consolidated School by Dale McMakin, at right, where he was a sixth grader last year. Lyndon student gives flag to school

A flag which has flown over the United States Capitol in Washington has been presented to the Lyndon Consolidated School and will hang in the school library. The flag was presented at the request of Dale McMakin, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McMakin, 406 Wood Rd.

Last Spring, Dale, then a sixth grader at Lyndon School, was in Washington with a Farm Bureau tour. While there the group had dinner with the congressmen and senators, at which time Dale made a request to Senator John Sherman Cooper for a flag that had flown over the Capitol for his school. He is a seventh grader at Westport High School this year.

Dale has recently received the flag along with framed letters from Senator Cooper and Capitol architect, George Stuart, certifying the flag had flown over the capitol.

Dale has made the presentation to John Lowe school principal who said the flag and the letters will hang in the school library. Mr. Lowe said a dedication ceremony will probably be scheduled later.

REPRESENTATIVES of three schools gather around Robert Whitney after presenting him a certificate of appreciation from all children in the county school system. Lyndon Elementary School

Here are some fond remembrances about Lyndon school from Mrs. Frank (Miss Caroline) Barth. Caroline Barth and my mother, Helen Wetherton, are both in the early 90s and still active. They both have been active in the Lyndon Homemakers group from day one. Miss Caroline was maybe a little more active at Lyndon School than mom. I spoke to Miss Caroline on June 2nd and I thought some of this information might fit into your website. Maybe a little genealogy first would be helpful.

Miss Caroline married Frank Barth, her second marriage. Her first husband died in WW II. She has two sons, B J (Billy Jim) (1941) and Rudy Miller (1943), from the first marriage. Rudy married Becky Arnold (A Arnold & Son Moving and Storage).

My mom was married to William M. Wetherton, Sr, so I am the Jr (1943). I have two siblings, Sister Lynne (1941) and Jim (1949). Lynne and B J graduated from Eastern, Rudy and I from Waggener, and my brother Jim from Westport, all from the same 309 N. Lyndon Lane house.

Lyndon Elementary was opened sometime mid to late 40s. The first principal of Lyndon Elementary was Mrs. Fiemster (sp?). She lived in crescent Hill. One of her neighbors was Mame S Waggener. Mrs. Fiemster was teaching at Greathouse and Mame Waggener was involved in getting her to become the principal at Lyndon. The third principal was Robert Lamb. His son Bobby eventually went to New York and one day was found dead in the East River, the apparent murder was never solved to my knowledge.

There is an "Ormsby Village" book according to Miss Caroline that might have some Lyndon information. Ormsby was the children's reformatory located at the intersection of Whipps Mill Road and LaGrange Road.

Miss Caroline was possibly the first president of the Lyndon PTA. The kitchen needed $3,000 for upgrading. Miss C appointed a committee of Owen and Doris Pillans, Ella and Dan Ross, Jack and Lois Mayrose, Bill and Helen Wetherton, plus some others. The fund raising began. This would have been when Lynne and B J were in about the 5th grade so about 1951. Friday night fish fries, paper drives, rummage sales, etc were conducted by all parents and kids. I recall going door to door picking up stacks of papers to fill my wagon and moms station wagon and taking them to the containers behind the school. Miss C recalls during one of the rummage sales a large collection of new men's clothes arrive from a family who had a sudden death. The clothes were all the right size to fit Principal Lamb. Miss C had to pull Mr. Lamb to the room where the clothes were displayed (he got the first choice) to buy lots of the new clothing pieces.

During the Friday night fish fries, the moms and maybe some dads put on variety show on the gym stage. Somehow a dramatic instructor was located to help with the organization and choreography. One of the ladies got a deal from the local fish supplier, all the moms made pies, and Hortense Thomale was in charge of the potatoes. Hortense was the wife of "Tiny" Thomale who played the piano and accordion on the TV show Hayloft Hoedown. Quite often a square dance caller was brought in and the gym was filled with local dancers. I seem to recall that eventually the fish fries were taken over by the Fire Department as their fund raiser.

Another yearly event was the ice cream social at St. Thomas Episcopal church. It was held in mid summer. There was a spin wheel booth for cakes, dart throwing, a white elephant booth and for sure ice cream and cake, maybe some other victuals/vittles too. Part of the event was to elect a Miss Lyndon. A group of young ladies were individually sponsored by the local merchants, a box or boxes were placed around town, and you voted by the number of pennies placed in the box, more fund raising.

Once the money was raised to satisfy the kitchen needs, fund raising continued for the Lyndon Recreation which Miss C believes was the real start of kids organized sports.

Miss C remembers one day when My Lamb came to her and said if we could raise $???? we could install an intercom system and he could address everyone in the school at the same time, in their rooms, and from his office. More fund raising.

When I was in the sixth grade, I had the honor of being president of some group, I think it was related to academics. There was a fine black gentleman who was the school janitor and general all around handyman. He could play the piano like a dream. He never read music, just played by instinct. He would call me Mr. President, really made me feel important.

There was a group of 10 to 20 families that mom and dad always referred to as the Lyndon crowd. All of the adults and the kids were in a close age range and we all played and worked and "churched" together. Mom and Miss Caroline are about the only two who are still active.

Lyndon Elementary School

Lyndon School is still there. Jeff Co Schools uses it for a variety of things. I was Principal of all the schools in Jeff Co operated for delinquent, disturbed and profoundly retarded kids. It was a great career. Judy

I went to Lyndon until 6th grade...Mrs. Ebelen (sp), Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Caswell, etc....is there still a school there? It would be ancient by now! Maren

Gaye, Did Nancy Duncan teach first grade at Lyndon? Linda

Hello to another voice out of my Lyndon past...remember the Friday night Fish Fries at Lyndon school? I remember hating fish but loving to go because my friends were there.

I too am living in a money pit in Louisa, Virginia...a frame farmhouse built in 1884 by a guy injured in the Civil War...neat old house...recently renovated by the people we bought it from. New innards, some new siding and wood trim which already needs paint after 3 summers! Oh, well...our antique furniture looks good in it!

Tell me about your place and how life has treated you. Maren

Betty, I remember you. I lived by the creek at Lyndon Lane and Wood Road. I bought the house from my parents and lived there 5 years. My identical twin sons were born while we lived there in 71. I remember the fish fries at Lyndon school Friday night and the summer ice cream social at St. Thomas Episcopal Church. Mr. Lamb was principal. Maurice the janitor played the piano. Pam Oliver and Sharon Sillman (now Willer) were good buddies. Joyce Green is coming in September. I moved over off 42 and then to Anchorage in 77 to the "Reynolds" house. It will not known as mine until I sell or die. I bought with a 5 year restoration plan and that was 24 years ago. Bill
