

Waggener High School

Elizabeth Micou Scrapbook Class of 1960

This is one of many sections that contain information, photos, newspaper articles, internet items, etc. of the St. Matthews area and especially of Waggener High School. Many of the items came from Al Ring's personal collections but many people have helped and I have tried to give credit where I can.

The purpose of this "collection" was to create the history of Waggener and the students and teachers who were there during my time. Being retired I now have time to do many of the things I have always wanted, this project is just one of them. The collection is continuing today, so if you should have old or new information on the St. Matthews area from 1950 to 1962 or Waggener High, please contact Al Ring.

All graphics have been improved to make the resolution as good as possible, but the reader should remember that many came from copies of old newspaper articles and photos. Credit to the source of the photos, etc. is provided whenever it was available. We realize that many items are not identified and regret that we weren't able to provide this information. As far as the newspaper articles that are not identified, 99% of them would have to be from one of three possible sources. The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times or one of the Voice publications. Books that we have used for some information include, Randy, Cactus, Uncle, Ed and the Golden age of Louisville Television, Waggener High School Alumni Directory 1996, Waggener Traditional High School Alumni Directory 2007, Memories of Fontaine Ferry Park, St. Matthews The Crossroads of Beargrass by Samuel W. Thomas, St. Matthews, 25 Years a City Two Centuries a Community, St. Matthews 1960-1995, Waggener Lair's 1958 to 1962, The Holy Warrior, Muhammad Ali, Louisville's Own (An Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Louisville Area Recorded Pop Music From 1953 to 1983).

Special thanks to Harriet Micou Corum (60-), and her mother who kept this scrapbook, Elizabeth Micou.

NOTE: I have tried to keep the information in the order I found it. Remember this is almost 50 years old and many people have been through it and pages may have been moved around.

Enjoy—Al Ring

Explanation of the following pages, (Please Read)

Special note from Harriet Micou Corum, Daughter of Elizabeth Micou

The following pages are clippings, photos, and items that my mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Micou, collected over the 40 plus years since we graduated from Waggener High School in 1960. My parents, Bill and Elizabeth, always had a love for teenagers that went beyond the norm. When we lived in Anchorage from 1950 - 1955 they were involved in the Presbyterian Children's Home, the Anchorage Children Theater, and Anchorage Presbyterian Church. They were youth advisors there and then when we moved to St. Matthews in 1955, they became youth advisors at Harvey Browne Presbyterian Church from 1955 -1960. Our home was always open to any teenager that wanted to stop by to talk, swim, play pool, ping pong, etc. They had such a passion for youth and were willing to do anything for them. They were both kids at heart.

My senior year at Waggener, 1959-1960, my mother was elected president of the Waggener PTA. Since we were Waggener's first graduating class her position as PTA President took on a different meaning and role to her. I believe she felt like a "Mom" to the whole class. Like any mother, she started a scrapbook of "all her children". As a professional secretary she knew the importance of organization. It is a shame she didn't have the advantages of a database back then. She began watching The Courier-Journal and The Voice of St. Matthews to find out all the news of our senior class. She made lots of phone calls to find out where each of the class members went during the next four years. Those 4 years of watching for news continued until she died in 2002. She would love to tell people about "her children" - how many had gone to college, business school, technical schools, had joined the military, which ones had married, and about their children. Unfortunately, as the years went on there were deaths to record.

I know she would be thrilled to know that her "children" and others were seeing all her time and hard work. She wanted the members of the class to know how important they each were and that someone cared about them. She wanted them to be remembered for their achievements and accomplishments as individuals as well as a class.

Westport Road church names building after W.T. Micou

The building that houses the pulpit and altar of the Watkins Memorial United Methodist Church Drive-In Chapel has been named the "W.T. Micou Building," in honor of W.T. Micou, 55, of 323 N. Bonner.

The Rev. William W. Bowling, pastor of the church, said Micou has consistently devoted himself to the success of the drive-in chapel.

The drive-in chapel, designed for those who wish to worship "in the comfort of their automobiles," is located at 2900 Westport Rd.

W.T. Micou has been a member of the church since 1964. He joined the church partly as a result of his interest in the then new drive-in chapel.

The drive-in services were begun in 1964 in the parking lot of Westport High School. But as interest in the outdoor chapel increased the church decided to construct a drive-in on the present site. The drive-in was completed in the summer of 1967, and the first services were held in October of that year.

Micou was chairman of the committee for plans and construction of the drive-in chapel. The Rev. Bowling said Micou was not only a leader in the project, but was a worker as well.

Micou also is a member of the official board of the church and counselor for the senior youth fellowship of the church.

Mother Kept Them

Statistics From College Compiled On First Waggener High Graduates

By MILDRED LENSING

Waggener High School's first graduates, the class of 1963, surprised just about everybody when 86 percent of them signed up for college. They aimed high.

There were 325 in that class. Now, four years later, the follow-up statistics are in.

Of the 280 who went to college as they planned, about 150 will receive degrees next month or by the spring of 1965 (some enrolled in five-year courses).

Figures Compared

The graduates represent 53 percent of the original 86 percent who started to college. Nationally, according to news-service figures, 60 percent of college freshmen eventually are graduated.

Two years' college work was completed by 40 others before they dropped out to go into military service, to marry, or to go to work.

More than 20 of the 150 graduates-to-be plan to go on for postgraduate work.

This picture of Waggener High's first graduates is the result of four years' work by a mother of one of them. She is Mrs. W. T. Micou, 322 Bonner. Her daughter, Mrs. Ward L. Corum, Jr., was graduated

Monday night from Morehead State College.

Mrs. Micou began what she calls "this rewarding chore" in November, 1959, intending only to help the 1960 class stay in touch for a proposed reunion in 1961. She and her husband, advisers to senior high students at Harvey Browne Memorial Presbyterian Church, knew many of the seniors at Waggener where Mrs. Micou was Parent-Teacher Association president.

Keeping track of all of them, Mrs. Micou says, "is like having 325 grandchildren." Except for about 20 of the students, Mrs. Micou maintains an up-to-date record. The boys and girls have kept a steady stream of letters, notes, and Christmas cards coming to the Micou home that they now address as "Waggener Alumni House."

Enough of them forgot or where late with yearly news about themselves that Mrs. Micou spent hours on the telephone, tracking them down.

"The class had a special closeness because the students shared so many 'firsts,'" Mrs. Micou says. "They wrote the alma mater song, arranged Waggener's first senior prom, and began many of its traditions."

Eight of the 280 finished college ahead of time, Mrs. Micou's records show.

Most chose to attend the University of Louisville or the University of Kentucky.

Two have applied to work with the Peace Corps.

One hundred (70 girls and 30 boys) of the 1960 class have married; 20 are engaged to marry. The married graduates have a total of 53 children.

First grads

Fifty-three percent of Waggener's first senior class, the Class of 1960, will graduate from college by the spring of 1965.

Out of the 324 who are in the class, approximately 86 percent, or 280, entered college in the fall of 1960. From this number, 19 have already graduated from college, 116 graduate this year, and 35 will graduate next year. At least 25 of these are going into post-graduate work.

One fourth of those who started college but will not graduate had two or more years before leaving to enter the armed services, marry, or work. At present, 16 members of the class are in the services, and 38 of the boys and 77 of the girls are married. As a special note of interest, the Class of 1960 has so far contributed 50 children to the next generation.

These statistics were compiled by Mrs. W. T. Micou, Jr., who has kept a detailed record of the activities of each of the members of the class since their graduation.

St. Matthews woman keeps track of 324 Waggener graduates--for four years

By Glee Durand Crutcher

Something akin to school sainthood, if such a title exists, should be awarded to Mrs. W. T. Micou, Jr., 327 N. Bonner Ave.

The president of the PTA at Waggener High School in 1960, she has spent thousands of hours in the past four years keeping track of every single member of Waggener's first graduating class. And there are 324 of them!

What's more, last week Mrs. Micou came out with 18 pages of a brochure listing every boy and girl in the class, telling what has happened to them since the spring day in 1960 when they marched up to receive the first diplomas given out by the new high school.

"And what a class!" says Mrs. Micou. "86 per cent of them entered college, a terrific average, and I couldn't even begin to keep track of their awards and honors. The entire project has been a big thrill."

More amazing even than keeping track of 324 youngsters scattered all over the United States during the past four years is Mrs. Micou's complete scrapbook. She's kept it right up to the minute with clippings of engagements, weddings, and all kinds of news items about the class.

She urges members to stop by her home which she calls "Waggener Alumni House", pick up copies of her records which the high school mimeographed, and browse through her scrapbook.

"This will give me a chance to see them all again, too," she said.

The Micou's daughter, Harriet, was a 1960 graduate, and her mother became interested in the group when they all formed the seventh grade of the school and stayed together for the next six years.

"It was a closely knit group," says Mrs. Micou, "opening up a new grade every September and facing the problems. Everything they did was 'a first', like the first prom, with no experienced older classmen to advise them about pitfalls. They came through with flying colors."

Kids return cards

Mrs. Micou began her project when the class was in its senior year, asking the youngsters to return postal cards she sent them telling their plans for college and further education, such as schools of nursing and other fields in which they were interested. Like Topsy, the project grew. In fact, it mushroomed and has continued to do so for four years.

"It has been a real challenge at times," laughed Mrs. Micou, "but I've loved every minute of it. I must add that my family has been very patient with me. I really have monopolized our telephone."

116 Waggener alums were graduated from college this June, three from Yale University, alone and 35 will receive diplomas next year because they entered five year courses.

One-fourth of the class who started college completed two years, which were interrupted by either the armed forces or marriage. (The latter is 100% girls.)

Most of the members now serving in the Army, Navy, Marines, or Air Force, plan to go back for their degrees. The majority of those who got B. A.s this year are going on to graduate study.

Some of them, like Charlotte Aull, now Mrs. Ralph Huffsey, who got a degree in 3 years already is an assistant professor at Florence State College, Florence, Ala.

Another teacher is Mel Borland, Centre grad, who has received an assistantship in economics at Washington University, St. Louis, for next year.

Linda Fiene, who went to Grinnell College, has received a scholarship at Brown University to begin work on her master's in teaching next September. Bill Moeller, a Yale graduate, now lists his address as Milan, Italy, where his parents moved last year with GE. He's over there this summer and will enter Dartmouth College's School of Business in the fall. Also heading for a MBA is Robert Ling, Princeton alumnus.

In Med schools

A number of the class will enter medical schools, including Stephen Mowry, Ronnie Alt, Jim Felts, and Todd Gardiner.

Many of the girls also have an interest in medicine and already are graduate nurses.

One of them is Mary Louise Schansberg, an R. N. from General Hospital, who now is living from crisis to crisis in General's emergency room.

Other future careers for Waggener's class of 1960 are engineering (quite a few boys will finish up at Speed Scientific next June) and law. A number of grads start law school this fall, including Chuck Armstrong who'll enter Stanford University, Palo Alto, Cal., and Steve Wilson, who'll enroll at U. K.

Class interests really run the gamut, apparently from checking out Mrs. Micou's remarkable records. Several have become pharmacists, one, Albert Young, wants to get into foreign service, quite a few boys have majored in chemistry, others in art, and some in religious education like Marcia Roider, Westhampton College graduate. Gibbs Reese will finish his five-year course in architecture at UK next June, and Lois Miller majored in music education at UK. Another UK graduate, Robert Lich, has a B. S. degree in agriculture.

Two already have applied for jobs in the Peace Corps. . . Sandy Walker, who went to Mary Baldwin College in Virginia for two years, and Jim Thompson, who picked up his diploma at Yale last month.

Speech therapy is the future career of Jeanette Caswell, now Mrs. Joseph Nunnally of Jeffersonton, a UK graduate of '63. The class even has a future actress among its members. She is Ann Henderson, who took three years at U of L and will enter drama school this fall.

Off on coast and geodetic surveys for the Department of Commerce has been Rodney Smith, who now is back at U of L and will obtain his degree next June.

Elizabeth Micou Scrapbook:

Navy gets girl

The U. S. Navy hasn't limited its Waggener graduates to men. A brand-new first lieutenant is '60 Waggener graduate Peggy Leahy, who took her college work at Indiana University and now is stationed in San Antonio, Tex.

The study of marine biology at Centre College has had alumni buzzing with interest. After all, what has a small inland college, where the nearest water is Lake Herrington, manmade, got to do with the study of submerged animals? Well, whatever it's all about, Centre has the stuff and Joe Dietrich now is manning it. His previous work has been at Murray and the University of Miami.

The armed forces have sent Waggener graduates all over. James Bowling is stationed aboard the U. S. S. Ingersoll, now patrolling in the Pacific. Eugene Sanders, after one year at UK, now is in the Army. Steven Schindel joined the Navy last January for four years, John Vanetti is in the Air Force, and Carolyn Woodson entered the Marines as a second lieutenant on June 23. Perry Wood is in the Army for six months after getting his degree at U of L. Marshall Davis joined the Air Force last November and is stationed at Lowry Field in Denver.

Some of the girls have got involved with the armed services through marriage and are living far from Jefferson County. One of them is Mary Coons who was married to Thomas M. Cooper last summer and is living at Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Base in Hawaii. Mary finished three years at UK before marriage.

Diane Nunn had a trip abroad without supervision of the armed forces. She went to Goucher College for two years, added one year at U of L, and then married Fred Banks, Jr., in June last year. Right after their wedding, they left to spend eight months in Munich, where Fred polished up his German, and they now are back home living in Crescent Hill.

Council president teaches

What happened to the big wheel of the class? Well, the president of the student council, Bobby Sexton, was graduated from Yale University on June 15, and will teach at St. James Academy, Hagerstown, Md., beginning in September. Graduate school is next on his agenda. Bobby was married to Kitty Buckaway last March.

And what about the most important name on Mrs. Micou's fabulous record, her daughter Harriet? Harriet took one semester at Maryville College, then switched to Morehead State College where she got her degree in elementary education in June and plans to teach. She was married last January to Ward L. Corum, Jr.

Statistics of college work for Mrs. Micou have been fun, as she says, but the vital statistics have been something else again.

Like marriages and children. "The minute I get my records up to date there's a change," she laughed.

94 married

At the moment, 94 of the class members are married. This figure probably will be wrong by the time this story comes out in print because it is almost impossible to keep up with this smart class of east enders.

"They move too fast for anyone to keep up with them," says Mrs. Micou, who knows the score if anyone does.

She regrets that the second generation has sort of slipped away from being classified, because members of Waggener's first graduating class are so farflung.

But she has done a heroic job trying to keep track of the babies.

At the last report, the winner probably is Sandra Riehl, who attended U of L for 3 years and produced twins this spring. She is Mrs. Ben Johnson Talbott. Ben is a June graduate of Harvard Law School.

Meantime, the welcome mat is out at the Micous, 322 N. Bonner Ave., for all members of the class of '60 to pick up the list of the latest news of their former school mates.

Everyone in St. Matthews has one reaction about the stupendous Micou project.

Just name another PTA president in the country who has taken the time and heartwarming interest to do such a job for her graduating senior class, they say. And they know there isn't any answer.

'Sleuths' track down Waggener grads

By Glee Durand Crutcher

When Mrs. W. T. Micou, 327 N. Bonner Ave., began a project a few years ago of keeping track of Waggener High School's first graduating class, little did she know that her idea would mushroom into terrific proportions.

Now the PTA has latched on to her original idea and a hard working committee already has made over 900 telephone calls, finding out what has become of all the members of the following classes and where they went to college.

The first class who marched up to receive diplomas from the new high school were the graduates of 1960. Then 86 per cent of the 324 youngsters scattered all over the United States, attending a wide variety of universities. The Micou's daughter, Harriet, was one of them, who left for Maryville College, then switched to Morehead State where she obtained a degree in elementary education and was married last year to Ward L. Corum Jr.

Harriet's mother became interested in the group when they all formed the seventh grade and then stayed together for the next six years.

"They were a closely-knit group," she said, "opening up a new grade each September and everything for them was 'a first'. They came through with flying colors."

So Mrs. Micou began to keep track of every single member and came out with an 18-page brochure telling what had happened to each one. Furthermore, she kept a complete scrapbook, up to date to the minute with clippings of engagements, weddings, and all kinds of news items. She calls her home "Waggener Alumni House."

Members of the PTA were so entranced with her project that now they've taken it up for the succeeding classes and are compiling a complete record of every single graduate of the school. Mrs. Lloyd G. Hartzler, 521 Country Ln., is chairman of the new alumni committee, and her assistants are Mrs. James Green, 3705 Fairway Ln., and Mrs. S. M. Peterson, 4015 St. Germaine Ct. Eleven Waggener students are pitching in to help put through the hundreds of telephone calls. They're going back to the class of 1961 and bringing information up to date from there.

They are Cynthia Colvao, Sharon Burgan, Janet Derr, Carol Garber, Sharyn Gilles, Beth Green, Susan Fisher, Ted Hertzler, Sherri Key, Bruce Kramer, and Peggy Trawick.

Files budge

Files are bulging. The committee has filled out a card for every graduate and is calling every one or the parents. Did they go to college? Where? How many of 1961 were graduated last June? Who's going on for graduate work? Who switched to other colleges? Who dropped out? Where are members of the classes of 1962-3-4-5? How many of the class of '63 will march up to be awarded degrees next June?

Mrs. Hertzler says the committee has run into some funny things, mostly fathers who answer the phone. Seems they're very suspicious, even after the caller has completely identified herself.

"They seem to think we are secret agents of the draft boards," she said "and just completely dry up when we ask where their sons are."

But the hundreds of hours of work are now beginning to pay off. Mrs. Hertzler and her hard workers already have tons of information, carefully catalogued in a variety of ways. In addition to the students' file by name and/or class, the PTA women are compiling lists by colleges and who is there, or who was graduated.

"This information will be particularly valuable to the college counselors," she says, "and also the students who are looking into prospects of attending." There are over 2,000 former Waggener students with whom to get in touch!

The Alumni Committee expects to spend all year bringing the files up to date and in mint condition for the benefit of everyone connected with the school. They began with giving out cards last spring to the 1965 graduating class on Class Day for them to fill out. They're called "Waggener Alumni Follow-Up," with spaces to be filled out as to future plans, college you plan to attend, and other plans such as armed service, marriage, and work.

Meantime, Mrs. Micou is still busy keeping track of the class of 1960.

"The statistics of college work have been fun," she said, "but the vital statistics are something else again. Like marriages and children. The minute I get my records up to date there's a change."

The junior Owens return to town

Back home to stay are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas H. Owen, Jr., who have been living in New York for the past two years while he attended Columbia University Graduate School of Business. Now with the Commonwealth Life Insurance Company, Doug and Elizabeth have taken an apartment in the Greenhill.

Doug's brother, David, and his wife, Hannah, are also here following their marriage in September in Charlotte, N. C., and have moved into their new home on Top Hill Road.

Another former east ender is back in town to live. She's Mrs. John Maley Graham, the former Lucy Brest Altshuler, who has been living in Columbus, Ind., for a number of years. Her many friends are welcoming her back in the house she's bought on Longest Avenue.

Top honors have come to four youngsters at Waggener High School. Named Miss Junior High and Mr. Junior High are Sis Moore and Bobby McMillin. Miss and Mr. Waggener are Sherry Sloan and Route Brown.

A COMEDY IN THREE ACTS

BY

GEORGE BATSON

NOVEMBER 23-24, 1959
MASONIC HOME AUDITORIUM

EVERY FAMILY HAS ONE

SYNOPSIS

The hilarious Beardon household portrays a typical, if eccentric, American family. Laura, the social-climbing mother, is elated by the match between her daughter, Marcia, and wealthy Sherwin Parker. The youngest Beardon, Penelope, is a little demon, and Warry, the only son, is dreaming of becoming a great playwright. Reginald, the father, is a pleasure seeking man, while Nana, the contemporary match-making grandmother, is scheming to get rid of the Parker family. Nana succeeds in her plan with the help of Cousin Lily, whose dream in life is to become an actress. Lily impersonates another Cousin Lily and reveals such skeletons in the closets that the mighty Parkers take to their heels in a hurry. Marcia is reunited with her true love. Nana helps Lily, who is now the apple of Warry's eye, obtain an acting job.

Dear Mrs. Micou,

This letter is to thank you and the PTA for the great help you have been to me and the school this year. I can truly say that this is the first year the PTA has been so very helpful to the school. I am sending this letter to you because I think that you were the cause of the helpfulness of the PTA this year. I have enjoyed working with you and you have really been a great help.

Also I would like to thank you for the wonderful breakfast you sponsored and worked on so hard. It was a fine ending to our senior prom.

Thank you again for your cooperation.

Sincerely,
Bobby Austin

President of the Student Council

Thank you, Mr.

This award was set up by the P.T.A. Board last Spring in honor of Mr. John B. Lowe, Waggener's principal from 1954 when it opened until May, 1959. Mr. Lowe, will you please stand for us. Thank you.

These cups are being given to the boy and girl who, like Mr. Lowe, contributed so very much to Waggener. Nominations were made by the Seniors and the final selection by Faculty members and P. T. A. President.

The girl selected for this award is Peggy Leahy.

The boy selected for this award is Perry Wood.

Peggy and Perry, I am so happy to present these cups to you and want to wish you the best of everything in the years ahead and may God bless you both.

ALMA MATER

This our Alma Mater, dear old Waggener High.
We enter here to learn, depart to serve mankind.
Loving colors red, gray, may they ever fly;
Reverence, beauty, joy of friends are memories of you.

Though we leave in sadness, we must go our ways,
We will for evermore, keep you in our hearts.
Honor, pride, and glory, may they ever grow
To remind us of the years with you Waggener High.

President, Waggener PTA
322 North Bonner Avenue
Louisville 7, Kentucky

Dear Mrs. Micou:

Words cannot express my feelings for the wonderful reception given me Saturday night at Waggener's Graduation Exercises.

The awards given Perry Wood and Peggy Leahy gave me a thrill which will last a lifetime.

You have done an outstanding job as president of the Waggener PTA this year, and you have been a faithful worker and member since its beginning.

Waggener has developed as a cooperative effort of all members of the PTA, students, and faculty and not the efforts of any one individual.

Please convey to all of the PTA members that I am just one little "cog" in a large wheel that continues to grow and that I will continue to work for a better Waggener through the years, because each year will bring a new thrill as we see new graduates go forth into the world better prepared because of our cooperative efforts.

Yours for a better Waggener

John B. Lowe
Assistant Director of Student Personnel

Dear Waggener High Alumni:

I would like to write to each of you personally, but I'm afraid you would all be home for the summer vacation before I got through, so I will try to get everything into this one letter, and please feel that I am writing it to each of you personally.

Mr. Micou and I have certainly missed seeing you around St. Matthews and at the football games. We hope everyone is happy in college, work, home, or marriage, and from all reports it sounds like you are. We know that wherever you are, you have had new decisions to make, new experiences, have made many new friends, and at times maybe things seemed pretty tough, but we are confident that you have come through it all beautifully, and are having a wonderful time.

I intended to get this list off to you much sooner, but didn't make it - I'm sorry - however, here it is now and I certainly hope you will enjoy seeing where everyone is and having their addresses. I have tried to check all information and addresses, but if you find any mistakes or changes which should be made, please drop me a card and I will change the records. We would like also to have your opinions as to when you would like to have a reunion.

It has really been a lot of fun getting the information together - in fact, I love the job - please don't fire me. We would love to hear from you as to how things are going and all about your activities, so anytime you have an extra minute (which are probably very few), please write us a note. Also, if you want to call or stop by when you are in town, please do so and I will try to bring you up to date on any news, or who is home for the week-end, etc. (Maybe we could put up a sign in the front "Waggener's Alumni House".)

Loads of luck and happiness to you - our thoughts and prayers are with you always

November 18, 1960.

Mrs. W. T. Micou, Jr.,
322 North Bonner Ave.,
Louisville, 7, Ky.

Dear Mrs. Micou:

I wish to express my sincere thanks for the list of graduating seniors from Waggener High School. I was surprised with the number of students attending college. This brings out what I have always contended; Waggener is primarily a college preparatory school. Tell Harriet "Hello" for me. I hope she is enjoying Maryville College. A few years ago a former college president of mine, Dr. McCallan was president of Maryville College. He went from Pikeville Jr. College to Maryville.

Tell Bill I miss him at the Barber Shop. Is he planning to attend the Shrine Ceremonies Wednesday night, Nov. 23? If so I will see he gets the price of the hair cut I owe him.

Many thanks,

JBL/g

Waggenerites In P.-T.A. For Night

By KAY LEE WILSON

Waggener High School Student

Waggener High School students learned what it's like to be P.-T.A. members this week.

They took over as officers for the adult group's final meeting of the year and presented the whole program.

Harriett Micou, member of the senior class and daughter of the P.-T.A. president Mrs. W. T. Micou, Jr., presided.

The program opened with a flag ceremony presented by Waggener Eagle Scouts of Troop 109, and was followed by an invocation given by Tom Ogle. The business meeting was conducted by the sons and daughters of the P.-T.A. officers: Harriet Micou, Susan Pillans, Ramey Simpson and Heather Scarlett.

A high light of the evening was presentation of the Kentucky P.-T.A. Silver Bowl Award to Waggener for having the largest P.-T.A. membership in the state. This is the first time any school has won the award three years in a row, and Waggener now has permanent possession of the bowl for display in its trophy case.

Steve Porter, vice-president of the Student Council, gave a report on Career Day, and the following members of the Youth Speaks group held a panel discussion: Robert Wood, Bill Moeller, Charles Brown, Susan Goldsmith, Barbara White and Judy Disborough.

I would also like to ~~welcome~~ each of our guests to Waggener and naturally we hope you will be as convinced as we are that Wag. is a wonderful school.

Now, on behalf of all the parents of the 1960 Class and the Alumni, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Duncan, (~~Mr. Lora~~), each member of the Adm. staff, and all members of the faculty for the many things - education, training, counselling, and understanding given to our children to prepare them for the years ahead - whether in college, business, or home, and from the reports we are receiving of their academic and extra curricular activities, I am sure you are just as proud as the parents.

After working with the members of the 1960 class in various activities last year, and knowing the majority of them personally through school and church, ~~itxxx~~ I felt the closeness of the class - they had worked together from the 7th Grade to set ~~up~~ the standards and first traditions of Waggener for the future classes, ~~that I thought~~ that this brought up the idea of Alumni of working up an alumni. This was discussed with their Pres. of the class, Mr. Duncan, and Mrs. Kirwin, Senior sponsor - I attended a Sr. Class Mtg. last Spring and talked to them about it. At that time they filled out cards giving their name, address, and college choice which was the beginning of our ~~xxxxxxx~~ Alumni. They were asked to keep in touch with me as to any changes in their plans. In the Fall, we checked by telephone all students or their parents as to their college addresses so a complete list could be mailed to each ~~xxxx~~ one. ~~Afterxxx~~ ~~mailed typedxxxxxxx~~ Through the wonderful cooperation of Mr. Duncan, Mrs. Carson

(Give credit to my husband and 10 year old son who helped address and stamp them) The cost of the mailing was covered by the balance left in the Treas. of the Sr. Class and through donations of env. & paper. These were mailed in Nov. before the Thanksgiving holidays and from the many tel. calls, personal visits to our home (Wag. Alumni House) and letters of thanks from the Alumni, I realized more than ever what a wonderful group they were. I check on any changes and as you will see in your folder I have made up one list of these. The Waggener newspaper, "The Chit-Chat" carries an Alumni column in each edition

Class Of '60 Advises Seniors

by Beth Moeller

The students of Waggener High School's first graduating class have almost completed a full year of college. How do they feel about their high school preparation for college work? What helpful suggestions do they have to offer our student body and faculty? What comments do they have to make about college life?

A cross section of twenty of our graduates was polled, representative of geographic locations, types of colleges, and general high school achievement.

Writing, Reading Needed

In which areas do the graduates feel that their education at Waggener was deficient? In almost all cases the stated deficiencies were writing skills, reading speed and comprehension, and study habits. They recommended that the English classes include more concise, objective writing, creative writing, grammar, non-credit remedial courses, and coaching on how to take college-type essay tests.

How do the graduates find that college work differs from that of high school work? Jim Ratliff, at the University of Mississippi, sums it up this way, "Everything is up to you. Nobody tells you what to do." Robert Ling, at Princeton University, comments, "You yourself have to produce the initiative. You are given more material than the smartest kid in the class can learn."

English Proficiency

The students feel that the colleges require the most proficiency and quantity in all phases of English, in memorization and retention, in languages, and in science. Jeanie Swann, at the U. of L., recommends "a basic knowledge of all fields."

Most of the colleges surveyed provide remedial courses in English, speech, and speed reading.

One student commented that his university provided "free tutors!"

Most of the students who have personal faculty advisors find their advice to be either slightly profitable or very profitable. Only one out of the sixteen surveyed finds his counselor extremely profitable, and two find theirs no help at all.

A great majority of the graduates feel that college sororities and fraternities are more worthwhile than high school clubs. Besides providing a place to eat and sleep, they create lasting friendships.

Some Home Sick

Eleven of the sixteen students are happy with the geographic locations of their respective colleges. Reasons given for not being satisfied are the weather conditions, transportation facilities, home-sickness, or "sick-of-the-home" sickness!

The most difficult adjustments that the students had to make were budgeting time and improving study habits. Linda Mayer, attending Wellesley College, comments that her most difficult adjustments were "getting used to spending all of my time working and learning how to live with other people." Peggy Leahy, at Indiana University, says that the "realization of life is a serious proposition — adjustment in relying on my own self — deciding what is important in my life and years in college, studies or social life — and people."

Four of the graduates have part time work to help pay for their education. Also four students have scholarships, one of whom claimed that his was not sufficient.

Time Budgeted

How many hours a week do the graduates spend on extra-curricular activities? Social life? Studying? Ranging from zero to ten hours, the average hours spent on extra-curricular activities is four. Time spent on social life averages fifteen hours, ranging from three to fifty hours. Studying averages thirty-nine hours, ranging from thirteen to ninety-eight hours. (The Eastern ivy league colleges claim the ninety-eight hours.)

How do the alumnae feel about the time spent on extra-curricular activities in high school? All students except one felt that these activities are worthwhile. Charlotte McKinstry, at Centre, thinks that "extra-curricular activities develop your personality and make you learn to live with other people. Although Robert Ling agrees with this, he comments that "Waggener is getting dangerously close to overemphasizing these activities."

Enjoy College

Do the graduates enjoy college more than they enjoyed high school? Ninety percent agree that they do. Freddie Neikirk, at Centre, likes college better because "I'm on my own and I can accomplish things without parental help." "You are given more responsibility and given the chance to grow up and prove yourself," says Hariet Micou of Morehead State College.

What suggestions do our graduates have for high school students to better prepare them for college? They recommend doing a lot of writing, improving study habits, reading everything, and anything, taking hard courses in high school, and learning how to take notes. Sandy Means, of Murray, says, "They should have a broader background and explore everything that they find interesting." Pat Iddings, a Georgetown student, advises high school students to "learn to take good notes. Take hard courses in high school." "Study hard!" is Judy Schuba's suggestion, a student at Bowling Green.

St. Matthews Still Alive;

Special to The Courier-Journal
Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 19.—
St. Matthews split here Saturday and is still alive in the Connie Mack League Great Lakes Regional Baseball Tournament.

Chicago defeated St. Matthews, representing Kentucky, 6-3 in the morning. The Kentuckians bounced back and beat Akron 4-1 in the afternoon.

The double elimination tournament is scheduled to end Sunday. Two games were washed out Saturday and will have to be made up, or the meet will continue through Monday.

There are three fields here, however, so it is possible to play three games at the same time.

Six Errors

Rained out were the Chicago-Michigan and Indiana-Fort Wayne afternoon games.

Battle Creek, Mich., won its second game Saturday, 5-1, over Akron, Ohio. Fort Wayne Police Athletic League eliminated Toledo, Ohio, 8-5.

Six errors by St. Matthews helped Chicago to its 6-3 victory. The Kentuckians could only muster two hits, as well—both singles by Samany Caldwell and Art Huber.

St. Matthews made its record 2-1 in the play for 18-year-olds and under by coming back with a 4-1 triumph over Akron.

Mack Caldwell pitched a two-hitter, struck out three and walked two.

Base stealing Mel Borland got two of the four St. Matthews hits and scored each time. Caldwell and Huber also hit safely. All the hits were singles.

Akron took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, but St. Matthews tied it in the third when Borland singled, stole second and scored on Huber's single.

INDIANA

Dear Mrs. Micou,
I (and the other seniors) of '61 certainly appreciate your work on the address list. It is really handy to have. I, for one, didn't know how to reach alot of my class. I'm sorry I didn't write much sooner, but I did want to thank you very much for all the times you put into the list.

I really like U. of I. and college life, and am having so much fun. I hope Harriet is having fun and doing fine too.

Hope to see you during the holidays!

Merry Christmas.

Sincerely,

Kay Lee

Tom Grunwald comforts a patient at the veterinary clinic where he's been working.

LINDA SCHAAF, 227 Monohan, worked as a recreation director for Protestant Children's Home on Goldsmith Lane. Linda, an English major who will be a sophomore at Indiana University this fall, loved watching her bank account grow. She saved most of her money to pay for books and clothes.

Linda was in charge of 20 youngsters, ranging in age from 6 to 11. She took them swimming twice a week, taught arts and crafts, and supervised the play activities.

"I love my work and can't think of a better job," she said.

TOM GRUNWALD, 4316 Kinloch, has been kept busy by cats and dogs this summer. Tom worked as an assistant to Dr. Henry Fairleigh, a veterinarian on Westport Road.

"This work is right in line with my career—veterinary medicine," Tom said.

Tom hopes to be admitted to Auburn University in Alabama after he completes his sophomore studies at the University of Kentucky.

"Competition is stiff for this four-year vet program. Only 10 Kentucky students are selected each year, and the State of Kentucky has to pay the State of Alabama $1,500 a year for the privilege of allowing its students to attend Auburn," Tom said.

Susan Goldsmith is busy at bookkeeping for a bank.

SUSAN GOLDSMITH, 303 Sprite, worked at Liberty National Bank & Trust Company, 416 W. Jefferson, helping convert old accounting methods to automatic bookkeeping.

Susan, who will be a sophomore at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, is a math major. She wants to study data processing and computer programming.

"I would have been bored with nothing to do all summer," said Susan, who made many new friends while working. She saved more than half her salary to take care of expenses at Miami this fall.

Bellarmine's Knights, preoccupied with two objectives, go after the first tonight at Knights Hall in their final game of the regular basketball season.

Motivating the Knights in

MEL BORLAND
Starter For Centre

the 8 o'clock encounter with Centre will be the opportunity of presenting coach Alex Groza with his first winning record in the three years he has been at Bellarmine.

RIDING A four-game winning skein, the onrushing Knights will be favored to post their 11th win of the season against 10 setbacks. Another victory also would constitute Bellarmine's longest winning streak under Groza.

After tonight, the Knights will be free to concentrate on their second goal—winning the K.I.A.C. tourney. The meet opens tomorrow night at Lexington with season champion Georgetown opposing tailender Berea. Bellarmine swings into action Thursday with a 7 p.m. game against Villa Madonna.

The Knights, who more and more are reflecting the impact of Groza's fine coaching, will go with their usual lineup of one senior, one junior, two sophomores, and a freshman.

THE FRESHMAN is 6-6 Tom Hugenberg, tallest player on the squad. Other starters are 6-3 Don Kalmey (sophomore) and 6-5 Ben Monhollen (junior) at forwards and 6-2 Judge Mosley (soph) and 5-11 Larry Duddy (senior) at guards. Mosley, averaging 16 points a game, leads the Grozamen in scoring.

Centre (6-9) builds much of its offense around 6-4 Hal Smith, sophomore center from Newport who is averaging 16.1 points. The Prayin' Colonels have two Louisvillians on their roster, both from Waggener High. Guard Mel Borland has been on the starting unit since February 7, and guard Raymev Simpson is a first-line reserve.

Twenty Make Perfect Records For Spring Term; Doran Commends 399 On Dean List

Twenty students at Morehead State College compiled perfect scholastic records and 399 made the dean's list for the spring semester ending June 2, according to compilations released today by the registrar's office.

For the eighth consecutive semester Robert Fraley, Morehead, made a perfect standing. He was graduated with highest distinction May 31 and cited as the first Morehead State College student to achieve this feat in the college's 40-year history.

Holidays Abroad

CHRISTMAS in Sweden spelled snow up to her knees for Nancy Scheirer. It was too much and too stormy for her to learn to ski.

Through letters, cards, and a telephone call during the holidays to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Scheirer, Nancy has given enthusiastic reports on her year abroad.

Nancy, a Hanover College junior, is one of 66 Americans studying in Sweden, Denmark, and Norway on the Scandinavian Seminar program.

She lived first with a suburban family in Stockholm and then spent a month with a farm family near Forsa. She moved into the dormitory when she began classes at the Forsa Folkhogskola (folk school).

There she was given a signal honor for a foreigner. She was chosen to be Santa Lucia in the school program, an all-day affair including breakfast, a pageant, and a visit to an old-folks home.

Nancy is evidently doing very well with Swedish for she was asked to teach half-time a class in English at the school.

Right now she's enjoying a visit to Oslo, where the entire group of Americans has congregated for a week's seminar. She'll return next Tuesday to Forsa. In May she and another girl hope to hitchhike around Europe, staying at youth hostels on the way.

ably in the very early 1800's. As the house has been stripped down to its essentials, she has been able tentatively to reconstruct the successive stages of construction.

First, the one-room log cabin was built, probably to face east, with possibly a door and two windows on that side. Later, to the south, a brick room was added. This room, a step down, contains a small fireplace and a ceiling with rough, massive hand-hewn beams.

Later, a frame second story of two rooms was added, at which time a new, tall brick chimney probably covered over the old front door. The house turned, so to speak, to face north. The logs probably were covered at this time, and a partition gave space for a tiny entrance hall and a simple stairway.

Mrs. Higgins is having the mud-and-stone chinking removed from between the logs and replaced with cement so that the logs may remain exposed. To her happy surprise, the linseed oil or wood preservative with which the logs were treated also aged the cement to an ancient greenish-brown.

Doors, windows, mantels, and the hand-hewn beams in the center-room ceiling all came from the oldest portion of the fine old Breckinridge home on South Limestone, which was razed last summer.

Elizabeth Micou Scrapbook:

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 1—Soon they'll be married and living in the cozy little log cabin.

At the moment, the principal occupation for the happy pair is gathering together appropriate furnishings. They already have a spinning wheel (it belonged to the bride-to-be's great-great-grandmother), a meat block and a dough bowl. They have a pair of pewter candlesticks and a butter mold and an 180-year-old fireside chair and a hand-made braided rug.

And if it sounds as though this young couple is setting up housekeeping in the Kentucky mountains, guess again. They will be living almost in the heart of downtown Lexington.

The cozy log cabin is, in reality, only the living room of their new home. Behind and above the log portion are other rooms of later periods, all adding up to a compact five-room house. The house is on the corner of West Third Street and Skillman Alley, just across from the Transylvania campus. Broadway is three doors to the west, Gratz Park one door to the east.

Both Louisvillians

The young couple are both from Louisville. Judy Faucette, now working as a secretary at Sayre School, is a journalism major at the University of Kentucky, lacking only a couple of courses to be graduated with a degree in advertising. Tom Grunwald, her fiance, is a U. K. senior majoring in history.

Judy and Tom, who will be married later this month, owe their unusual abode—and Lexington owes its new log cabin—to a young woman who explains, "My hobby is old houses."

Actually, Mrs. John T. Higgins is carrying on her own bit of urban renewal much more successfully (at the moment) than the big boys.

Backed financially by her husband, who heads an appliance firm, Mrs. Higgins buys up old houses in Lexington, renovates them as apartments, and has a lot of fun doing it. She also buys woodwork, windows, and the like from the fine old Lexington houses which are being razed. Wherever possible, she utilizes the woodwork in restoring her houses.

And, because she is her own contractor, architect, labor foreman, and rental agent, her hobby pays its way.

One Drawback

She "got the bug," Mrs. Higgins explains, "when we lived in New Jersey, not far from Bucks County, in Pennsylvania." Since then, old houses—and particularly old houses in distress—have been her love.

The chief drawback to such projects is that old homes with "possibilities" are bargains chiefly because they usually are located in rundown neighborhoods which the average tenant would shun. But Mrs. Higgins has discovered that college boys are the answer.

"They don't mind the neighborhood—after all, a bit of Bohemian atmosphere only adds to the charm."

Her first project was an old brick home, with three stories plus attic and basement, at High and Upper Streets. It is now distinguished by two shrimp-pink doors.

It was renovated and made into seven college apartments, including a colorful basement abode with a "perfectly darling" fireplace (formerly bricked up) and a patio-like brick floor. Only two doors down is the Adam Rankin house, Lexington's oldest, which is of logs, covered with wavy white siding.

Mrs. Higgins sometimes wishes that other Lexingtonians would join in her hobby, but then she reflects that "after all, once old houses are stylish, the prices go sky-high."

The little log cabin on Third Street is the third of three houses which she and her husband bought in a block at auction last year. The first, on the corner of Third and Broadway, is a massive Victorian house. Between it and the log house is a tiny white-brick, shuttered cottage which she has almost completed. It is already occupied.

Logs Hidden

The logs of the third house all these years had been concealed by white frame siding, and were revealed only recently when Mrs. Higgins began work on it.

"We knew the logs were there before we bought it, and we had hoped the whole house was log," she said. Of course, there was the sad awakening when we tore off the back siding and found the plaster."

As yet she has been too busy for research on the history of the little house. She has been told that it was built on a Revolutionary grant, prob-

As It Appears To Me

by Rod Larmee, Editor

Waggener's first graduating class (the Class of 1960) has been extensively surveyed to determine the whereabouts of the class after graduation.

Of the original 324 graduates, approximately 86 percent were enrolled in college in the fall of 1960. Presently, 190 members of the Class of '60 are still in college, constituting roughly 60 percent of the entire graduating body. Not included in the 190 students in college are those enrolled in business schools, or other specialized training.

This large percentage of graduates enrolled in college is a great deal above the national and local average. This certainly is, in itself, a tribute to Waggener as a school, and to its teachers.

It was found in the survey that 22 of the graduates are now in the service, and 11 are in nurses' training. Thirty-eight of the girls and ten of the boys are married, some being married and remaining in college. Several of the graduates have obtained good jobs, instead of going to college.

The person responsible for the great amount of work and time that made this survey possible is Mrs. W. T. Micou, Jr. Mrs. Micou, who knows most of the members of the class, recently completed the list of the class members, their location, and their phone numbers. Copies are available to members of the Class of '60 at Mrs. Micou's home, 322 N. Bonner Ave., or in the school office.

A list of all graduates of Waggener's first graduating class (1960) is compiled as to their present location and how they may be contacted. It may be obtained either at the school or from Mrs. William T. Micou, 322 N. Bonner Ave.

Of the 324 graduates, Mrs. Micou said 60 percent are still in college a drop of 20 percent of those who entered upon graduation.

She said 25 are in the service and 11 are in nurses training. Others are in some other specialized training. Some have taken nuptial vows-38 girls and 10 boys.

1,500 Miles Of Danger

Louisvillians and friend paddled canoe through Canadian wilderness for 55 days

By JANICE MEYER

IT was understandable that authorities would warn two young Louisvillians against making the vacation trip they had planned, for it was no ordinary summer jaunt.

Tom Ogle and Tom Grunwald, both 20, and their friend Mike Smith, 19, of Luverne, Minn., had charted a 1,500-mile canoe trip through rugged Canadian territory which experts termed virtually impossible to cross by canoe.

But the youths—who had worked during previous summers as guides out of a canoe base at Ely, Minn.—were determined to make the attempt “just for the sake of adventure and to prove it could be done.”

They did try and they succeeded, arriving at the town of Churchill on Hudson Bay 55 days after their departure from Ely, right on schedule—but it wasn't easy. They had battled strong currents, rapids, falls, winds, food shortage and even whales, the latter as they neared their destination on Hudson Bay.

Ogle is the son of the Frank Ogles, 409 Sherrin Avenue, and Grunwald is the son of Mrs. H. L. Casilly, 4316 Kinloch Road. Ogle attends Purdue University and Grunwald the University of Kentucky.

Just a few days before the boys left Louisville for Ely June 2, Ogle, who did most of the preliminary planning, received a letter in which the director of game of the Province of Manitoba warned:

“I would tell you that the main Churchill River is a very dangerous one to travel by canoe. It should only be traveled by large freight canoes (much too heavy for portaging any long distance) and by really experienced canoemen.

“There are canyons in the main Churchill River where the rapids are extremely heavy. The country is also definitely remote and if there were an accident involving the canoe, there would be no opportunity whatever of any help, and no communication with the ‘outside.’ In view of the above, I could not recommend this particular trip to you.”

More warnings came in other letters from Canadian officials to whom the boys wrote for maps and information.

One suggested an alternate route since Lake Winnipeg over which they had to travel “is an extremely large lake—over 350 miles long and about 75 miles across. This makes canoe travel on it, especially in a 17-foot canoe, extremely hazardous.”

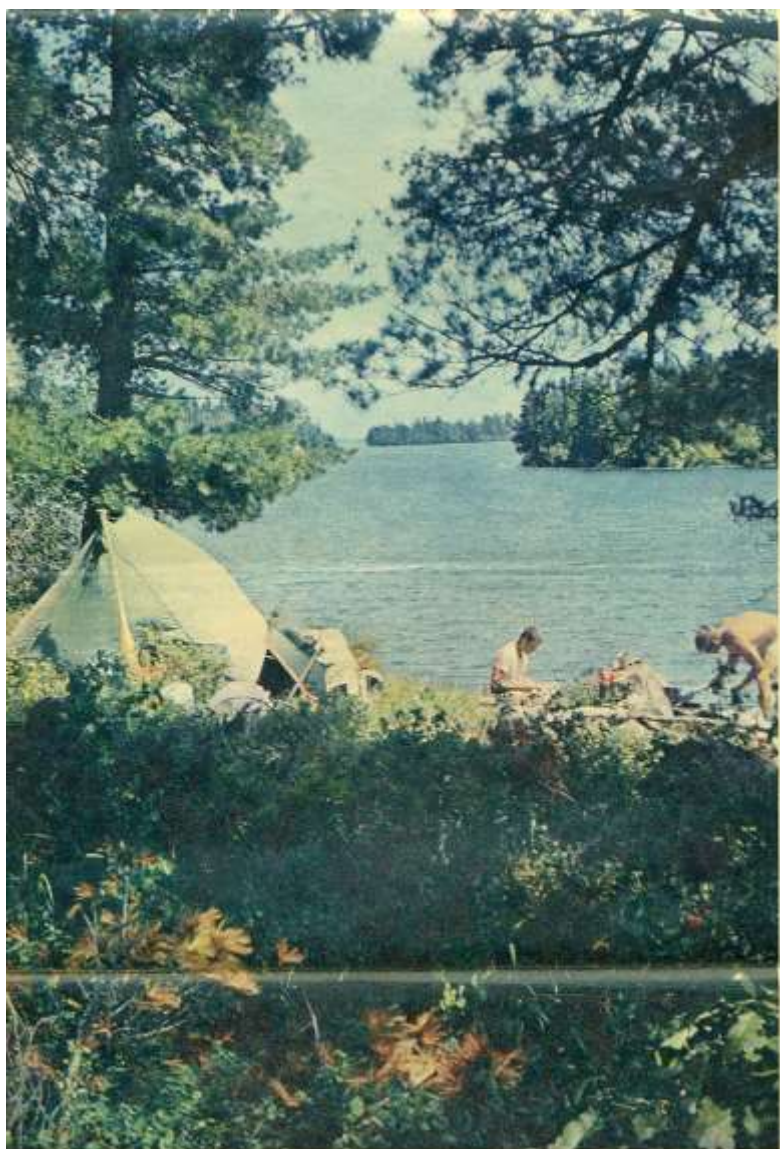

Summer 1963

Staff Map By John Maupin

Map shows canoe route from Ely, Minn., to Churchill, Canada, on Hudson Bay shore.

Elizabeth Micou Scrapbook:

Above is one of the typical camps set up by the travelers in isolated Canadian bush country. Pacing themselves by a schedule drawn up in advance, the boys spent too much time paddling to do much hunting or fishing. They did have fresh meat once when they managed to shoot a duck, however. And on another occasion, some Indian women at a settlement gave them fish.

The bottom of the 17-foot canoe was used as a bread board. Tom Ogle shows his style in kneading, above. Boys also baked pies of dried fruit and relied heavily on oatmeal.

The combination of beards, long hair and head bands proved helpful in protecting the canoers from the swarms of mosquitoes and horse flies which often attacked them.

Tom Ogle, left and Tom Grunwald were clean-shaven when they loaded their car in Louisville with canoe and other equipment needed for the hazardous trip in Canadian wilds.

The travelers gathered driftwood and made a mast and outrigger and tried sailing on Lake Winnipeg. But they returned to paddles when sailing experiment didn't work out.

They hacked through dense woods should be tied securely. Most of all, though, we learned not to chance unknown water . . . We have kept our humor and our faith in each other . . . No more chances. It's not worth it!"

The upset forced the boys to make a three-day stopover at Fort Frances, 80 miles and two days paddling away. There Dr. Lester Dennis, an optometrist, not only made new glasses for Grunwald but took the three adventurers "under his wing." They made appearances at a Kiwanis Club meeting and before a high-school assembly to tell of their trip.

The adventurer's second biggest hazard came during the last half of the trip when they were navigating the treacherous Churchill River.

They camped one evening at dusk on an island just at the head of a canyon. Not until the next morning did they realize they had stopped only a short distance from where the river cascaded over a 25-foot falls.

The water was so swift about the island that their only chance to make shore was to launch the canoe and paddle rapidly, hoping they could make it before the rushing waters swamped them.

Within 25 feet of the island their craft was half filled with water and by the time they reached shore water was up to the gunwales. Had they gone over the falls they would have been swept into an eight-mile-long canyon of rushing cascades, with sides that were sheer, 150-foot cliffs.

They portaged around the deep canyon, spending two and a half days hacking their way through dense woods.

On August 5, the last day of their trip north, they were in for another big surprise.

As they neared the mouth of the Churchill River where it flows into Hudson Bay, they encountered a school of some 70 whales, most of them longer than the canoe. The whales apparently had come into the river's mouth with the tide.

It took a fierce battle with oars to keep the creatures from upsetting the craft although, according to Ogle, "they just seemed curious . . . they could have wrecked us easily had they wanted to."

The youths, who paddled at the rapid rate of about 35 strokes a minute, figured it took 1,948,000 strokes to take them to their destination. According to Grunwald, about the 40th day, "trail fatigue began to set in and it got mighty monotonous . . . we sometimes wondered if we'd ever see Churchill!"

As the trip progressed the boys became even more proficient as canoeists. An entry in Grunwald's diary on June 16 says: "We learned something today. If the sternman quits paddling and merely holds water with his paddle as the waves come in, he can steady the craft very well." Continued On Page 22

Visit by Indians was disturbing

The boys noted that it was impossible for them to take pictures of their progress along the really rough rapids as "it took all three of us working hard to handle the canoe."

There were other adventures, not quite as hazardous as the rapids, the falls and the whales.

Shortly after the boys reached 350-mile-long Lake Winnipeg two days ahead of schedule on June 26, they were forced to camp ashore for two days as winds up to 60 miles an hour ripped the lake and tore down their tent. During this period they ate nothing except pop corn to conserve their dwindling supplies.

When they reached Norway House, the Hudson's Bay Post, after 900 miles of traveling they were glad to have a two-day respite to pick up fresh supplies and prepare for the second leg of their journey.

Pushing ahead into even more rugged country, the boys were visited one evening at their campsite by a small group of Cree Indians who spoke no English. It was a peculiar visit, the boys said.

The Crees merely sat crosslegged around the campfire for some 45 minutes occasionally exchanging conversation among themselves but most of the time staring intently at the white men. Then, they silently got up and left.

"We tried to be friendly but to tell the truth the incident made us a little uncomfortable," Ogle said.

What surprised many experienced travelers in the north country—but not the boys—is that they managed to keep so closely to their set schedule. How did they do it? "Good planning, mostly by Ogle and his dad," according to Grunwald.

"We had counted on 35 to 40 miles a day and allowed ourselves a percentage of 20-mile days," Ogle said. One day, however, in an effort to make up lost time, they paddled 60 miles in a 15-hour day!

After a reception in Churchill where they were met by Canadian newsmen and honored at a steak dinner (pre-arranged by Ogle's father) the boys returned to the Ely canoe base the easy way—by rail and car.

Back at the base, which is run principally for Explorer Scouts, the boys found guides were in short supply so the next day all three set out on separate nine-day canoe trips as guides for groups of Scouts.

Once again back at the base Grunwald hurried home just in time to enter his senior year at the University of Kentucky. Ogle remained longer to escort a second group of Scouts on a second nine-day trip.

And guess what! They already are planning another trip. This one through northwest Canada to the Pacific by canoe.

Some skeptics say it can't be done.

Need a nurse?

ST.M. HAS 'EM

St. Matthews may never get a hospital, which some people think it ought to have, but the area is doing alright in producing nursing talent.

This week three more honor graduates from nursing training turned up.

They are Miss Carol Ashby Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ashby Miller, 4032 St. Ives Ct.; Miss Juanita Marie McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason McDonald, Jr., 115 Perryman Rd., and Sylvia Jeanne Schiefferle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Schiefferle, Statton Rd.

Canoe Adventure Ill-Fated

The canoe that is no more is shown being loaded, Perry to Willmoth

That ill-starred exploration of the rivers to New Orleans by two college canoeists may never be resumed. At best, not for another year or two.

At first Edwin Perry, Jr. (3717 Edmond Lane), and his Georgetown College roommate, Jack Willmoth of Bellevue, Ky., were determined to finish the trip as soon as they could dry out and recoup their losses.

Perry has gone to Owensboro to see if their capsized craft can be salvaged. But even so, all their gear and provisions are at the bottom of the Ohio—450 pounds of food, tents, camping equipment, and clothing.

The youths set out February 29 from Cincinnati, bound for New Orleans, 1,300 miles away, camping ashore at night, but were plagued from the start. Rains set the Ohio to flooding. After a scare at Vevay, Ind., they "grounded" at Louisville for a month. Last Friday they managed to paddle away again, only to encounter strong winds Sunday that whipped up waves which capsized their frail craft near Brandenburg.

Perry and Willmoth swam safely to shore but the canoe foundered. It reappeared 90 miles downstream and a Coast Guard cutter took it to Owensboro.

The boys had been roommates at Georgetown College. Willmoth was graduated. Senior Perry skipped this last semester to make the river trip. He will go to school to qualify for his degree in August.

Their boat is an 18-footer. Both boys are former Boy Scouts, Perry in the troop at the Broadway Baptist Church, where his father is pastor. He went to Waggener High.

In Dry Dock

Shipwrecked Canoeists Postpone Trip To Gulf

Edwin Perry, Jr., Ohio River canoeist, has switched to dry land—at least for awhile.

Perry, son of the pastor of Broadway Baptist Church, and Jack Willmoth, Bellevue, Ky., were paddling toward New Orleans about 4 p.m. Saturday when wind-whipped waves capsized their craft about 15 miles below Brandenburg.

The 22-year-old adventurers swam to the nearby Kentucky shore, waded through a swamp, and trudged to a farmhouse where they telephoned Perry's parents in Louisville to come after them.

Canoe Found

The canoe was written off as a victim of river treachery. Then yesterday it apparently was found again.

About 11 a.m. the Coast Guard cutter Lantanna came upon a swamped canoe 10 miles upstream from Owensboro, about 95 miles below where Perry and Willmoth took their unscheduled plunge.

The Lantanna crew feared the worst until they learned the derelict craft matched the general description of the Perry-Willmoth canoe.

Perry, in dry dock yesterday at his home, 3717 Edmond Lane, said he and Willmoth, friends from undergraduate days at Georgetown College, had left Louisville about 11:45 a.m. Friday and expected the downriver cruise to take six weeks.

"We'll finish the trip," Perry vowed, "but not right away."

Has bout with German measles

The unexpected welcome home to Kentucky for H. Fred Banks, Jr., after many months absence in Munich, was a bout with the German measles.

Now fully recovered, he and his wife, the former Diane Nunn, and six-weeks-old daughter, Gaia, have moved into an apartment on S. Peterson Ave., after visiting Fred's parents, the senior Banks, at 657 Upland Rd. Diane is the daughter of the Douglas Nunns, 500 N. Hubbards Ln.

Little Gaia is having her first taste of America, having been born in a clinic outside of Munich, in the historic shadows of 15th century Gutenberg Castle.

The Bankses left here last summer for a sojourn in Austria and to study the life there. Art gallery-going to Munich's world-famed museums was a main part of their trip abroad.

"We also learned enough German to make ourselves understood," says Fred, who'll be working here and finishing up his degree at the University of Louisville.

Waggener High School students learned what it's like to be P.T.A. members this week.

They took over as officers for the adult group's final meeting of the year and presented the whole program.

Harriet Micou, member of the senior class and daughter of the P.T.A. president Mrs. W. T. Micou, Jr., presided.

The program opened with a flag ceremony presented by Waggener Eagle Scouts of Troop 109, and was followed by an invocation given by Tom Ogle. The business meeting was conducted by the sons and daughters of the P.T.A. officers: Harriet Micou, Susan Pillars, Ramey Simpson and Heather Scarlett.

A high light of the evening was presentation of the Kentucky P.T.A. Silver Bowl Award to Waggener for having the largest P.T.A. membership in the state. This is the first time any school has won the award three years in a row, and Waggener now has permanent possession of the bowl for display in its trophy case.

Steve Porter, vice-president of the Student Council, gave a report on Career Day, and the following members of the Youth Speaks group held a panel discussion: Robert Wood, Bill Moeller, Charles Brown, Susan Goldsmith, Barbara White and Judy Dabrough.

Dear Class of '60:

Did you ever think this would happen? Yes, we have kept track of you for four years. I'll admit it has been a real challenge at times, but I've loved every minute of it - it has been most interesting and rewarding. I've enjoyed all the telephone conversations with you or your parents, and everything we said and thought about the class four years ago is still true. You are a wonderful group and we are just as proud of every one of you as I know your parents must be.

The only thing I regret about this list is it is not possible for me to list all the awards and honors received by so many of you. However, we do have many clippings in the Scrap Book about you. Yes, we have kept it up-to-date with engagements, weddings, alumni columns from Chit-Chat, many various news items plus the treasured cards and letters received from you. Mr. Micou and I would love for you to stop by any time and look through it.

Seriously, the class has made a terrific showing in these four years. Mr. Duncan, administrative staff, counsellors, and teachers of Waggener are very proud of their first graduating class.

I have asked that as many as possible pick up this list from us here at 322 North Bonner Avenue (Waggener Alumni House), as it would be an expensive mailing project, and also it will give us a chance to see you again. So we will be looking forward to seeing you real soon.

Loads of success and happiness to you in the future - our thoughts and prayers are with you always.

Before sailing July 3 to work a year in Europe, Phyllis Curtis is trying to finish a portrait of her father, G. Bryan Curtis. A 1964 Vanderbilt graduate, she obtained her job through the International Student Travel Center.

CAPPING Phyllis Curtis' four years at Vanderbilt University will be a year-long chance to put her French minor to work.

Phyllis, who was graduated last Sunday, will sail July 3 to a job in Europe arranged by the International Student Travel Center, which is affiliated with the Collegiate Council of the U. N.

It's supposed to be the only organization that guarantees you a job in Europe, says Phyllis. She requested Belgium, France, or the French-speaking part of Switzerland, but she won't know till she gets to the New York office late this month just where she'll be or what she'll do.

The I.S.T.C., which provides an orientation program, also acquires any necessary work permits or visas for accepted applicants.

Her main wish is to perfect her proficiency in French—She has done translating here for a tobacco company.

And of course to see as much of Europe at a relaxed pace. "Touring doesn't appeal to me."

Now visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bryan Curtis, Phyllis will team up for the year abroad with a Vanderbilt classmate, Diana Crawford of New Orleans. They'll leave in time for a few days at the World's Fair.

Though she doesn't know anyone in Europe, half of Vanderbilt is going abroad this summer so "I'll see someone in every town."

Retrospect Of First Decade Shows WHS Accomplishments

By Betty Baxter and Susan Hunter

As the seniors of 1964 move ahead, we take an retrospective look at the accomplishments and changes of Waggener's first ten years.

1954-1955 This first year the student body consisted of seventh, eighth, and ninth graders only.

These students, having the responsibility of establishing new traditions, chose red and gray as the official school colors. Other highlights of this year were the Student-Faculty game, which the students won, and the Core Basketball Tournament.

1955-1956 This year the sophomores went to Eastern, as Waggener still had limited facilities. The core program expanded and the students continued to build up their school spirit and organizations.

1956-1957 By this time, the oldest class was the freshman, and with the composition of the official school song, they started the long journey to become Waggener's first senior class. Construction of a new wing got underway, making room for an additional grade, and our first television classes were begun.

1957-1958 This was an important year because it contained the births of many of our organized clubs. The first student council was established, the Beta Club was installed, the orchestra made its debut; the first year book, the Lair, was published; the first student directory, The Wildcat Book, was printed, and the journalism classes published the first printed issues of the Chit-Chat. The first class of Waggener was officially organized, and the first basketball and football queens were crowned. With the new wing completed, the enrollment jumped again.

1958-1959 This year brought other honorary organizations to WHS, with the Quill and Scroll Charter granted and 24 juniors tapped for the National Honor Society. The Wildcats participated in varsity sports for the first time, and with the help of the Development Association our football field was dedicated. The G.A.A. was organized to promote more athletics for the girls.

1959-1960 Former assistant principal Mr. Earl Duncan ably took over the position of principal, held by Mr. John B. Lowe since Waggener had opened. Further scholastic honors were received by WHS as several students attended U. of L. as Carnegie Scholars and the announcement of 14 National Merit Semi-finalists was made. The football team, only in its second year of varsity competition, was the unofficial county champion, the basketball team won the Jefferson County Invitational Tournament and was recognized as the County Champion, and the swim team claimed second place in the State Meet. Also during this time, Waggener added to the publications their literary magazine, the introspect.

1960-1961 The second senior class continued to gain honors with Richard Long becoming Waggener's first Merit Scholar. The Alma Mater was officially selected and a new tradition was started with the girls' senior-junior football game, in which the seniors were victorious. The Thespians came home with two First Place trophies at the State Drama Festival.

1961-1962 This year 19 National Merit semi-finalists from WHS set a new school record, and the Chit-Chat won the Gallup award from Quill and Scroll.

1962-1963 This year brought a split in the junior high and senior high student body. Waggener was host to its first foreign exchange student, Masako Sato, from Japan. Waggener held its first homecoming with the crowning of the queen highlighting the dance. The faculty reversed the tradition by defeating the seniors in the Student-Faculty game.

1963-1964 This year, with Waggener's largest class, the traditions of the former years have been built upon and strengthened. Our athletic program has been outstanding, with our football team becoming runners-up in the state. During the summer, WHS students were hosts to foreign exchange students who were touring the USA, thus developing the bond of friendship between students around the world.

Having looked back upon our first ten years in which our school's character has been established, WHS now looks eagerly into the future and the opportunities it holds.

Researcher Experiments

By Joan Kay

MAGGIE HUBER rushed her way to honorable mention in a national poetry contest recently with an "under-the-wire" entry.

The results and a short biography of Maggie appeared in the August issue of Mademoiselle magazine, which annually awards prizes in art, fiction, and poetry to talented coeds. They will publish one of her poems in a future issue.

A letter announcing the contest arrived after the deadline date on the desk of Harvey Curtis Webster, Maggie's writing professor at the University of Louisville. He promptly got a letter off to the magazine and urged his students to go ahead and submit their work.

He calls 21-year-old Maggie

"one of the most gifted poets I've had in years."

But she isn't a full-time poetess. Weekdays, she's been a research assistant for a pathologist at Children's Hospital, and a lab technician there on weekends. A former chemistry major, she took the job to put herself through school—and decided to stay on, "marking time" until she finds one of these hard-to-come-by openings in the writing field. Last week she began research work at the U. of L. medical research building.

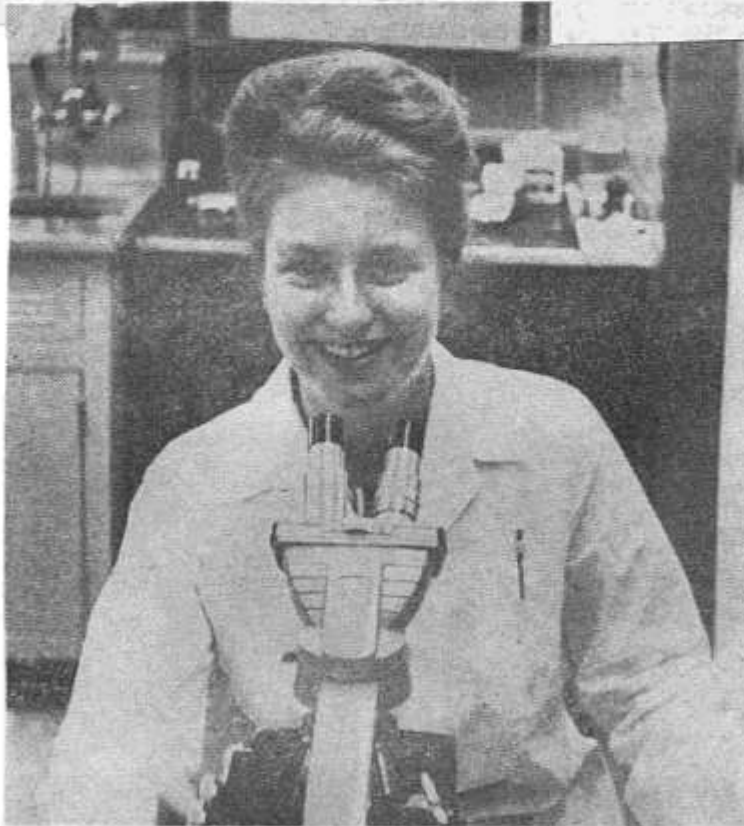

Mrs. Carl Henry Huber has had a hand in her daughter's love for words. She remembers as a young child listening to her mother read Tennyson and Longfellow aloud. And before Maggie learned to write her mother would record the little poems she made up—a collection she's saved.

She recalls too, with a laugh, misunderstanding a first-grade teacher's assignment in handwriting and turning in, instead, a little booklet of verses.

A past winner of U. of L.'s poetry contest, Maggie was graduated there this year. She has published in Forge, the campus literary magazine, and in the Grinnell College Review.

WALKER - NELSON

Being guests and hostesses has busied three friends who will marry this month

SWITCHING from bride to bridesmaid and from guest of honor to hostess is keeping three December brides here busy and ebullient this month.

And their pre-wedding festivities have kept their Chi Omega sorority sisters at U. of L. in a dither of party-going, too.

First of the three Chi O's to be married is Jane Rowland, who became the bride of Pfc. Edward Woods Vollertsen Monday night. Her two close friends, Patricia White and Kay Casady, were bridesmaids.

Kay's marriage to Carl Recke, Jr., is the 26th and Pat's wedding to Air Force Lt. Ronald Ray Funk is the 27th, so they won't be in each other's weddings. But Jane will be back from a wedding trip to Chicago and Wisconsin in time to be a bridesmaid.

All three have entertained for each other—one day Pat gave a party from 2 to 4 for Jane, and then from 5 to 7 sat back and relaxed at a party in her honor given by Jane. Some of the same friends came to both festivities.

All the taxing preparations for the weddings have been eased by their joint efforts. One day Pat's mother, Mrs. Waitman E. White, went down to check on some shoes to be dyed, and providentially finding that Jane's weren't ready, was able to rush up the dye job.

After the holidays all three girls will be back on Belknap Campus.

In late January Jane will join her husband in Fort Smith, where he's with the 100th Division, and she'll transfer to Fort Smith Junior.

Her husband has found a guest cottage on a road in town.

Wedding Reception At Bride's Home

Where There's Smoke . . .

Unexpected but most welcome were the late-comers, some firemen, to the reception following the wedding last Sunday of Kitty Buckaway and Robert F. Sexton.

Firemen were hurriedly summoned when a fire broke out in the downstairs powder room at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Buckaway.

(A forgotten cigarette had dropped onto a plastic tissue box. This burned and quickly set a shower curtain and wall covering aflame.)

The newlyweds left just before the blaze was discovered. But lingering guests found themselves enveloped in swirling black smoke that covered them and everything with an ashy film.

Damage was slight, but the soot wasn't—the Buckaways are still cleaning it up.

AFTER SEPARATE FLIGHTS NEWLYWEDS REUNITED IN HOOSIERLAND

Flies With 'Wrong' Fella

Newlyweds Escape By Helicopter

By KENNETH LOOMIS

Ten minutes later, she left on her honeymoon—in another direction and with another man.

Four minutes later, however—at 4:32 p.m.—it was all straightened out as she met Williams at the Holiday Motel on U.S. 62 just east of Jeffersonville, Ind.

The "other man" in her short married life, pilot Cecil Thrasher, had just deposited her, by helicopter, on the lawn of the motel into the arms of her new husband. Thrasher is a recent graduate of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, where Williams is a third-year student.

Williams, 24, preceded his wife by the same helicopter as part of an elaborate plan the couple worked out to make sure they weren't the victims of pranksters or friends "who would load our car bumper down with tin cans."

Besides, he explained, it gave him a chance to trick his brother, Robert, a medical student at the University of Colorado in Boulder "who said he'd go to the ends of the world to find me after we were married."

For this reason, said George Williams, he had the pilot take off in different directions for each flight.

Williams, a native of Phoenix, Ariz., met his wife in Louisville. The former Marsha Roider, she is the daughter of ~~Mr. and Mrs.~~ Ralph F. Roider, 2506 Rudy Lane and will continue as a social worker at Brooklawn Children's Home after they return. The couple will live at Fuller Hall at the seminary.

After staying overnight at the motel, they intended to leave this morning—by automobile—"for the South," said Williams.

After his elaborate preparations he wouldn't be any more specific than that.

Busdriver Wilson Gets Award For His Safety, Service, Spirit

By Bill Campbell

"Mr. Howard Wilson is more than a bus driver to us here at Waggener," remarked Mr. Roy Watkins, teacher in the junior high, "he's a friend."

Mr. Wilson has been a bus driver for 16 years. He has never had an accident, and recently he was awarded a safe driving plaque from the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society by Mr. Watkins. Besides driving to and from school, Mr. Wilson and his good ole' bus #205 travel to all of Waggener's athletic events supply the Waggener teachers with excellent field trip service.

Mr. Wilson is loved by all his passengers from ages 7-18 years. "He's always got a joke handy," remarked one of his elementary school passengers.

Since he was 19 years old, Mr. Wilson has lived in Jefferson County. He is married, and he has two married daughters who graduated from Eastern High School. He's a "jolly good fellow" to his young granddaughter.

Besides being a bus driver, Mr. Wilson likes to fish as a hobby. With friends everywhere he also has a hobby of being friendly.

Mr. Wilson is a living symbol of Waggener, driving buses, taking Wildcats to and from school, driving classes on all field trips, and traveling to all Waggener's athletic events. He started driving for Eastern High School, and now he is driving for Waggener and Middletown Elementary School.

Boxes of Food From Home Save Soldier

"Thanks for the box from home
... It was a lifesaver."

Hundreds of GIs have written such notes, but in the case of a Louisville Army lieutenant in South Viet Nam, the message would be the absolute truth.

First Lt. James L. Fuller Jr., 23, son of Mrs. Y. Peyton Wells, 94 Warrior Road, and Dr. J. Luther Fuller, 605 Cressbrook Drive, is now recovering from wounds received in a Viet Cong ambush March 11. He wrote his mother that if it hadn't been for two big food boxes from friends back home, the wounds very likely would have been fatal.

Fuller, a graduate of Waggener High School and Vanderbilt University, was riding in a jeep with three other officers north of Saigon. They passed two "peasants" working on a motorcycle—but the "peasants" turned out to be Viet Cong.

They lobbed two grenades. The jeep was blasted apart. One grenade hit near the rear, where Fuller was seated beside the two food boxes.

Fuller was hit by shrapnel in the left arm and left leg. He also suffered a concussion and punctured ear drums.

Canned Ham Pierced

But the food boxes took the brunt of the shrapnel, Fuller wrote. He said about 30 pieces of steel blasted into the boxes and a canned ham.

Fuller and the other officers had picked up the boxes and assorted mail shortly before the ambush. One of the food boxes was sent to Fuller from friends in Louisville; the other was one sent to another officer.

Mrs. Wells said her son has been awarded the Viet Nam Service Medal and the Purple Heart. He received the Expeditionary Forces Award for duty last May in the riot-torn Dominican Republic.

Fuller has been in South Viet Nam since November.

Submarine's the Place to Study

But Navy officer-scholar finds life on underseas craft adds to girth

For a good spot to study for an advanced degree, try a nuclear-powered Polaris submarine.

Lt. (j.g.) James R. Ratliff recommends it. But, he cautions, life on an underseas craft will add to a fellow's pounds.

The 25-year-old officer, on leave at home (4002 St. Germaine Court), explains:

Leisure time and quiet, without distractions found on land, are conducive to study. Ratliff does "homework" on a master's degree in science.

As for diet: a 24-hour day undersea is divided into four six-hour "watch" sections, before and after each of which a meal is served. Four meals a day!

Recreation space is ample—a miniature gym, with bicycle bars, weights, medicine balls and the like; but usually the Navy man picks up 20 to 30 pounds anyway on a 60-day undersea run.

That's the customary extended patrol for his U.S.S. Abraham Lincoln, which dates back to 1961, and other ships in the class.

Alternate crews of about 140 men each man the craft. One handles the ship under water for 60 days, then takes 30 days off. The other spends 30 days training, loading and checking the craft, then takes it down for 60. Each man has a counterpart in the other crew.

Lt. Ratliff catches up on news

The lieutenant is enthusiastic about submarine duty. Crews are smaller than on many ships, he notes, and all are volunteers. They are trained specialists, usually career Navy men. The air is cleaner than on land, because it is controlled. Seldom is there a case of flu or other illness. The one doctor aboard concerns himself mostly with helping the men to hold down their weight.

About 80 per cent are married. An exception is the Louisvillian.

Consciousness of being submerged fades quickly and life "under" becomes routine.

Modern subs are much roomier and interior decorations more attractive, like home, than earlier models.

Crews keep up with world events through a ship newspaper published daily. It's a four-page sheet called "The Lincoln Penny." There are movies daily, too, and the men tend to heavier type reading from the ship's library than when on shore.

The Abraham Lincoln was the fourth nuclear submarine to be armed with Polaris missiles.

Ratliff was graduated from Waggener High, then got a degree at the University of Mississippi. From ROTC he went into the Navy, spent six months on the destroyer escort U.S.S. Huse, then had 18 months of schooling before drawing the submarine six months ago.

During the five-week course, he will study aerodynamics, mathematics, physics, naval orientation, navigation, engineering, leadership and other subjects essential to becoming a Naval Officer.

LAWRENCE R. MYERS, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence G. Myers, 307 S. Hubbards Ln., was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army on completion of the ROTC summer camp program at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Pa. He had completed his academic requirements at Eastern Kentucky University prior to the camp program when he qualified as an expert with the M-14 rifle, the highest rating a soldier can achieve in weapons qualification.

U.S. Is Restudying Tides in Sound

Marmer's crew lifts a buoy out of Long Island Sound for cleaning and inspection

Upgrading of Data to Aid Ship Safety

The orders from the bridge of the Auxiliary Survey Vessel Marmer operating in Long Island Sound sound much like the orders from the bridge of many ships:

"Got your navigational fix?"

"Yes, sir."

"Okay, drop the hook."

But the orders are bringing different results from the usual, results that will make pleasure boating safer and more pleasurable. The United States Coast and Geodetic Survey team on the 100-foot Marmer, for the first time in 30 years, is updating information on the tidal currents and velocities in Block Island and Long Island Sounds.

Nearly a half-million craft, mostly recreational, operate annually in the Sounds.

The "drop it" refers to an anchor for a 10-foot, steel, boat-like raft equipped with electronic devices and under-water flow meters that will broadcast to this vessel at sea or in port and hour after hour the direction and velocity of the tides that affect the navigation of vessels of all sizes.

The information, published by the Department of Commerce on charts for 50 cents, is essential for pleasure and commercial boatmen trying to navigate accurately in fog and storm past dangerous shoals.

The New York Times (by Meyer Liebowitz)

Rodney Smith, chief survey technician, examines a flow meter. The device records direction and velocity of tides.

Up and Down Hill

A pleasure or commercial boat pushing against a tide is like walking up hill. One riding with the tide can be compared with trotting down hill. When navigating a boat in fog or blinding rain, knowledge of the tide is vitally important to keep from going aground.

The charts are used in conjunction with other charts that are the equivalent of road maps and that show the location of channels, shoals, rocks, islands, lights and reference buoys.

The trick in bad weather is to find them after taking into account the direction and velocity of the tide.

The Marmer, named for the pioneering oceanographer, H. A. Marmer, had a three-year-program to place the raft-stations in 156 positions in Block Island Sound, eastern Long Island Sound and western Long Island Sound.

The vessel, skippered by a 24-year-old forestry and satellite-tracking specialist, Lieut. R. Lawrence Swanson of Essex, Conn., works with 12 often-moved stations, and the crew works 10 days and then has four off.

Their bugaboo is the mischievous meddler who opens the hatch to the raft-station and lets salt water seep in and short-circuit the electrical systems. This means the crew must work on its weekends on their own time off to make repairs.

Under the station rafts on cables are flow meters that look like weather vanes, and their turning impellers record the tide's direction and velocity.

An untampered raft station and equipment brings an excited shout: "Man, we've got a good one this time."

ATL Enrolls Another Louisvillian

By JOAN KAY
Courier-Journal Staff Writer

A quest for theater posters led to a post instead for Louisvillian Al Young. He joins the staff of Actors Theatre of Louisville this fall as promotional director.

His addition is in keeping with one of producer-director Dick Block's aims—"to bring talented Louisvillians back to Louisville."

While Young was collecting posters and programs last year for a class he was teaching in theater management at Southern Illinois University, he sought out ATL's Bryan Clark on a visit home. Clark asked if anyone in the class would be interested in working here, and instead of suggesting a student, the teacher spoke for the job himself.

Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Young Sr., is a 1964 graduate of Western Kentucky University where he was president, business manager and "primarily an actor" with the Western Players.

After teaching a year at Glasgow High School, he was given a graduate assistantship in theater at Southern Illinois where he worked with the Southern Players. The past two summers he managed the university's company which performed in Lincoln's New Salem State Park, a reconstruction of the Illinois pioneer village where Lincoln lived in the 1830's before moving to Springfield.

The students gave an outdoor pageant about Lincoln, "Prologue to Glory," and last summer added "Our American Cousin" to the performances.

Young's work in Louisville this year will be incorporated in his master's thesis on professional resident theater and community relations. He expects to get his degree next summer.

Actors Theatre Associates opened the curtain on their winter activities yesterday with a luncheon in Actors Theatre lobby. With Al Young, new promotional director, are Mrs. W. W. Ellinger, center, treasurer of the associates, and Mrs. Joseph H. Wimsatt, educational-events chairman.

Firemen fetter groom with ball and chain

By Glee Durand Crutcher
896-6091

It's like something out of U.N.C.L.E. But as far as the St. Matthews Volunteer firemen know to date, rescue was impossible for Buddy Klapheke and he's been staggering around dragging a heavy ball and chain since last Saturday.

That's when Buddy was married to Karen Wilson in St. Albert The Great Church. All his fellow firemen came to the reception with a fiendish scheme for the unlucky bridegroom. Jack Monohan was the main perpetrator.

Buddy's cronies arrived with a large concrete ball and chain, which they padlocked to his ankle. The padlock was carefully chosen. It's made of steel that cannot be cut with a hacksaw. Then the fiendish firemen presented Karen with a gift-wrapped box containing 280 keys and a card reading, "This will give you something to do on your honeymoon."

For the past five days, Buddy's friends have been chuckling gleefully, with visions of Karen working her way through the box of keys trying to set her new husband free, because they've known all the time that the right key was not in the box.

Up to now, nobody has found out what happened but they seem to hope for the worst and that the bride and bridegroom spent most of their wedding trip in a machine shop. It's hoped that there still are some bachelors among the volunteer firemen in St. Matthews, because Buddy undoubtedly already is plotting some heinous deed for the next one who marches to the altar to get even.

She's a broker

Local girl, 21, passes test, will join her mother in office

A 21-year-old St. Matthews area girl passed a test this week that relatively few men pass and a fewer number of women.

The girl, Carolyn L. Kinker was one of 50 out of 290 men and women who passed a test for real estate brokers licenses. Only five of the group were women. Having obtained her brokers license, Miss Kinker is believed to be the youngest girl in the state to have passed the test.

She will join her mother, Elizabeth Kinker, in the Kinker Realty Company, 4158 Shelbyville Road, which she started 13 years ago.

Real estate will not be exactly a new job for Miss Kinker, who has, between other activities, helped in her mother's office. Where she was confined primarily to the typewriter and paper work, she now expects to be showing prospective buyers both residence and commercial property.

But Carolyn hasn't been spending all of her time just in real estate. Her interest varies from radio and TV arts to law.

She has studied at the University of Kentucky toward an eventual law degree and is now studying at the University of Louisville toward a B. S. Degree in Commerce and intends later to enter law school.

Perhaps part of her success in obtaining her brokers license can be attributed to having studied real estate law under County Commissioner Bemis Lawrence at U. of L. Carolyn doesn't necessarily intend to practice law, but wants the knowledge--maybe to apply toward her real estate interests.

She holds a Federal Communications license, and is also one of the youngest girls to possess one. She has worked at a local radio and TV station--as a continuity writer and a model.

Carolyn graduated from Waggener High School in 1960, and philosophically hinted she might not have done too well in some subjects there. "But let them know I'm not a complete loss," she quipped.

Dear Mrs. Micou,
 A bouquet of roses to you for all that you've done for the Class of '60. Before pursuing a MBA somewhere in the U.S., I'm spending a year studying French in Honorable, France. I'll probably be in Europe through next summer. Last weekend I visited this church, in which St. Matthews (Ky.) is buried. It's in the oldest city in Germany.
 Here's hoping I might meet some classmates in Europe,

"Waggoner Alumni"

Dear Mrs. Micou,

I just wanted to drop you a short letter to let you know how I've been doing, and mood of all - to let you know how much I appreciate the list of you class and their college addresses. I know a few of them, but I'll really enjoy this list. You didn't know me so you did some of the others - but knowing what a great doctor you took in my whole class ("the best ever") I thought you would appreciate hearing from me. I began nursing training at St. Joseph's Hospital here in Low, in September. After about five or six weeks I became sick with mononucleosis on top of a few other things. The doctor put me in the hospital under observation and to run tests for two days, and after that I was in bed a month. I had to drop nursing, much to my dismay and don't know if I can return. Believe me, it was the most heart-breaking thing I've ever done, or had to do. I became engaged recently to a wonderful guy from the University of Kentucky. His name is Guy Haffkay and is studying architecture. We haven't set the date yet, because of his schooling. Why - what do you mean. Give you from a job you look! I know none of us would ever dream of it. We love you as you do us. To get on to our wedding, I should like to have a "one-year" one this June. I heard several of my friends say the same. Please, if there is anything I can do to help you in any way, feel free to call me, since I am at home now. (TW-6-9748)

What's a great idea of the "Waggoner Alumni Home" right in front of your house. I sure was proud of our class, and still am, especially since I've looked over the addresses to see what everyone's doing. I can imagine how proud you are. I thank you for your thoughts and prayers - we can all use them.

Saturday,

Dear Mrs. Micou,

I would like to thank you for sending me the address list. I really think it was a great idea. I have already written a lot of people in our class and this will give me the information I need to write others that I would like to.

I really like it here. I study about six hours every day including Saturdays and Sundays. I really don't mind studying if I feel that I am learning, but "logic" just seems impossible.

I have pledged Sigma Chi and all the rest of the Knoxville boys have pledged a fraternity. Everybody seems to like it here just fine.

Sandy Thomas has one of the highest grades in Chemistry in the whole freshman class and Jimmy Childs is making nothing but A's and B's.

Well, thanks again for the directory and keep the senior spirit a live.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Mrs. Micou -

I've been wanting to write a little note thanking you for the alumna list you sent us.

I've really enjoyed reading through it and seeing where I had ended up going to school and being able to keep in contact.

I know it was a lot of work on your part, but I'm sure everyone has appreciated everything you've done for us.

Thank you very much.

would wonderful. Hope you are able to go swimming in it now.

You asked me to check on some of my school mates. I do not know a thing about Born. Charter was his brother. I asked Bobby Walker to drop you a line and also to send you Levi's address, he said he would. Mr. Sandy Phillips is going to write to you.

Well, got to go.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr, Mrs. & Family Micou,
Hi! Pssy I was afraid to hear from you. I was going to write any way, but I have been very busy.

My subject is one way hard because I got all the rough teachers - my luck again. I am taking 16 hours which is more than the normal load up to 12. I have been sitting about 1 1/2 to 2 hours a day, as I like to sit at my desk. I go out on weekends, except for the gym.

As for outside activities, I must say that is all. I didn't even think of doing any more as I got tired of doing anything.
 a roof.

Like girls down here are very good looking, but they don't compare with Nancy or "Little Nancy". I miss Nancy and my friends very much, and sometimes get very melancholy. I just can't think of any other girls except Nancy.

Nancy and I will both be going on Sept. 27. This is my last year and I get off from school. I will be with you, too.

I won't write. I am hardly with. You know, of course, I was sick right before she left for school so I didn't get near her.!! @ #!!! I haven't been able to think of anything since she wrote me.
 640 words

Nancy's parents have been out of town and that is why you haven't seen them. Nancy likes Homer very much, but I will let her tell you the right thing. I am glad Hossie & Barb are doing well and like school. It is going to be Barbara good to get away from her mother, I think.

Wendy spinning the count down with out saying anything surprised me. I think it was very callous and rude to do such a thing after all you did for them. He must be very mixed up inside.

I will see you the eighth and until then, I send you all my love.

Tommy

P.S. Tell Hossie hello for me also I got a heart-in-aid.

Well, I joined a fraternity last

I'm just now getting back into in which I must win 3 events. They

I might see you this week -

Dear Pappa and Momma Micou,

Have you recovered from our "wild" New Year's party where the host came late and left early? Ha, what a joke.

I really wanted to tell you how much you all mean to me and how wonderful it was to be able to share Christmas with you. You are part of my happiness and joy when it comes home, and with out you my life would be much more difficult. (can't get out of jail)

You should see the people who live in this rooming house with us. There are two queer that we know of and three girls that can't get along. All well, I'm up here for study so why think about it. Damn! I wish you were coming up and they annoy me, perhaps it's because I'm not steady, but I'll be back for it.

You know what time Donna got home the other night, 4:30 in the morning. Her parents must hate me by now, but I really don't care, because I guess I kind of like their girl. She is a wonderful person. I'd like to know better I'm ^{with} ~~not~~ her as she asked me, but what's going to happen when Tommy and Donna compare notes, it's like, what a terrible thought.

I trained for a while today and I am a bit out of shape, but I hope that with a effort I can get results like last year. I think a good 2 miles a day would do if I can stick to it with my studies.

I won't keep you any longer now so I'll say good night and send my love and respect

Dear Mrs. Micou,

How are you getting along without Harriett in the house? Like my mother, you probably miss her as much as she does me.

I thought that I would write you and keep in touch with the "favorite family" in my book.

I would like to ask a favor of you. At the end of last year, you said that a file would be kept of people's addresses for the coming college year.

If there is a file, I would like the following address.

Miss Barbara Ann White

Atlanta, Georgia.

I would appreciate it if you would let me know. We have misplaced the number or something.

~~You so much hope~~ you are all well and ready for the coming year.

I have finally taken the time to drop you a line so that my college address ^{can be corrected} on the list for the Waggeber High School Alumni. I am attending Illinois State Normal University, but because I am living off-campus my address is 304 N. Kell Ave., Normal, Illinois.

I just want to add that I sure do appreciate the alumni list that you sent me. Thank you.

Dear Mrs Micou,

The "Black Sheep" has finally found time to write once again. It was great to receive your letter. I enjoy the mail so much, I might just write myself, so that I will have something to read other than textbooks.

Last Friday, I received "A Diary of Private Prayer" from the Church. My faith hasn't been quite as strong since he's been away from the "happy hunting grounds" and for Dr. Mullin. The book has turned the tide, at least until I can get back to "Honey's Home".

Things are moving right along. We're very busy.

Thank you for Barb's address. It was apparently a waste of time to write to you (at least for the address). I have written her once, to try and patch up a friendly (at least) non-speaking acquaintance. I know she read it because it hasn't come back marked. No one here by that name yet! For some people, it takes a ton of brick to make them come down a tiny bit.

The Bible is required reading down here. We read quite a bit of it. I did not realize how many details of importance the average reader leaves out or over looks when reading the book of Genesis. That's about it for now, but I'll write you again. My love to all. Write to everyone and especially Annette when you write her.

Love for now,

Love,

Buddie

P.S. I'll be home the 10th of October and might drop by a minute or two. (over)

We are going to produce "OKLAHOMA" next month. I am in the Chorus and dance ensemble, and understudy to the lead role of Andrew Carnes. Andrew Carnes is the father of Bob Annis, the wayward young man of OKLAHOMA. Andrew Carnes is played by the actor who played John Breckinridge in the Foster story at Bardonia. Annis is played by the sweetest, prettiest, and most talented young woman I have ever called a friend. Perhaps you have heard of her. Her name is Alice Chumbley, Miss Kentucky, 1960.

He started to grow a beard for my part in the play. My hair will be awfully long, sort of like Kirk Douglas. I love it so much. I feel honored to get a part the first time around.

I am going to drop by Waggoner Friday and give the Counselor some information for the students coming here next year. Perhaps I'll make it to Church Sunday. See you then, maybe.

Dear Mrs. Micou,
I thought I had lost contact with everyone in St. Matthews. I haven't been out of the school library for about two days now. Finals were not "final." I came through better than I thought I would. I passed all of my subjects and still had time to squeeze in a few plays too.

Well, so Harriett has decided to come home to Kentucky.

I hope that she will not be disappointed. It sounds like she really wants to work at Yourhead.

As for the Class of '60, Well, naturally I feel partial to them but I hope the Class of '61 is even better. They owe it to Waggener to uphold the tradition that all as the first class tried to give them.

Your notes were interesting (thanks for the notice!) and informative.

I am applying for a job at Liberty National Bank this summer and I would like to put your name as a personal reference if it is all right with you. I know this is all new after telling you about my plans for this summer, but after visiting U.K. last week, I found that it would be at least six months before I get a scholarship so it means I need more money than I could earn at camp.

Dear Mrs. Micou

This afternoon I was going through some of my first semester papers and came across your list of last years seniors. Reading the front page of the list I decided to write and tell you some of the things which have been happening here at Miami and to me this year.

As you know My family and I moved to Pompano Beach the last part of the summer. We have really enjoyed the weather and at times wished youall were here. Just previous to Christmas our family had a big surprise a baby girl, the first girl.

At school everything has been going just as well. Last semester I pledged Sigma Nu Fraternity and just recently became active. I am enjoying collage immensely and just hope everyone is doing the same.

I would appreciate any information on the other seniors and how ther are doing. Thank You.

Dear Mrs. Micou:

You are so nice to write Bob about the dance and I will send the card on to him but of course he can't be there.

He is in summer school at Northwestern taking "Organic Chemistry" which seems to be what the pro. med. students want to do during the summer. He did real well in school this past year and will be quite busy for the next several weeks. He will be home 3 or 4 weeks before the fall semester so maybe you'd see him.

We have just recently moved into our new home. We were in an apt. until we could build so our hope to be settled now for a long time.

Do stop by and see us some-time. We would love to see you folks. We'd always love you for the many nice things you have done for Bob. We really do appreciate the way you have kept in contact with him. I know Bob appreciates it too.

Bob's address for the next

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Micou & Harriet

It was nice to get your card and I was sorry not to be able to get there for the dance. I do hope that I will be able to see you in a couple of days. Our family is planning to start vacation the coming Wed. (the 26th I believe) and our first stop is Louisville where we will stay for one night (Wed. night) and leave Thurs. afternoon.

I especially want to see Harriet & Barbara and the changes that college have brought to them. I don't think anybody could change ~~as~~ as much as I have. I feel that I have learned quite ~~abit~~ abit (not necessarily academic)

I miss every one from dear old Waggoner but like it very much in North Carolina and at Western Carolina College.

To prove what a small world this is; I ~~met~~ ^{met} Margaret White (I am sure you know her she goes to Harvey Browne) in Charlotte, N.C. during the Christmas holidays while I was visiting a sorority sister there.

I have been keeping up with the '60 class through to "Voice" and the "Chit-Chat"; but would like to catch up farther when I get to Louisville.

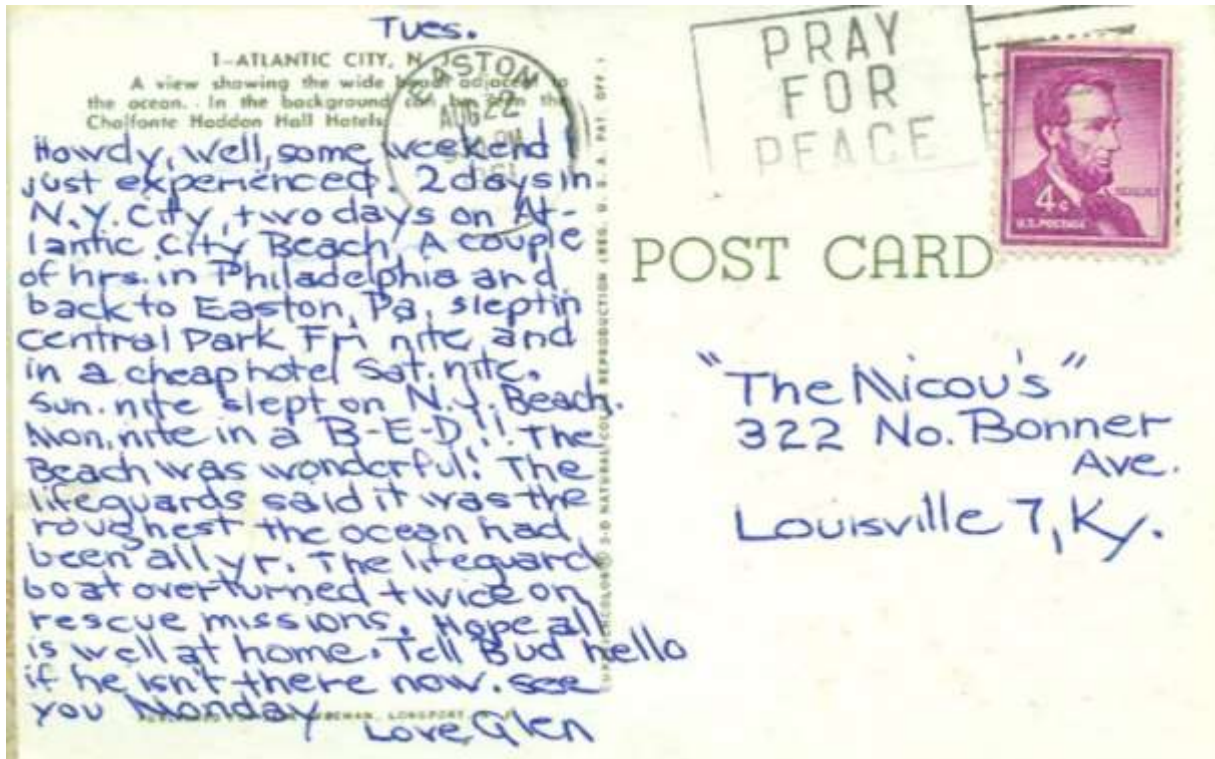

Hope to see you soon

other time. Much deer, elk, bear, moose,

The lakes and rivers are high and offer a rainy spring and I think it will be a great trip for all pleasant in a way I like.

I entered, and admired, for the hundredth time, that picture of convenience, neatness, and broad honest enjoyment, the kitchen of an English inn. It was of spacious dimensions, hung round with copper and tin vessels highly polished, and decorated here and there with a Christmas green. Hams, tongues, and flitches of bacon were suspended from the ceiling; a smokejack made its ceaseless clanking beside the fireplace, and a clock ticked in one corner. A well-scoured deal table extended along one side of the kitchen, with a cold round of beef, and other hearty viands upon it, over which two foaming tankards of ale seemed mounting guard. Travellers of inferior order were preparing to attack this stout repast, while others sat smoking and gossiping over their ale on two high-backed oaken settles beside the fire. Trim housemaids were hurrying backwards and forwards under the directions of a fresh, bustling landlady; but still seizing an occasional moment to exchange a flippant word, and have a rallying laugh, with the group round the fire.

Dear Mrs. Micou,

I was so glad to get your note and to hear about Harriet's marriage.

There is a Miss Jo Wilson here at Western that knows Harriet. She taught at Morehead. Miss Wilson was my housemother while I was in the Home Management House last quarter.

Yes, I am finally graduating from Western Carolina College with a BS in Home Economics. I will be Assistant Extension Agent of Wilkes County starting June 1st which I am quite excited about. I will be living with an elderly woman

Barbara is 10 and in the fifth grade. She is the beauty of the family and all the boys are crazy about her even if the feeling isn't mutual.

Mother and Daddy haven't changed much. Daddy has more gray hairs and Mother has less.

Daddy just finished a business school at Cratonville N.Y. It was an offer made by B.E. and he felt that he had benefited greatly from it.

That's about all from the Mclays. I hope that I will get to Louisville and see you all.

in North Wilkesboro who is very nice.

As for my marriage status - I am still single but hope to change that soon. I am going with a boy from Hendersonville and we intend to be married some time in the near future.

My family is fine and I doubt that anyone in Louisville would recognize them.

Joan is 17 and will graduate from High School this year. Next year she will attend Queens College in Charlotte.

Peggy is 14 and is a freshman. She has a boyfriend and is crazy about the Beatles. So we have a normal healthy teenage on our hands.

I would like to know what the class of 60 is doing.

I do hope that the ~~family~~ Micou family is doing okay.

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Micou,

I want to thank you personally for coming over to express your regrets. Regardless of the circumstances, it's always good to see you two again, and talking with you that evening helped ease a pretty rough time for myself and my family.

I always thought visiting funeral homes almost barbaric, invading the privacy of a saddened family. How wrong I was! The worst time was when there was no one. But, thanks to our family & friends, there seldom were such times, something I will never forget.

They say time heals all, and so it will. Dad is getting along as I knew he would. The bad times will be dexing the holidays, but this will pass, also, I imagine. You don't know how much someone means to you till you don't have them anymore, but that's a selfish attitude and one best not dwelled upon. Rather, priceless memories make the time together worthwhile and lasting, and that's how the wounds will mend, as they always have.

Excuse me for going on and on, but I kind of lost this letter in thought and rattled on. Linda: I didn't come over for obvious reasons since our time at home was limited. I came down the following weekends to help the endless clearing out of clothes, etc. Mom was one of those people known as "string-savers". Every letter she ever received must have been filed away in an unknown system. For all the work, it was enjoyable to read old letters, look at old pictures and reline old memories. Dad seemed to relax a lot in looking through the momentos and to find satisfaction in them. This relieved me to no end.

We won't be down this weekend due to Linda's father's birthday, but will probably be down in succeeding weekends. We will probably drop over. Again, many thanks for your thoughts. Harriet and Bud sent a card which was most appreciated. Please say hello to them for us. We still find it impossible to get in touch. (too much to do with too little time.)

Say hello to Billy, and Duke. (I don't mean to link them so closely, but I guess Bill will understand).

Good Health to each,
Glen & Linda

I don't guess you know that now we have a precious little boy, born May 21, 1964 just another one to put in your files. I guess you have quite a few to keep up with.

Well, I have to go for now so I'll try to get out there sometime soon. Thank you.

Dear Parents:

The first meeting of the Waggener P. T. A. will be held on October 1, at 8:00 P.M. The proposed budget will be voted on at that time.

A recommendation was made by the P. T. A. Board at their meeting on September 1, that we ask for a cash donation to include both membership dues and budget gift.

We are sure that we do not need to stress the importance of everyone sharing in this joint appeal. Raising the budget is one way that we can all share in the program of our children at Waggener without undue hardship on anyone.

For the past two years Waggener P. T. A. has ranked the highest in membership of any school in the state. We are not interested in numbers, but feel it is an honor to be recognized for you - our interested parents.

You are being asked to share on a voluntary basis, and the appeal is elastic enough to fit any budget. It was estimated that an average of $5.00 per family would put both the budget and membership drives over the top, but please do not feel that we are requiring a certain figure.

We are counting on you! Remember that your support of the P. T. A. is an investment in your child, not a donation.

We wish to thank you for your cooperation on this appeal, and are looking forward to seeing you at our meeting on October 1.

Mrs. W. T. Micou, Jr., President
Mrs. Chester B. Scarlett,
Membership Chairman

Mrs. Henry Anderson, Ways and Means Chairman

Please fill out the attached envelope with the necessary information, enclose check or currency, seal, and send back to school by your child as soon as possible. Your membership card and receipt for your budget gift will be forwarded to you.

Record P.T.A. attendance set at Waggener

Parents of Waggener High School students set a record for attendance at the P.T.A. meeting, Thursday night, October 1st. An estimated 3500 created traffic congestion in the area around Waggener High School on Hubbard Lane, but the Parkside police and County patrolmen kept traffic moving, though slowly at times due to the many members of cars to be parked. The Waggener P.T.A. wishes to publicly thank the police for the fine job they did and also to thank the many parents, the faculty of Waggener, and all others who were patient and courteous when delayed by the huge crowd.

Despite the record numbers of parents, the program, "Getting To Know Waggener, The Faculty, and Your Child's Schedule," was a success as the parents actually followed their child's schedule at school by attending ten minute classes. The Waggener Football team helped the parents by directing them to the various halls and the team was a tremendous help to all.

Elizabeth Micou PTA Notes

First thanks for accepting these offices and committee jobs - thanks next for coming through on everything. Hardest task for me all year is how to express appreciation.

Bill & family

If I were a poet, maybe I could make this very clever, but I'm not so here goes -

To my girl Friday - Ruth T, She has been the one behind the scene every meeting, but the one who handled the programs - I only wish every Pres. could have a Vice-Pres like Ruth, because it would be as enjoyable being Pres. as it has been for me, and the best thing about it she ~~she~~ has ~~horrific~~ such strong shoulders as she listened to my problems of my joys

Queenie - She really went after those members and we have her to thank for keeping the bowl - Hard to get out of her house. Wear as her spring bonnet. Seriously, Thanks.

Doris - An excellent secretary - We have shared many minutes over the phone - the P.T.A. minutes of the meetings and just plain minutes.

Harriet - Thanks to the thank-you queen.

Lollie - Always being remembered by the remark - "We haven't abused Miscellaneous too much". Wonderful job.

Martha - Keeping a record of all activities and attended many meetings I couldn't. and I know the PTA has a good yr ahead with her help.

Sally -

Pat S. - Teachers Lounge

Mary and Olgles - Inspiration

Jim Clark, Pillans & Disborough - Career Day and next meeting.

Grubes - Civil Defense. Mimeo.

Myers and Evans - Ready and willing - no speeches.

Pescoe - Took over in Mid-stream.

Jane & Committee - Everyone knows the superb job and I think ~~we~~ they have proved to everyone that Waggener P.T.A. shows true Southern Hospitality. When you have to chase them home - a good sign. Jane always ahead of things.

Goldsmiths - We were well prepared if we ~~had~~ had needed much work to be done on legit.

Browns & Theobald - Weren't called on much for library but came through for everything else.

Renn & Rouse - Lunch Room and Teachers Lounge

Burton & Conley - Everything has gone so smoothly.

Thompson & Disborough - Feeder School Meeting - Great Decisions

Ann - many many questions - patience & wisdom

Billy McMichael - publications, typing, serving, - Nominating Comm.

Molly - I've been through it, so know but I knew if Molly couldn't get publ. nobody could.

Bernice - Good contacts - Parkside, First Aid

Mel & Alma & Committee - Book store, chaperones

Grace & Comm. - Money speaks for itself.

Yr. Book - Ernestine

Waggener Dev. - for bringing closer relationship between two groups.

Duncan -

Isn't it wonderful to be kind to such talented ~~people~~ students. There is glory for all after such a display. Teachers parents and of course those who have ~~it~~ shown us the fruits of their labors.

At this time E M thinks Mr Deucane is going to say a few nice words and give her her past presidents pin. We who have worked with Elizabeth have a surprise in mind and if she hasn't had a hint of it by now we can all pat ourselves on the back for keeping a secret from a very astute person.

I know Elizabeth would much rather be up here telling you how much she has appreciated your help this year than even to hear one thing about herself, but I hope she can settle back and enjoy this presentation as much as we all have enjoyed preparing it.

If Elizabeth ^{speaking} were here there are some very special thanks she would give. Her daughter Harriet Micou has done a magnificent job in leading this meeting and all year Harriet has given up a girls best friend "the telephone" so her mother could use it on PTA work. No greater support can a daughter give a mother.

Now I know there are three important men in Elizabeth's life. She is in the audience her father, Mr Deucus Lindsey, will you rise Mr Lindsey so all of Elizabeth's friends can know who you are. Kentucky people more than others I believe know the value and worth of a Harouphred and I hope Mr Luedsey is gloating tonight over the ^{wonderful} ability of his granddaughter and daughter in the full knowledge that "we don't get our facts from strangers"

Now ^{behind} every successful woman there is a man, the real power, solid rock and never failing help in Elizabeth's PTA endeavors is her husband Bill, and I know Elizabeth would say "she couldn't have even opened a meeting without him. I speak for the Board and committee members and we all say Thank you Bill Micou for helping us so much.

I'm not going to mention the 3rd man in Elizabeth's life for a while - that will be later.

Now in some respects Elizabeth is a hard sell to convince - she wants ~~no fare~~ ~~no gifts that cost money~~ ~~no gifts that cost money~~ ~~no gifts that cost money~~ It was last February I believe that Elizabeth called me and said "Cuth I'm worried" in such a serious tone I was alarmed. ^{Phenotype said} ~~she~~ ^{she} had a crisis in PTA for a few days and the only thing that occurred to me was this is one of those "even your best friend won't tell you" deals.

She said "I've been on the Board of PTA for 3 years and I know this is the time of year some one goes to the vice president or treasurer and says "Be sure to some enough out of the budget for a present for the president! She said: Now Rich people do not give their hard earned money to PTA for officers gifts so please see that no money is collected from anyone, I do not want any gift that costs a penny. Well I was so relieved to hear that's all it was I agreed readily and promised no money would be spent but I knew too that all of us who benefited from her labors were about to let her go with out a remembrance from us. So here's what we did that didn't cost a cent. Our friend and PTA counselor in the office Mrs Gene Wiegner wrote the sentiments at the top of the scroll, she donated her thoughts. Mrs Carolyn Brownning of the art department did the lettering using the ink from some old bottles that were thrown away. Mr Wm Hughes of the Industrial Art Department fashioned the ends from scraps of dowels; and the paper was not purchased or donated, it was frankly lifted! There is room for more of your well wishers to sign here tonight.

Just ^{to} give you this scroll with our very best thanks for all you have contributed to Wiegner P.T.A.

DATE: April 7, 1960

Projects of P.T.A. -

1. - Mr. Duncan requested help in the Book Store and this was turned over to Mr. and Mrs. Mel Borland, Chairmen of the Sports & Recreation Committee. This committee was responsible for having one of our members in the Book Store each school day for two hours.
2. - "Great Decisions of 1960" - The Parent Education Committee Chairmen, Mrs. Morton Thompson and Mrs. M. R. Disborough, attended meetings and passed information on to members. Mrs. Chastain Taurman also attended the opening session on this.
3. - The Board agreed to sponsor a student telephone directory and information booklet put out by the Student Council. We were asked by the Student Council to do this and we offered to be of any help ^{they} would need. We had about twelve members helping them type up the lists.
4. - Mrs. Porter of the Home Economics Department requested help on the Football Banquet. The following ladies helped with serving and decorating:
Mrs. Charles Theobald Mrs. Donald Lehmann
Mrs. Hackney Mrs. C. E. McMichael
Mrs. Chester Scarlett Mrs. Morrison
Mrs. Clark Orr, Jr. Mrs. Robert Scheier
Mrs. W. T. Micou, Jr.
5. - The Sports and Recreation Committee furnished chaperones for the Football Dance in the Gym and also the Basketball Dance.
6. - A master mailing list was compiled from the students' cards in the office. Approximately 25 mothers helped on this project in typing. (list attached) Mr. Duncan gave us permission to use the typing room at night and this was completed in one session.
7. - Mr. Duncan advised first-aid equipment was needed in the core rooms and also needed two stretchers for the 2nd and 3rd floors. Our Safety Committee and Civil Defense Committee worked together on this. The Board voted $100.00 be used for this equipment. Mrs. Clark Orr, Jr. purchased this equipment and had it placed in rooms.
8. - Membership - At the first of the year a letter was distributed through Home Rooms regarding membership and subscription to the budget. The first part of February we mailed a letter to parents who had not joined P.T.A. and by March 31, 1960, we had a membership of 2,302.
9. - The "Youth Speaks" program for the County was held at Waggener on a Saturday. The P.T.A. Hospitality Committee loaned them their "Hospitality" badges. The Board voted $25.00 for this program to be used as needed.
10. - Mrs. Rouse of the Home Economics Department requested help with the Basketball Banquet in March. The following helped with the serving:-
Mrs. Charles Theobald Mrs. Foley
Mrs. Edgar Happel Mrs. Young
Mrs. James May Mrs. Richard Schuba

11. In March the Parent Education Committee checked with Mr. Duncan on a date for the Feeder School Meeting. This was set up for April 28. Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Disborough mailed out letters to all Feeder School P.T.A. Presidents giving the information on this meeting and advising them our Committee would take letters (to the 6th Grade parents) to the Feeder Schools to be sent home with the 6th Graders. This meeting has been set up for the first time to be held at Waggener at night. Members of the faculty will explain the various courses of the 7th Grade, etc. A tour of the core rooms will be given and refreshments served in cafeteria.
12. Mr. Henderson of the Waggener Development Association asked for seven mothers to help with the Season Ticket Drive. Mrs. James May was asked to head this up and she contacted our Home Room Representative Chairman to help with this project. The following are working on this -

Mrs. Foley	Mrs. Maxwell
Mrs. Rule	Mrs. J. S. Henderson
Mrs. Skelton	Mrs. Heing

13. The Board voted to spend $300.00 on the Teachers Lounge. The Committee working on this was Mrs. Rouse, Home Economics Department, Mrs. Robert Scheier, Art Committee Chairman, and Mrs. Henry Anderson, Ways and Means Chairman. We purchased new furniture, drapes, etc.
14. Candy Sale conducted by the Music Committee to make money for the Music Dept.
15. The Senior Class asked if we would sponsor a breakfast for them after their Prom on May 31, 1960. This is being set up at this time - the Secretary of the Senior Class has written to the Session of Harvvy Browne Presbyterian Church requesting permission to have this breakfast there. Mrs. Clyde Walker has agreed to be in charge of the purchase and serving of the food. The Senior Class will take care of all expenses.
15. "Career Day" for the Junior Class will be held on Monday, April 11. This has been planned by the Citizenship and Community Service Committee. Representatives of businesses and professions will meet with the students to advise and answer questions.

Dear Seniors:

This will be a letter of "many thanks" instead of congratulations.

THANKS - for the interest, support, and cooperation given to P.T.A. by you and your parents. We went "over the top" in many ways.

THANKS - for the opportunity of getting to know so many of you and working with you.

THANKS - for the many honors you have each helped obtain for Waggener.

THANKS - for going through all the "growing pains" as Waggener's first Senior Class.

THANKS - for my beautiful Scroll. I am so proud of it and will always treasure it. It will always have the place of honor in our home and hope you will come by and see it.

MOST IMPORTANT THANKS - to know that our future is going to be in good hands as each of you become leaders of our homes, communities, and state.

May God bless each of you -

Mrs. W. T. Micou, Jr.
